A Note From Rick: Markets were mixed at TLA this week. We had several groups of Holstein heifers to offer & prices were lower compared to the last several months. This wasn't a big surprise with everything that's been happening in the beef market. One thing I noticed was, very much like the Springer Sale last week, quality played a big part in the price of heifers. This shows up when the market is under pressure. The top end of the market is holding strong but the medium to lower end has fallen off. Calves were steady again this week & have seemed to kind of settle at these prices. Butcher cows & fat cattle were steady as well. Have a great week & we'll see you soon at TLA!!
