Now I can already improvise and play bluesy stuff without just repeating "school'ish" dry content. Clips are 5-10 minutes, and depend on the topic, can be easily managed or need a few days. I love the style in which the courses are made by Ben very relaxed but on point.

By Jove	2016-08-20 20:29:03+00:00	5.0	I'm utterly transfixed with this Irish "sampler platter". Aside from harmonica and bodhran I had only ever heard about these instruments that I never knew what to really do with.
By Jove	2016-08-19 23:25:14+00:00	5.0	Ben is motivating and keeps the fun in it. But I think he really excels when pushing the harmonica into the realm where the real musicians live. Sonny Terry is/was a blues master who I had never heard of prior to this course. But he played using the kind of riffing that makes me pull out the harmonica and cook. I do. At any rate, Ben pulls the songs apart into chunks that are quite manageable. After that I can reassemble them as needed. Very cool light and breezy tone of teaching. I never

Tobias	2015-09-02 10:05:20+00:00	5.0	This song is of course a classic and it is an excellent idea to teach it as part of the instant harmonica series. One word of caution though: Even though you will be able to play the whole song after a few days, it should be obvious that you will not immediately sound like Louis Armstrong. Ben actually touches on these techniques shortly, but I would advise signing up for his other classes, where he explains advanced techniques like "overblowing" and "note bending".
Tobias	2015-09-02 09:47:02+00:00	5.0	I can highly recommend this course. I was able to play single notes and scales in just a few days which in turn enables me to play many other tunes. It is immediately obvious that Ben is a very experienced teacher and knows how to guide his students through any difficulties that may arise. At the same time the classes are very well structured and easy to follow. Given the fact that you can buy a good harmonica for around 30 Euros, I think buying one and taking this class is the fastest and cheapest way to get started with a new instrument.

However, I stopped using the course because of my own error in breathing - I was suffering more anxiety attacks through cha I'm now enjoying the course and content. Ben is very engaging, entertaining and knowledgeable on the subject of harmonica. I practice breathing in and out of the harmonica on my back. I find it more helpful, on my back, to feel the movement of the diaphragm with the exercises Ben gives in the co I also decided to use other exercises while lying down too - It's good to practice then walk away feeling chilled-out, and not out of breath from chugging for England. I do think that the course should start with the older 2013 beginners to intermediate course, and then re-arrange some of the other lectures in order of importance or progr I'm not half way through yet, but, either way, the course is a must for any begginer to improver. There's more content here than you could shake a stick or harmonica at. :-)

John Feltner	2016-04-22 21:10:56+00:00	4.5	The teaching method is excellent. Difficult to play Amazing Grace as tabbed in this course. I can play it much better tabbed in a different way, such as: 6 7 8 7 8 -8 7 -6 6 7 8 7 8 -8 9 8 9 8 9 8 7 6 -6 7 7 -6 6 6 7 8 7 8 -8 7 and so on. David Ernest Cass Ford	2017-12-01 12:40:09+00:00	4.0	The course was successful in improving my tone. Particularly useful were the sections about the wind-pipe being a sound box, and having the harp sealed being sealed and It would have been good to have a class on tongue blocking vs puckering and their impact on tone. Probably some technical pictures showing how your wind-pipe and mouth sealing around the harp actually works would be useful, say as PDFs. Maybe also a selection of music files showing different musicians tones would be useful as examples of what can be done and aimed for.

His enthusiasm for and desire to share the harmonica is clear, and infectious. I realize these early lessons are designed to drill some fundamentals and basic mechanics, but Ultimately I think providing us with a simple song to try - complete with tabs - that incorporates the mechanics would be very helpful, and make the lessons even more fun. Hopefully these will be coming in later lessons.

Or am I missing something.

Carl Powell Jr.	2018-10-24 00:50:19+00:00	3.0	So far I'm enjoying the course. I find that there are times, in the older 2013 version, when something can be broken down a little further. Some of the rhythms aren't the easiest. A similar kind of organization issue can be found in the title of the lessons in the newly added portion of the course. The lessons would read "Days 1-7" but days 1 - 4 have I've only had this course for a day now, but I've worked through the first 2013 section of the beginner course. So far, I've found it to be thoroughly enjoyable, I just wonder why. This is a high-quality course! I'm looking forward to completing the course and having enough understanding of the harmonica to jam out with the musical folks of my family. As for now, I'm leaving the review at 3.5 until I complete the course to give a full and thorough review. From what I've seen this course may actually deserve a full 4 or 5 star. Also note, you will sometimes find his explanation not to be sufficient enough. I would suggest also finding a few youtube channels or other sources in addition to this. You may find. After about a week of this course, I decided to reduce the score to a 3. It's certainly not a bad course, but its organization is lacking and more details can be used in some places. It also very repetitive—a lot of things are repeated from lecture to lecture, which is a drawback of merging so many courses. If you're picking up the course for less than $20 I

Jeremy Rasmussen	2020-04-21 04:17:54+00:00	2.0	The instructor is obviously very knowledgeable, but, in my opinion, does not do much in the way of instructing. I am up to section 4, and I feel that I have learned more about the lessons where he does teach, he makes it very basic for a bit, but then jumps up the difficulty 10 fold without much warning or even any instruction. It would be like if you were learning to drive and the instructor just says "drive" and then just goes warp-speed. I don't understand the point. Yes, I can do it on my own, but I want to learn the correct way. Of course I can't play by ear. I am a complete beginner and don't know anything about music. I watch the video a couple of times and I can start to get it, but then he improves. Maybe after I finish the course I can go back and do what I find difficult now, but, up to this point, I have learned more from free videos on Youtube.

Would appreciate if instructor can practice the bending exercises with the students and repeat it a few times. Repetitions are never wasted. I think I would benefit more from hearing the bent notes numerous times practicing with the instructor. 2 benefits from it : 1. Technique - how to do it. 2. How it should sound like viz the sound of the bent note.
