My cell number is 512-925-5575.

Missing or rescheduling sessions is strongly discouraged. If an unforeseen event does require you to reschedule, please notified me 24 hours prior to the scheduled session. Please remember that not completing, or partially completing your assignments is not a reason to reschedule. If assignments are not complete, it is very important that we work together during your scheduled session to strategize, overcome obstacles, and establish next steps.

In order to best steward my preparation time for your session and to be considerate to others desiring to meet, it is extremely important to me that you make these sessions a priority. Coaching of this kind cost time and dollars. I am personally asking you to consider that the investment of time be weighted the same as a financial investment.

At this time, each session is provided as a ministry. I reserve the right to apply fees in the future
