The Toolbar: The toolbar above the inbox contains commands to interact with your inbox and email. The available commands will change based on what you have selected.

E

Right Side Panel: This panel displays buttons for some other Google services that you can use with your Gmail, including Calendar.

Read Email

When you receive a new email, it will be displayed at the top of the inbox. Emails that you haven't read yet will be highlighted in bold.

Read an Email

Click an email in the inbox.

The email opens up in the window, with its contents replacing the inbox.

Click the Back to Inbox button to return to the inbox.

The inbox appears again, and now you can see the selected email is no longer highlighted in bold.

Toggle Read Status

You can toggle an email's status between Unread and Read without having to open it.

When you hover your mouse over an email in the inbox, a series of buttons appears on the right side of the email.

Click an email's Mark as read or Mark as unread button.

Tip: You can also select an email (or multiple email messages), click the More : button on the toolbar, and select Mark as read or Mark as unread from the menu.

The Read status for the email is toggled.

Change Your Inbox Type

You can change the way your inbox displays your emails. The default view will simply show everything in a list, with most recent emails appearing first, but other views allow you to view certain categories of email in a separate list.

Change to Important First View

Click the Inbox list arrow.

Select Important first.

The inbox changes to show all the emails flagged as important in one section, and all of the other emails in another.

Change to Unread First View

Click the Inbox list arrow.

Select Unread first.

Unread emails are listed first, separate from the ones that you've already read.

Change to Starred First View

Click the Inbox list arrow.

Select Starred first.

Emails that you've starred as favorites, whether or not they're unread, are shown in a section before the rest of your email.

Change to Priority Inbox View

Click the Inbox list arrow. Select Priority Inbox.

This inbox type combines the other types into one. The first section shows emails that are important and unread, and the second shows emails that you've starred. A third section displays the rest of your email.

Print an Email

You can print a copy of an email that you've received in Gmail, if you need a paper copy.

Print an Email

Click an email in the inbox to open it.

Click the Print button to the right of the subject line.

A new browser tab opens, with the email message formatted for printing. Your browser's Print dialog box opens as well, where you can set up how you want this email to print.

Set the print options you want to use.

- Destination specifies the printer you want to use for this email.
- Pages sets the range of pages to print, if the email goes on for more than one page.
- Copies controls how many copies of the email to print.
- Layout sets whether to print the page in portrait or landscape orientation.
- Color lets you choose whether to print the email in color, or in black and white.

Click Print.

The email is sent to the printer using the settings you chose.

Gmail can sort email you receive into one of several categories, by analyzing both the content of the emails and your emailing habits.

Inbox Categories

Inbox Categories	Description
Primary	Emails sent directly to you, from people that you interact with.
Social	Automated messages from social networks.
Promotions	Deals, offers, and other marketing emails.
Updates Automatically generated updates, confirmations, bills, and receipts.
Forums	Messages from discussion boards and mailing lists.

View an Inbox Category

Change Your Inbox Theme

If the plain white background of your inbox is getting boring, you can change themes to give it a more interesting look.

Change the Inbox Theme

- Click the Settings button.
- Select Themes.

A themes gallery appears, showing a variety of themes to choose from. The top of the gallery shows some curated images you can use as a background.

Select a theme from the gallery.

Click Save.

The background of the inbox changes to the picture you chose.

Create a Custom Theme

You can also create a theme from a larger set of photos, or from photos in your Google Photos library, instead of choosing from the gallery.

Click the Settings button.

Select Themes.

Click My photos.

Here you can choose between sources for additional photos

- Featured shows a larger gallery of curated background images.
- My photos shows all of the pictures you've uploaded to Google Photos.
- Recently selected shows photos you've used recently, if you want to go back to a custom theme you've used before.
- 4

Click Select.

The photo is set as your inbox background.

Once a photo has been selected, you can customize some additional options.

- Text Background lets you choose whether the theme should use dark text on a light background, or light text on a dark background.
- Vignette lets you add a darkening effect around the corners and edges of the photo.
- Blur lets you choose whether to blur the selected photo, and by how much.
- Customize text background, vignette, and blur options.

Click Save.

The theme is updated and applied to your inbox.

Get Help

If you don't know how to do something in Gmail, you can consult the Help window.

Search for Help

- 1
- Select Help.

The Help window appears. Here you can search for a specific topic, look through a few popular topics, or browse through all of the available articles.

Click the Support button.

Search for a topic.

Help topics matching your search appear listed below the search field.

Select a search result.

The help topic is displayed in the Help window. When you're finished reading the topic, you can just close the Help window.

Click the Help window's Close button.

The Help window closes.

Compose and Send Email

Sending and receiving emails is by far the most used aspect of Gmail. This module will show you how to send, reply to, and forward email. You'll also learn how to personalize your messages with different formatting options, pictures, and attachments.

You'll see how to schedule an email to send at a later time, send email messages confidentially, and view your saved email drafts and previously-sent messages.

Objectives

Compose an Email Reply to and Forward Email Format Email Text Add Attachments View and Save Attachments Insert Pictures into Emails Insert Links into Emails Check Spelling Schedule an Email View Drafts and Sent Items

Send and Receive Confidential Email

Compose an Email

Composing a new email from your inbox is quick and easy.

Compose an Email

Click the Compose button.

A new email message is started in a small pop-up window.

Tip: Click the Full-screen ∡^A button at the top of the new email window to expand it and have more space to write.

2 Enter recipients' email addresses in the To field.

If the name or address matches a contact you've emailed before, it will appear in a search result popup.

- Add recipients to the CC and BCC fields (optional).
- 4 Enter a subject in the Subject field.
- 5 Enter your message in the Body field.
- 6 Click Send.

The email is sent to everyone you addressed it to.

Tip: When addressing an email, make sure to use the To, CC, and BCC fields appropriately.

- Use the To field for the main recipients, who are expected to reply or take action.
- Use the CC field for anyone else who needs to be kept informed of the topic, but doesn't need to reply.
- Use the BCC field to send an email to anyone you don't want the other recipients to see.

Reply to and Forward Email

You can send replies to emails that you receive, and forward copies of emails on to other people as well.

Reply to Email

You can reply directly to the sender of any email you receive.

2

Open the email you want to reply to.

Reply and Forward buttons appear below the message body.

Click the Reply button.

A new reply appears below the original message, where you can enter your message.

Enter a reply message.

The reply is sent and appears in the thread below the original message.

Click Send.

Forward an Email

You can also forward an email, which sends a copy of it to another person.

1

3

- View the email you want to forward.
- Click the Forward button.

A new message starts, just like a reply, but this time with a field to address it to another recipient.

Enter the email address for the recipient.

You can enter an additional message to go along with the forwarded email or leave the field blank to send the message by itself.

Enter a message (optional).

Click Send.

The email message is forwarded on to the specified person.

Format Email Text

When you send an email, you can add text formatting to make it a little more interesting than plain text.

Display Formatting Options

Formatting options won't appear when the New Message window is first opened. There are two ways to view them.

Click the Formatting options button in the New Message window.

Or, click the Full-Screen button in the New Message window.

Either method will expand the formatting options toolbar. Expanding the New Message window into fullscreen mode will also provide a larger window to compose your message.

Format Message Text

Select the text you want to format.

Format the text using the available formatting options.

Clear Text Formatting

If you've formatted some text and feel that you've overdone it, you can remove all formatting from some selected text.

Click the More formatting options button.

Click the Remove formatting button.

All formatting is removed from the selected text.

Add Attachments

You can send someone a file as an attachment that they'll receive with your email. You can attach files from your computer, or from your Google Drive.

Attach a File from your Computer

1

While composing an email, click the Attach files button.

A file browser dialog box opens, where you can browse for and select files to attach.

Select a file.

Click Open.

The file is attached to the email. You can continue to edit the email until you're ready to send it.

Click Send.

The email is sent, with the file attached.

Attach a File from Google Drive

You can also attach a file directly from your Google Drive. This will allow you the choice to include the file as a regular attachment, or as a link to the file in your Google Drive.

While composing an email, click the Insert files using Drive button.

A Google Drive file browser window opens.

Select a file.

Choose whether to send a link to the selected file in your Google Drive, or to attach the selected file.

Linking to a file in your Google Drive instead of attaching it will keep the size of the email itself smaller, while also allowing you to update the linked file after sending the email.

Click Insert.

Click Send.

The email is sent, with the Google Drive file either linked to or attached.

When you receive emails that contain attachments, you'll see those attachments listed below the subject line of the emails in your inbox.

Save an Attachment

2

Click an email to view it.

An email's attachments will all be shown as thumbnails below the message contents.

Click an attachment's thumbnail.

If the file is a type that's supported by one of the Google apps, you can open it up for editing by clicking the button at the top of the preview.

Use the options to edit or save the attachment:

- Open with to open the file.
- Add to My Drive to save the attachment to your Google Drive.
- Download to save a copy to your computer.
- Print to print a copy of the attachment.

Click the Back button.

You leave the attachment preview and return to your email.

Insert Pictures into Emails

You can insert images directly into the body of an email. Unlike an attached photo, which appears linked after the message, inline images appear in the message with text.

Select a source for the photo.

You have several image sources that you'll be able to choose from.

- Photos will let you choose from your Google Photos library.
- Albums lets you browse your Google Photos library by album.
- Upload lets you upload an image from your computer.
- Web Address lets you specify a URL for an image on the internet to insert it.

You can also choose whether to insert the image in line in the email, or to include it as an attachment.

A file browser window opens.

3

The image is uploaded and inserted into your email message.

Insert Links into Emails

You can insert a links in your email message, directing recipients to a web address.

Insert a Link

- Select the text to use as a link.
 - Click the Insert link button.

The Edit Link dialog box opens, where you can set up the link.

Set the text to display as the 3 link, if necessary.

> The Text to display field starts with the selected text already filled in, which means that text will be the clickable part of the link.

- Choose whether to link to a 4 web address or email address.
 - Enter the link address.
 - Click OK.

The link is inserted onto the selected text that, when clicked, will open the linked address.

Check Spelling

Your spelling will be automatically checked as you compose messages. Common mistakes will be automatically fixed as you type, while other misspelled words will be underlined in red.

Fix Spelling Errors

When you do misspell a word, and see that it's been underlined in red, you can fix it yourself by going back and fixing it manually. You can also get help to fix a misspelled word if you're not sure of the correct spelling.

Right-click a misspelled word.

Select the correct spelling from the menu.

The misspelled word is fixed using the dictionary spelling.

Check Spelling

If you have a longer email with formatting that makes it tougher to see red underlines, you can run a spell check to highlight misspelled words.

Click the More options : button.

Misspelled words are now highlighted in red, in addition to the underline, making it easier to identify mistakes.

Schedule an Email

When you're writing an email, you can schedule it to be sent out at a later time. This can be handy if you're writing to someone in a different time zone, or if you just want to time an email to arrive at a more convenient time than when you're writing it.

Schedule an Email

1 After writing an email, click the Send button list arrow.

3

Select Schedule send.

The Schedule Send dialog box presents you a few suggested times. If one of these works, you can select it, or you can choose your own date and time.

Click Pick date & time.

The Pick Date & Time dialog box opens, with a calendar to select a date.

The email is scheduled, and you return to your inbox.

Cancel a Scheduled Email

One benefit of scheduling an email to send later is the ability to change your mind and cancel it.

2

Click the Scheduled category in the left pane.

All of the emails you have scheduled to send are shown.

- Select the email you want to cancel.
 - Click the Cancel send button.

The scheduled send is cancelled, and the email is returned to your Drafts folder. From there, you can schedule it for another time, send it now, or delete it.

View Drafts and Sent Items

If you're not ready to send an email you're writing, you can save it as a draft to come back to later. Saving an email as a draft happens automatically—as soon as you start writing an email, Gmail begins saving it as a draft that gets updated as you type.

Save an Email as a Draft

Close an email that you've started writing without sending it.

Closing an email without sending it automatically saves it as a draft.

View Email Drafts

Click the Drafts category in the left pane.

All of the emails that haven't been sent yet are shown here.

Edit and Send Email Drafts

When you're able to finish writing an email that you started earlier, you can resume writing it so that you can finally send it.

Click an email in your Drafts. Edit the message.

You have all of the same options when editing a draft that you did when first writing it.

Click Send.

The email is sent and is removed from your Drafts.

View Sent Emails

Once you send an email, you can find it again in the Sent view.

Click the Sent category in the left pane.

All of the emails you have sent are shown.

Send and Receive Confidential Email

If an email contains sensitive information, and you want to control who can see it, you can use confidential mode. Confidential emails cannot be forwarded, copied, or downloaded, and you can also give an email an expiration date, after which it can no longer be accessed.

Send a Confidential Email

- 1 While composing an email, click the Confidential mode button.
- 2 Choose when the confidential email will expire.
- Choose whether to require an SMS code.
- 4 Click Save.

The confidential settings are applied, and once you finish writing it, you're ready to send it.

Click Send.

The email is sent with the confidential settings applied.

Read a Confidential Email

Click a confidential email in your inbox.

It opens up, with the message inside a confidential text box. You can also see that the options to forward, print, copy, and download the message are unavailable.

Finally, it's important to note that you can send a confidential email to someone who doesn't use a Gmail account, although it won't be as easy for them to view it. Instead of seeing the confidential message within a text box, they'll instead be required to click a link to open the message in a browser window.

Organize Your Inbox

Gmail's ability to keep your inbox organized is one of the reasons it's so widely used. Labels allow you to effectively sort messages into several categories at once, making it easy to find just what you're looking for.

In this module, you'll learn how to use labels to organize your email, how to search and filter your email, and how to keep track of important messages. You'll also learn how to archive and delete email, how to mute conversations, and how to snooze a message for later.

Objectives

Create and Apply Labels View and Manage Labels Search for Emails Filter Emails Flag Important Emails Archive and Delete Emails Mute Email Snooze Email

Create and Apply Labels

If you've used other email services, you may have used folders to organize your inbox. You could move emails into a folder manually, or by creating a filter to automatically sort everything that came in.

Labels in Gmail are similar to folders, allowing you to manually or automatically sort your email. Just like folders in other email services, your labels will be listed in the left pane, allowing you to click a label to view all of its emails. Unlike folders, however, you can apply multiple labels to a single message, allowing you to effectively keep it in several places at once.

Create a Label

The left pane expands, showing more categories and options.

Click Create new label.

Apply a Label to an Email

You can apply one or more labels to an email to categorize it.

- Select an email.
- Click the Labels button on the toolbar.

A menu appears, listing all of the labels you've created so far. You can also create a new label directly from this menu, if you don't have one that fits.

- 3 Select the labels you want to apply.
- Click Apply.

The label is applied to the email message, appearing as a tag next to the subject.

Show or Hide Labels

You can also control how the labels you've set up appear in the left pane.

2

Click a label's More options : button in the left pane.

Select a label option.

You can choose to always show a label, hide it, or only show a label if there are unread email messages with that label applied.

Change a Label Color

You can also change the color of a particular label when it appears on tagged email.

Click a label's More options : button in the left pane.

Select Label color.

Select a color from the menu.

That label's tags will now appear in the selected color.

Refine a Search

If you end up with too many search results, you can narrow your search using a variety of options.

Click the Show search options button in the Search field.

The Search Options menu appears. You can refine a search by using the following fields:

- From
- То
- Subject
- Has the words will search for words within the message body
- Doesn't have will exclude messages with certain words in the message body
- Size
- Date within
- Search lets you specify a search scope to search all of your mail, just your inbox, or other mail categories
- Has attachment will let you search for only messages with attachments
- Don't include chats will exclude chat messages from the search
- Use the options to narrow down the search criteria.

Click the Search button.

Only the messages that fit the search criteria will appear in search results.

Filter Emails

Filters are a way to help you organize incoming email. By creating a filter, you can trigger certain actions when an incoming email meets the requirements you set.

Create a Filter

- Click the Show search options button in the Search field.
 Set up search criteria that the filter will be based on.
- 3 Click Create filter.

A list of actions appears, where you can choose one or more actions to apply to email messages that match the criteria you set.

- Set up the actions that the filter will apply.
 - Click Create filter.

5

The filter is created, and all email messages that meet the criteria you set will have the actions you selected applied automatically.

Create a Filter Using Example Email

You can create an email filter based on an email you've already received. This will start a new filter with the first criteria, the From field, already filled in.

- Select the email(s) you want to base a filter on.
 - Click the More actions button on the toolbar.
 - Select Filter messages like these.

A new filter is started with the From field filled in with the sender of the selected email.

Set up any additional search criteria you need.

Click Create filter.

7

Set up the actions that the filter will apply.

Click Create filter.

The filter is created and will be applied to new email messages that you receive.

Manage Filters

Once you've created some filters, you can always go back and edit or remove them.

- 1
- Click the Settings icon on the toolbar.
- Select Settings.
 - Click the Filters and Blocked Addresses tab.

This Settings page displays all of the filters that you've created.

- 4 Click a filter's Edit button to edit its settings (optional).
 - Click a filter's Delete button to remove it (optional).

Flag Important Emails

Gmail lets you mark certain emails as important using the star icon, similar to how other email services use a flag. Marking an email as important using the star icon lets you find it easily later on.

Star an Email

Click an email's star icon next to its selection checkbox.

The email is starred. If you only needed to temporarily star it, you can click the star icon again to remove the star.

Toggle Importance Marker

The other icon that marks an email's importance is just called the importance marker. Unlike the star, the importance marker will be automatically applied whenever an email comes in that Gmail thinks will be important to you. Some of the criteria that Gmail uses in this decision is which emails you open and which you don't, which emails you reply to, and who you regularly email the most.

Click an email's importance marker to turn it on or off.

Manually marking an email as important will help train Gmail to automatically mark important emails in the future.

Manually marking an email as not important will likewise help train Gmail to leave unimportant emails unmarked.

View Starred Emails

You can view a list of every email that you've marked with a star, to help find messages later.

Click the Starred category in the left pane.

All of the messages you've starred appear in the list.

View Important Emails

You can also view a list of all the email messages that you (or Gmail) have marked as important.

Click the Important category in the left pane.

All of the important messages are listed.

Archive and Delete Emails

Gmail has two different ways to remove emails from your inbox:

- Archiving removes an email from your inbox, while still keeping it around in the All Mail category. While you won't see it in the inbox anymore, you will still be able to see it in search results. Archived emails will never be automatically deleted.
- Deleting an email sends it to the Trash folder, where it will still be accessible for 30 days before it's removed entirely.

Archive an Email

Select an email.

Click the Archive button on the toolbar.

The email is archived. It's removed from the inbox, but can still be found by viewing the All Mail category, or by searching for it.

Delete an Email

1

Select an email.

Click the Delete button on the toolbar.

The email is moved to the trash, where it will still be accessible for 30 days before being automatically deleted.

View the Trash

If you've accidentally deleted an email, or just want to take a look at what you've recently deleted, you can view the Trash folder.

Click More in the left pane.

Click Trash.

Everything you've deleted within the last 30 days appears. Anything older than that will have been automatically deleted.

Mute Email

If you're part of an email conversation that's no longer relevant to you, but is still seeing a lot of activity, you can mute it so that you don't keep getting notifications from it.

Mute an Email Conversation

Select an email conversation.

Click the More actions : button on the toolbar.

The conversation is muted. It moves out of your inbox, and any more messages that arrive as part of it will skip your inbox entirely.

View a Muted Conversation

Muted conversations will still be accessible in All Mail.

Click the All Mail category in the left pane.

Tip: You can also search for "is:muted" in the Search field.

All of your mail is now listed, whether it's in the inbox or not. Any muted conversation is marked with a Muted tag.

Unmute an Email Conversation

If you've muted a conversation by mistake, or are just taking interest in it again, you can unmute it.

3

- Select a muted email conversation.
- 2 Click the More actions : button on the toolbar.
 - Select Unmute.

The conversation is unmuted, although it remains only visible in All Mail view until you move it back to the Inbox, or until a new message in it arrives.

Snooze Email

If you've received some email that you can't get to right now, you can get reminded of it later by snoozing it.

Snooze an Email

Select an email.

Click the Snooze button on the toolbar.

Once you've snoozed an email, it will disappear from the inbox. At the specified time, it will reappear, and you'll get a notification for it, as if it were a newly-arriving message.

View Snoozed Email

If you find the time to deal with that email after all, you can find it in the Snoozed category.

Click the Snoozed category in the left pane.

Every snoozed message appears in the list.

Unsnooze an Email

You can unsnoozed an email that you've snoozed but still were able to deal with.

1

2

- Select an email in the Snoozed category.
- Click the Snooze button on the toolbar.

The Snooze menu appears again, and in addition to unsnoozing, you could reschedule the email to instead reappear at another date or time, using the same options as before.

Select Unsnooze.

The email is unsnoozed and reappears in the Inbox.

Customize Email Settings

Once you've gotten the hang of reading, sending, and organizing your email, you can customize Gmail's settings to personalize how it works.

In this module, you'll get an overview of Gmail's settings page and learn how to enable notifications. You'll also learn how to add a signature or automatic vacation response, how to access other email accounts in your Gmail inbox, and learn how to use Gmail's keyboard shortcuts.

Objectives

Change Email Settings Enable Desktop Notifications Add a Signature Add a Vacation Response Add Other Email Accounts to Gmail Enable Keyboard Shortcuts

Change Email Settings

The Gmail settings screen is where you'll find a variety of settings that control how email is sent, received, and appears in your inbox.

View and Modify Settings

- Click the Settings icon.
- Select Settings.

The settings screen opens, with the categories broken up into several tabs at the top.

Settings Categories

Settings Category	Description
General	This section covers a variety of general settings that don't fit in the other categories. It includes some of the most commonly-changed settings, such as how many emails to display per page, spelling, grammar, and autocorrect settings, your email signature, and vacation autoresponses.
Labels	This page lets you manage the labels you've created, and control which labels appear in the left pane and in the Labels menu.
Inbox	This page lets you change which categories appear at the top of the inbox, as well as whether importance markers are used.
Accounts and Import	This settings category is where you can change your account settings, including your password. It's also where you can link another email account to access it from Gmail.
Filters and Blocked Addresses	This category lets you manage all of the filters that you've created and the email addresses that you've blocked.
Forwarding and POP/IMAP	This page is where you set up email forwarding, as well as configure server settings to use Gmail with other email clients.
Add-ons	This settings page is where you manage the add-ons you've installed.
Chats	This page contains a toggle for enabling or disabling chat.
Advanced	This settings page contains a variety of more advanced settings, such as custom keyboard shortcuts and message templates.
Offline	These settings let you toggle, and learn more about, offline access to Gmail.
Themes	This settings page is another place to change your inbox's theme.

Enable Desktop Notifications

If you're using either Chrome, Firefox, or Safari as your browser, you can enable desktop notifications. While enabled, a notification will appear whenever a new email message arrives in your inbox as long as you have Gmail open in a browser tab.

Enable Desktop Notifications

Click the Settings icon.

- Select Settings.

The Notification settings are found on the General tab.

3 Click the Click here to enable desktop notifications for Gmail link.

> After enabling notifications, your browser will ask for permission to show them.

4

Click Allow.

Once notifications are enabled in the browser, you can choose when you want notifications to appear.

The first option is for New mail notifications. This will pop up a notification whenever a new email hits the Primary category of your inbox.

You can also choose to receive Important mail notifications. These will appear when a new email comes in that Gmail assigns the important marker to, no matter which category they appear in.

View a Gmail Notification

While desktop notifications are enabled, you'll receive a notification as long as Gmail is open in a tab in a supported browser, such as Chrome, Safari, Edge, or Firefox. That tab doesn't need to be the one you're currently browsing in. Notifications will appear in the style of your operating system; in Windows, they'll appear in the bottom-right corner, and in macOS they'll appear in the upper-right corner.

Click a notification when it appears.

The email that triggered the notification opens in a browser pop-up window.

Add a Signature

Mail signatures are reusable text or images you can include in outgoing mail. Signatures typically provide additional methods of contacting the sender, such as website links, phone numbers, or email addresses.

Create a Signature

- 1
- Click the Settings icon.
- Select Settings.
- 3 View the General settings category.
- Click the Signature option button.
 - Enter signature text in the text field.

By default, a signature will only be added to new emails, not replies.

Add a Vacation Response

If you're going to be unable to respond to email for a while, it's nice to let people who email you know. You can set a vacation response to automatically reply to messages while you're away, so that people who email you know not to expect a quick response.

Add a Vacation Response

Click the Settings icon.

- Select Settings.
- Click the Vacation responder on option button.

The vacation responder is enabled, and now just needs to be configured.

- Click in the First day field.
- Select a start date.

Once the vacation responder has a start date, you can leave the end date open and turn it off manually. If you don't want another thing to remember when you get back, you can enable an end date as well.

- Check the Last day checkbox.
- Click in the Last day field.
- Select an end date.

The vacation responder will automatically stop at the end of the selected last day.

Enter a reply email subject and message.

After the email subject and body are set, you can choose to restrict who will get an automatic response.

- Check the Only send a response to people in my contacts checkbox or the Only send a response to people in [my organization] checkbox. (optional).

Add Other Email Accounts to Gmail

If you have another email account on a service that Gmail supports, you can use that email account inside Gmail. This allows you to see messages from both accounts together, as well as use Gmail's sorting and searching options. While not all email accounts are supported, most common webmail providers can be added to Gmail.

Link Another Email Account

Click the Settings icon.

1

Select Settings.

Click the Accounts and Import tab.

This settings screen has a few options that sound similar, that all allow you to use another email account in different ways.

- Send mail as allows you to send mail from Gmail using another email address.
- Check mail from other accounts links another mail account to Gmail, allowing you to check mail from that account from within Gmail.
- Grant access to your account gives another Gmail user limited access to your mail.

Click the Add a mail account link next to the Check mail from other accounts heading.

Enter your other account's email address, then click Next.

Here, you can either link the account or simply import email from the other account into your Gmail inbox and not enable the other features of linking.

6 Choose whether to link accounts or import emails, then click Next.

5

Enter your other account's password, then click Sign In.

Review the requested permissions and click Yes.

Click Close.

The other account is linked to your Gmail account, and you can now send and receive emails from that account through Gmail.

Send Email from Another Address

When you've linked another email account to your Gmail, you'll have the option to send mail from either account. The recipient will see whichever account you select as the sender of the email.

Click the Compose button to start a new email.

When you have more than one account, the From field will have a list arrow.

Click the From field list arrow.

Select an email address.

Now, when you send this email, it will be sent from the linked account's address, instead of your Gmail account.

Change Linked Account Settings

Click the Settings icon.

Once you've linked another email account, you have some settings you can adjust to change how linked accounts work.

Select Settings.

Click the Accounts and Import tab.

After another account has been linked, some new settings will be available here.

- The Send mail as section lists the accounts that you can send email as, with the default account labeled as default. You can click the make default link for another account to change the default.
- Select a default reply behavior by selecting an option under the When replying to a message heading. You can reply from the email address that a message was sent to, or always reply from your default account.
- Edit or Unlink accounts from the Check Mail from Other Accounts section.

Enable Keyboard Shortcuts

Gmail supports a large number of keyboard shortcuts to help make reading and composing your email easier.

Enable Keyboard Shortcuts

Most keyboard shortcuts won't work unless you enable them on the Settings page.

- Select Settings.

Click the Settings icon.

Scroll down the General settings tab until you find the Keyboard shortcuts category.

Click the Keyboard shortcuts on option button on the General tab.

Use Keyboard Shortcuts

Once keyboard shortcuts are enabled, you can start using shortcut keys. You can see even more keyboard shortcuts in Gmail by pressing ? (Shift + /) while in your Inbox.

The following table lists some common actions you can perform in your Inbox or other email lists, and their keyboard shortcuts.

Action	Shortcut
Select Conversation	x
Open Message	0
Toggle Star	S
Archive	E
Delete	#
Mute Conversation	М
Reply	R
Forward	F
Mark as Read	Shift + I
Mark as Unread	Shift + U
Return to List	U

You can also jump directly to your Inbox, other lists, by pressing the G key followed by the appropriate shortcut key.

Jump To	Shortcut
Inbox	G, then I
Starred Conversations	G, then S
Sent Messages	G, then T
Drafts	G, then D
All Mail	G, then A
Tasks	G, then K
Select a Label	G, then L
