

The Call

The printed voice of Trinity Episcopal Church
Weaving God's Unfinished Tapestry

From Rev. Haydie

The year is turning now.

One of the loveliest Octobers I can remember has ended. The garden beds are empty. The blazing red and yellow leaves have curled and dropped. The geranium blossoms have darkened. Often, we're waking up to grey skies and skiffs of snow on our railings and rooftops.

It's no surprise that the feasts of All Hallows — All Saints and All Souls — come at this time of year. It's a time when we can't help remembering the fragility of all life: the shortness of our lives here and the eternity of the life beyond. It's also a time when we're reminded how inseparable those shorter and longer lives are. The yellowed leaves above ground and the seeds growing beneath them. Our grief for those we've lost, and our awareness of their spirits still beside us.

And so at All Saints we give thanks for all of those we've "loved but see no more" — all those who have loved and guided us, all those who keep us mindful of the larger life around us. Mindful of God's care for them, and for us.

But this edition of The Call is coming out late, so even the All Saints holiday has come and gone. The church year is almost over. We'll celebrate its last day on the Sunday before Thanksgiving, using a liturgy from the New Zealand Prayer Book. We'll give thanks for all creation and for everything we've been given. We'll bless the pledges from our stewardship drive. And then, on the following Sunday, the new church year will begin: we'll start making Advent wreaths and waiting for the birth of a baby in Bethlehem.

I'll admit it: December feels like an odd time for a new year. I can understand January, when all the activity of the previous months has finally ended. March could make sense, with crocuses and budding trees and spring lambs. Or late summer, maybe, with the beginning of the new school year. But December first? After the holiday shopping season has started?

The church year is a lot older than our shopping season, to be sure. Older than our Thanksgiving. Older than our four-week Advent. Up until the 11th or 12th centuries, Advent began early in November. It met believers in the increasing cold and darkness of All Hallows and reminded them: these fruits and flowers, these saints and souls, will not be lost forever. They're not truly lost now. And Jesus's light is coming into the world.

I hope we remember that light as we give thanks this month. I hope we remember all the seeds germinating underground and all the blessings that we trust in but don't yet see. I hope we give thanks for the gifts that have nurtured and delighted us in the past as well as those that surround us now. And I hope we give thanks for each other, as we walk together into God's new year.

The Diocesan Convention will celebrate Eucharist at 8:30 am on Saturday, November 9, at the Red Lion Hotel. Come worship with us!

Walk in Love

Trinity's Fall Stewardship Campaign is underway! By now, you've probably gotten a mailing about the campaign. If we missed you somehow, and you'd like to see the mailing... maybe even fill out a pledge card... please contact the church office. You can also ask an usher before or after any service.

Our pledge ingathering will take place on November 24, the last Sunday before Thanksgiving. If you turn your pledge card in before then, we'll bring it back to the church for blessing on that day; if you call the office and make a verbal pledge, we'll fill out a card for you and add it to the pile.

In the meantime, we're tallying the cards as they come in—and Susanne is adding little stick figures to the stewardship poster. As of this writing, we've received pledges of $35,400 towards our goal of $103,000, and we're grateful for each one!

Miffy's Message

November = Thankfulness and Gratitude. In November, we have been asked many times, "What are you thankful for?" Our answers vary from being glad the weather isn't so hot to being thankful for family and friends. I found this prayer in Call On Me: A Prayer Book for Young People. I want to share it with you. Its inspiration is Micah 6:8.

Thanksgiving Day

God of abundance,
In a world where some do not have enough,
Make us brave to share out of our own richness.
God of justice,
In a world where some have far more than others,
Make us bold to provide for all people.
God of mercy,
In a world broken with a desire for more,
Forgive us for taking the greater portions.
Thanks and praise to you,
God of abundance
God of justice
God of mercy.
Be with us and all people this day.

PWCC Ministry Update

We have two parishioners considering joining the PWCC Ministry and they will be with us in November to explore this call. Please contact me if you have any questions concerning the opportunities involved in this outreach ministry.

Donations of black composition books, calendars, and greeting cards (no glitter) is an on going need for the residents. The greeting cards may be seasonal or blank. Also puzzles and board games (no RPG) have been requested.

Your continuing support is greatly appreciated. Thank you.

Episcopal Church Weavers

ECW met on October 26th at 11:00 in the parish hall to prepare for the events coming up in November and December. We would like to thank everyone who participated in October with Midterm Care Bags, Bishop Jos's Blue Plate Dinner, or the Harvest Dinner.

Convention for the Episcopal Diocese of Idaho will be held in Pocatello on November 8 & 9 at the Red Lion Inn. If you can supply any items to go in 150 hospitality bags please let Miffy know. We will be filling the bags the morning of November 8th before registration begins. If you would like to usher at the Saturday morning Eucharist please let Miffy know.

Trinity Holiday Fair will be held December 15 & 22 during coffee hour. We are in need of craft items to sell, cookie bakers, and Christmas candy. We will assemble cookie plates for sale, fill candy treat bags for My Brother's Table and set up the fair at our December 14th meeting.

Rita is asking for new hats, gloves, socks, and toiletries for Christmas gift bags for the men and women of My Brother's Table. Christmas gift bags and the candy treat bags will be given out at My Brother's Table December 22nd. Please help! ECW will meet at 11:00 in the parish hall on November 16th to finish preparations for our December activities. All are welcome.

Trinity Reads

Our book this month is Atul Gawande's Being Mortal: Medicine and What Matters in the End. Some of you may have read when it first came out a few years ago. Written by a surgeon and public health researcher, it explores medical, cultural, and personal issues around aging and end-of-life decision making. It's short, beautifully written, and well worth reading whether you can join us for discussion or not. But please do come! We'll discuss it in the Parish Hall at 7:00 pm on Tuesday, November 12.

PVIF Blanket Drive

The Interfaith Fellowship's annual blanket drive ends on Sunday, December 8. Drop off a new or gently used blanket at church before then, and we'll get it to Central Christian Church for donation to local shelters.

Last Month at Trinity

What a month! (Or, to be fair, a-month-and-a-week). In recent weeks, Trinity congregants came together to

- distribute midterm gift bags to college students, faculty, and staff,
- eat fabulous butter chicken and more at the Bishop's Blue Plate fundraiser,
- welcome a new Episcopalian at the Bishop's visitation on the next day,
- share a baked potato bar at our Harvest Dinner,
- worship with the Alleluia Choir (below) at All Saints,
- share Choral Evensong at All Saints and Choral Compline on election night.

Stewardship Update

As of October 27, Trinity has received

- $74,680.35 (75%) of its 2024 pledge income.
- $14,302.00 (1.79%) of its anticipated 2024 open plate income.

Trinity is deeply grateful for all your support.
