

The Call

The printed voice of Trinity Episcopal Church
Weaving God's Unfinished Tapestry

From Rev. Haydie

Break out your ruby slippers—it's Pentecost! It's traditional to wear red on Pentecost Sunday, after all. (There's a red boa in the rummage sale this year—maybe you can get it in time?) This Sunday, we'll remember the Holy Spirit's coming to Jesus's followers in wind and fire. It's the "birthday of the church" and one of the greatest feasts of our church year. The Alleluia Choir will join us. Many of us will indeed wear something red to symbolize that fire—the arrival of the Spirit in our lives.

We'll hear how the disciples had waited for that arrival. Jesus told them to: we heard him in John's gospel a week or two ago. We heard his promise that "the Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything, and remind you of all that I have said to you." So they've been praying for the Spirit's coming... the Spirit's guidance... ever since they saw Jesus leave them for the last time.

Finally, on Pentecost, the Spirit shows up. Sparkly red flames hover over their heads and they find themselves praising God in languages they've never spoken before. The Spirit gives them new ways to share their experiences and sends them out in to the world to do so. The church, we often say, is born.

But honestly? I wonder if there's a sense in which the disciples, like Dorothy in The Wizard of Oz, were waiting for something they already had. At the end of the movie, you may remember, the good witch Glinda tells Dorothy that she's always had the power to go home to Kansas. The ruby slippers will take her there. She never told Dorothy that before, she says, because she wouldn't have believed her. She had to learn it for herself.

I wonder if that's the same thing the Spirit teaches Jesus's followers. They already know about Jesus. They've always been able to go out and share the good news of God's power and love. Perhaps they just had to learn that for themselves?

I wonder if that's the same thing the Spirit teaches us. We, too, have our own experiences of God's power and love. We, too, are called to go out and serve the world in Jesus's name. Yet we, too, often find ourself waiting for one more push. A clearer sense of what we should be doing. Of how we should be doing it. When we should be doing it. But Pentecost reminds us: we already have what we need most. The ruby slippers are on our feet; the wind is rushing all around us. Who do we need to speak to today?

Miffy's Message

June 15th is Trinity Sunday, the first Sunday after Pentecost when the Holy Spirit came upon the disciples. Easter will be over. Trinity Sunday celebrates the Christian doctrine of the Trinity, the three Persons of God: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. It is also the Sunday that we celebrate our very own Trinity Episcopal Church. It may not be the actual birthday of our little church, but it is Our Day! It is also Father's Day this year, so we have lots to celebrate. There will be a special coffee hour after church. Put it on your calendar! We hope everyone will come help us celebrate. Summer is off to a great start.

Friday, June 6

8 am – 3 pm

Saturday, June 7

Episcopal Church Weavers

Episcopal Church Weavers (ECW) met to discuss summer activities at Trinity on Saturday, May 24. Kathleen Kangas led the meeting. You are urged to bring rummage sale items to the parish hall June 1-5. Our Gathering Place will be finished by then, so your items can be left upstairs. Please make sure they are unsoiled and in good condition. We hope to have everything sold by noon on Saturday, June 7, because no charity will take away the remaining items after the sale this year. The sale will run Friday, June 6, 8:00-3:00 and Saturday, June 7, 8:00-12:00.

Please shop!

Summer activities that were discussed were a special coffee hour for Trinity Sunday/Father's Day, flower planting to replace spring flowers as they wilt, a Trinity entry in the 4th of July Parade featuring a jazz band (new Trinity shirts will be available before the parade), an evening walk at Edson Fichter Nature Area, and attending the ISU summer musical "School of Rock" as a group. Watch The Call and the Weekly Weave for more information as the summer progresses. There will be no ECW meetings in June or July due to the Rummage Sale and 4th of July Parade. The next meeting will be August 16th at 11:00 in the parish hall. We will plan fall activities. All are welcome!

Like a caring parent, God receives our childlike painting of a tree—usually an unrecognizable mess—and delights in it. God doesn't hand it back and say, "Come back when it looks more like a tree."

- Fr. Gregory Boyle, Barking to the Choir

Fifth Sunday Offering

This June has five Sundays in it, and when that happens it's Trinity's custom to donate the fifth Sunday's non-pledge offerings to an organization serving those in need. On June 29, therefore, any donations put into the plate that aren't clearly part of a regular pledge will be given to Family Services Alliance of Southeast Idaho. Family Services Alliance provides advocacy and support for survivors of domestic and dating violence, sexual assault, rape, stalking, and human trafficking. This is sadly important work, and we hope you'll support it!

Trinity Reads

Our current book is Barking to the Choir, Jesuit priest Gregory Boyle's funny, touching, and thoughtful account of his decades-long gang-intervention ministry. We had a lively discussion of chapters 1-5 in early June and are looking forward to exploring chapters 6-10 at 7 pm on Tuesday, July 1. Join us! And for more about Fr. Boyle's ministry, the 90-minute documentary G-Dog is also available for sale or rent on Apple TV+, Amazon Prime, and other online sources.

Loving the Questions

Also in the first week of July, we'll be following up on our May session of Loving the Questions. What, we asked in May, do we see when we look at the Bible? Where do the books and letters in it come from, and how do we respond to them? We'll continue that discussion in July, exploring one story in particular: that of the Gentile woman who begs Jesus to heal her daughter in Matthew 15: 21-28 and Mark 7:24-30.

Also looking ahead...

- July 4 Parade. As in several past years, Trinity will walk in Pocatello's July 4th parade—complete with New Orleans Jazz Band! This year's parade is even going to be a led by the Budweiser Clydesdales. So buy some sunscreen, mark it on your calendar, and stay tuned for more details.
- July 6 Outdoor Morning Prayer... with brass! Whether or not you walk with the brass ensemble in the parade, you'll get to hear it (weather permitting) at Morning Prayer in the courtyard on July 6th. What a great way to celebrate the best of our nation's past, as we continue to pray for its future.
- July 26 Deanery Day. We'll join friends from around the deanery at Good Shepherd Fort Hall on this Saturday for fellowship and food... a few service projects... and some shared worship. It's a great opportunity to visit this lovely little church, and we'll wind up before the day is at its hottest.

Leaving Gracefully

In May, Trinity hosted "Leaving Gracefully: Planning for the End of Life," and the workshop was a great success! Over twenty people attended, and speakers included experts from legal, medical, and financial fields. Lunch and lovely snacks were provided. Thanks to Diane Nelson, chief organizer and caterer; Scott Bouman, chief baker; and the Idaho Episcopal Foundation.

Introducing the program, Rev. Haydie also provided an overview of end-of-life rituals and guidance available through the Episcopal Church. She's since been asked if she could offer time to meet individually with congregants making plans for their own burials and burial services. The answer is that of course she can! If her regular office hours (Mondays and Fridays 10 am-2 pm) work for you, you can drop by or call ahead to set up an appointment. If some other time would work better, let her know and she'll be happy to work something else out.

And if you already know what kind of end-of-life, funeral, or burial rituals you're hoping for, we hope you'll tell us. Is there a hymn you want sung at your service? A particular reading? Go ahead and write that down—perhaps in a planning book like those distributed at the workshop—and let the church make a photocopy of those pages. It's your best shot at being remembered the way you want to be, and it's a real kindness to the people you'll be leaving behind.

Gate City Pride

Pocatello's Pride Event will be held at Lookout Point on Saturday, June 14, and Trinity will again be part of the Interfaith presence. Booths will be open from 3-9, and we could use help setting up, breaking down, and staffing. If you'd like to participate, talk to Rev. Haydie!
