Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What's the best way to experience Pearl Harbor National Memorial?

A: The best ways to experience Pearl Harbor National Memorial are:

- Pearl Harbor USS Arizona Memorial & Battleship Missouri
- Salute to Pearl Harbor Including USS Arizona
- Pearl Harbor: USS Arizona Memorial & USS Missouri Battleship Tour from Waikiki
- Pearl Harbor, USS Arizona & Hawaiian History Tour - SMALL GROUP

People Also Ask

Q: What is the best way to see the Pearl Harbor Memorial?

A: The best way to experience the Pearl Harbor Memorial is by visiting the USS Arizona Memorial and the Pearl Harbor Visitor Center. Reserve tickets in advance to ensure entry, arrive early, and take the guided tour for in-depth insights. Exploring the museums and exhibits adds context to the historical significance of the site.

Q: Can you visit Pearl Harbor Memorial without a tour?

A: Yes. Visiting Pearl Harbor National Memorial independently allows you to explore at your own pace. It's free to visit and wander around the visitor center, so take your time to learn the site's history through the exhibits and memorial theater.

Q: How long do you need at Pearl Harbor Memorial?

A: Plan for an hour or two to see the main exhibits and pay your respects at the Pearl Harbor National Memorial. However, if you also plan to add a visit to the USS Arizona Memorial, Battleship Missouri, and other memorials, then you'll want to allow a full day.

Q: Is there a dress code for Pearl Harbor memorial?

A: No, there's no official dress code, but the site is a memorial—a place of solemnity and reflection. It's only fitting that you dress in a manner that reflects the gravity of the occasion, so choosing attire that's modest and respectful is appreciated.

Q: What is the best day to go to Pearl Harbor memorial?

A: Weekdays, especially Tuesday through Thursday, tend to be less crowded at the Pearl Harbor Memorial. Arriving early in the morning enhances your chances of securing tickets and experiencing the site with fewer visitors. Visiting on December 7—the anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor—is an extra poignant way to experience the attraction.

Q: Is Pearl Harbor National Memorial accessible?

A: Yes, the Pearl Harbor National Memorial is an accessible site. With no hills or steep stairs, the entire area is welcoming to those with limited mobility. There are also wheelchair locks on the boats that transfer visitors back and forth to the memorial.
