TRAINING SYMPOSIUM

The background of the poster features a dramatic scene of two firefighters in full protective gear. One firefighter is spraying a powerful stream of water onto a fire, while the other stands behind him, looking on. The fire is intense, with large orange and yellow flames and smoke filling the background. The firefighters' gear, including helmets and oxygen tanks, is clearly visible.

The CIMA Symposium is a training conference designed to foster growth and innovation of our member emergency response teams. Join industry, CIMA leaders and experts as we share insights, strategies, and best practices to elevate your emergency response teams.
