

Mission Friendship Centre Society
Membership Code of Ethics

As of June 19, 2018

All members of the MFCS must pledge upon application, renewal, or recertification to uphold and conduct their professional and membership-related activities in accordance with the Code of Ethics as prescribed by the Society.

A person accepting membership in the Society ensures the obligation to conduct his or her professional and membership-related activities in a responsible and ethical manner.

To represent the MFCS to the community in a positive way.

The Mission Friendship Centre Society’s expectations of membership:

- Be respectful and courteous when speaking with others
- Be a problem solver or offer suggestions and ideas
- Be of service when needed or requested and/or volunteers time and services
- Be inclusive
- Be considerate

We shall maintain the best interests of our members.

Differences of opinions and disagreements are mostly unavoidable. What is important is that we resolve disagreements and differing views constructively.

When disagreements do arise they are dealt with immediately and confidentially with board members.

We can find strength in diversity. Different people have different perspectives on issues, and that can be valuable for solving problems or generating new ideas. Being unable to understand why someone holds a viewpoint doesn’t mean that they’re wrong. Don’t forget that we all make mistakes and blaming each other doesn’t get us anywhere. Instead, focus on resolving issues and learning from mistakes.

The Code of Ethics protect the membership, Board of Directors, Staff and volunteers of the Mission Friendship Centre Society.

With raised hands to all who enter our centre and contribute to moving forward in a positive way.

Compliance with the Code of Ethics is a condition of being a member of the society. Any breach of the Code of Ethics will result in disciplinary action or expulsion of your membership with the MFCS.
