

Curious Roots Consulting: Sustainability Statement

Last updated: 15 July 2025

At Curious Roots Consulting, we recognise that the climate crisis and ecological decline require urgent and thoughtful action. While we are a small, independent consultancy, we are committed to working in ways that reduce harm and support environmental sustainability.

Our Commitments

We aim to:

- Operate primarily online to reduce travel-related emissions
- Avoid unnecessary printing and use digital tools for reporting and feedback
- Choose sustainable materials when printing is essential (e.g. recycled paper)
- Reuse, recycle and reduce office waste wherever possible
- Work with clients and partners who are also mindful of their environmental impact

How This Looks in Practice

- Meetings, interviews and workshops are offered virtually by default
- Travel is limited to essential visits, and public transport is prioritised where feasible
- Deliverables (e.g. reports, resources) are provided electronically unless otherwise agreed
- Evaluation designs consider the environmental footprint of tools, materials, and activities

Always Evolving

We understand that sustainability is an ongoing journey. As Curious Roots Consulting grows, we will continue to reflect on how our ways of working can better support a healthy planet and future.

If you'd like to discuss our sustainability approach or share ideas, please contact:

Clare Meakin

Lead Consultant, Curious Roots Consulting

Email: clare@curiousrootsconsulting.com