Metalogic presents its Annual Conference focused on

“Strategic Steel & Advanced Materials for a Self-Reliant Bharat” bringing together policymakers, industry leaders, defence experts, and technology innovators to shape the future of India’s steel ecosystem.

At a time when the steel sector is undergoing a profound transformation — driven by decarbonization, digitization, energy transition, and advanced material science — this festival brings together steel producers, technology innovators, solution providers, equipment manufacturers, and engineering leaders under one roof.

The event will feature a series of high-level technology sessions, innovation pitches, live demonstrations, and expert-led discussions, offering deep insights into how modern steel plants can achieve higher efficiency, superior product quality, lower environmental footprint, and enhanced operational excellence.

Beyond knowledge sharing, the Steel Technology Festival is designed as a powerful business and collaboration platform, enabling meaningful dialogue between technology providers and end-users, fostering strategic partnerships, accelerating technology adoption, and driving real-world implementation across steel plants, engineering projects, and downstream manufacturing ecosystems.

FROM STEEL TO SOVEREIGNTY.
