Owner: Dan & Sandy Geiman

Welcome to Yellow Star Acres. Danny and Sandy Geiman are the owners and operators of this mini farm.

Danny is a 5th generation farmer, being 1 of 12 children, who grew up and was raised on a farm in Grant's Lick, Ky having raised tobacco, beef cattle, and lots of gardens. Later he moved to Pendleton Co. where he continued raising tobacco.

After the tobacco buyout, he started raising Long Horn cattle for beef.

Sandy is originally from Pendleton Co. Being 1 of 8 children, I've always enjoyed sewing, crafting, decorating, gardening, animals and love being outside.

In 2015 we took the opportunity to move back to Campbell County purchasing 6 acres of country soil. We built our home and continued raising Long Horn and added some goats for entertainment, chickens for eggs and a couple of dogs. We call it our mini farm.

Today, we enjoy raising our animals and growing gardens. Starting with seeds in our greenhouse and going from there. With these, we'll make food for our families and sell some as well. Sandy has a small craft business and a little shop on our mini farm, which was made from logging cedar from our mini farm.

We love every minute of our mini farm as we also enjoy our four children and 6 beautiful grandchildren.

Stop by anytime and visit, we welcome everyone!
