COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE (neighborhood)

When a new Dodge comes to its permanent home the whole neighborhood is often its recep-tion committee. People troop out from doors, peer out from windows, pop up from nowhere— full of excited admiration and noisy congratu-lations. Each new Dodge delivery becomes a little local triumph shared and enjoyed by all.

It goes on everywhere as Dodge breaks down barriers to all the different automobile markets and delivers a quality of style and performance not known before.

RESEARCH SUGGESTS AN EYE-HEART CONNECTION

(NAPSI)–If you are like the majority of Americans, heart disease and eye disease run in your family. So you should know that a growing body of research suggests that eye and heart health are related. The latest study suggests that people with a specific form of agerelated macular degeneration (AMD) are at significant risk for cardiovascular disease and stroke.

About AMD

AMD is the leading cause of visual impairment and blindness in people over 65 years old. There are two types of AMD. The type called dry AMD happens when the central area of the retina called the macula becomes damaged from the formation of small yellow cholesterol deposits under the retina. These deposits deprive the retina of blood and oxygen, leading to vision loss. The type of deposits the researchers believe are linked to heart disease are called subretinal drusenoid deposits.

The new study adds to the list of several health conditions an eye exam may help detect.

The Eye as a Window into Heart Health

Blood vessels and nerves in the eyes are reflective of the rest of the body. That's why medical conditions such as stroke, heart disease, some cancers, and diabetes are sometimes first diagnosed by an ophthalmologist during a routine eye exam.

Here's what ophthalmologists want you to know about protecting both your eye and heart health:

1. Eat well. A heart-healthy diet full of leafy greens and colorful fruits is also good for the eyes. Studies show foods rich in vitamins C and E, zinc, lutein, zeaxanthin, and omega-3 fatty acids can lower risk of certain eye diseases, including macular degeneration, cataracts, and dry eye.

2. Exercise. The American Heart Association recommends 30 minutes of exercise a day. For eye health, the science shows regular exercise can protect your vision and, if you already have an eye disease, it can help you manage it better.

You will be better advised to watch what we do instead of what we say.

-A. A. Milne

Add water (or any kind of broth), bring to a boil, and simmer for one hour.

3. Know your family history. Early detection is key. Many leading causes of blindness run in the family, such as macular degeneration and glaucoma. Know your family history and share it with your ophthalmologist at your next eye exam.

4. Get routine eye exams. Seeing an ophthalmologist could do more than save your eyesight, it can also save your life. When David Hibler, Sr. went to get his eyes checked, his ophthalmologist detected signs of a blood clot. Thanks to a thorough eye exam, Hibler got treated and avoided a potential stroke. The American Academy of Ophthalmology recommends all adults receive a comprehensive eye exam by age 40, and every year or two after age 65.

COLUMBIA COUNTY SENIOR DINING

- Ch. Teri. Patty, Baby Red Pot., Tossed

Igloos can be more than 100 degrees varmer inside than outside. They're also warmed entirely by body heat. Since fresh, compacted snow is approximately 90 to 95 percent trapped air (meaning it can't move and transfer heat) it's a great insulator. Many animals, such as bears, dig deep holes in the snow to hibernate through the winter.

DEBUNKING THE FIVE MYTHS THAT DETER HOMEOWNERSHIP

(NAPSI)-Buying a home can seem daunting, especially for first-time homebuyers facing record housing prices, tight supply, and rising interest rates. Quite often, misconceptions about homeownership discourage prospective buyers from starting a search even before it begins.

The good news is homeownership can be much closer than you think. Lisa Frison, Head of Financial Inclusion and Racial Equity at Citi, recalls that growing up her parents rented their home for years before eventually becoming first-time homebuyers. "Even so, I found myself struggling to understand what I needed to do and what resources were available to me when I was ready to buy my first home nearly a decade later," she says. Here Frison debunks these Top 5 Myths to help you get on track to building generational wealth through homeownership.

1.1 Don't Have Credit (a FICO Score). Nearly 11% of Americans (50 million people) are "credit invisible," according to the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, meaning they have no or limited credit history. This disproportionately affects diverse and underserved communities. To help, Citi's HomeRun mortgage program offers non-traditional ways to demonstrate credit readiness, such as providing proof of paying rent, utilities or other monthly payments.

2.I Don't Have Enough Money Saved. You may have more money than you think. Many banks offer programs for new homebuyers that do not require mort-gage insurance for those qualifying. Also, HomeRun has some mortgages for as little as 3% down, with a minimum 1% borrower contribution. This, along with the bank's Lender Paid Assistance, which provides up to $7,500 closing cost funds that do not need to be paid back, saves qualifying borrowers thousands of dollars in closing costs, helping them afford more house. These programs are offered only in select markets and have income limitations.

3.I Should Start House Hunting with a Realtor. It seems logical to begin with a real estate agent but your best bet may be to start with your lender, who can explore homebuyer assistance programs with you and give you a realistic view of what you can afford through a pre-qualification or pre-approval. A real estate agent will then narrow the search to help you find the right home for you and your budget.

4.I Earn Too Much to Qualify for Assistance. Lender assistance programs may be more expansive than you think, especially in response to inflation and rising home prices. For example, Citi has increased lending assistance to borrowers with income up to 120% of median income–up from 80% of the median local income. The bank's loan officers can tell customers where their income is relative to the local median family income and also whether a property is located in an eligible census tract.

5.I Should Keep Renting Because I Missed the Market and Now I'm Priced Out. First-time or affordable homebuyer programs can help you get on the path to buying a home you can afford. Remember, a home is more than a place to live and build memories-it is a way to build wealth that you can pass on to future generations. That's something you can't achieve by renting.
