

Youth Food Literacy Program

The Youth Food Literacy Program aims to teach local high school students the value of food and the impact it has on our environment and our health through hands-on learning opportunities.

Scholarships

Each year Orange Home Grown awards scholarships to college level students, or high school seniors entering college, whose studies align with our mission. These may include the fields of agriculture, food, health, and the environment. To apply, find our application online.

Volunteer Opportunities

There are a wide variety of volunteer opportunities within Orange Home Grown. From the farmers market Kids Club and Park Your Paws dog sitting to special event needs, there is something for everyone to get involved. You can also volunteer at the Education Farm on Fridays from 9:30 – 11:30am.

Visit our website to make donations, apply for scholarships, learn more about volunteer opportunities, being a vendor, and more.

ORANGE
FARMERS
AND
MARKET

Over 45 different farmers and food artisans attend The Certified Farmers Market each Saturday. They offer locally grown fruits and vegetables, sustainably sourced eggs, meat, seafood, cheese, baked goods and other artisan products.

Activities at the Farmers Market

There are a variety of activities that are put on each week including live music, kids' club, yoga, cooking demos, educational classes, pet-sitting, market tours, food trucks, and more. We proudly accept EBT and Market Match incentives.

Seed Library

What is the seed library?

The seed library is both a collection of seeds and a community of gardeners. Free seeds are available at both locations.

Located at:

Orange Public Library
and
El Modena Branch Library

Education Farm

A community farm space dedicated to providing hands-on regenerative farming opportunities and educational events for all ages.

Volunteer at the farm every Friday from 9:30-11:30am.
