

DIY Fabric Plates

The SASSY
SUNFLOWER

Supplies: Clear plates

Fabric of your choice

Mod Podge

(I use the Hard Coat variety, found at any craft store)

Foam brush

Poly Acrylic Spray (Home Depot)

Scissors (sharp fabric scissors work best)

1. Make sure your glass plates are cleaned before you begin. I put mine thru a dishwasher cycle.
2. Begin by measuring the fabric to fit your plate, Cut slightly larger than your size.
3. Brush an even layer of Mod Podge over the back of your plate with your foam brush.
4. Center the fabric pieces over your plate with the printed side of the fabric facing down and smooth out to the edges of the plate; working out air bubbles with your fingers as you go.
5. Brush another layer of Mod Podge evenly over the fabric you just placed on the plate.
6. Place each plate on a glass and let them dry. It took my plates several hours to get completely dry. They actually weren't completely dry until the next day.
7. Once the plates are dry, trim the edges with a pair of sharp scissors.
8. To protect the look of your plates, apply an acrylic spray to the back of the plates. I applied 2-3 coats.

The tops are food safe by they aren't dishwasher safe! When cleaning your plates – simply hand wash by wiping with warm water.

And here's the fun part.....you can mix and match fabrics and add shape cut outs! A perfect way to use some of your beautiful fabric scraps!
