SCOTT COUNTY IA, is part of the Quad Cities Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA), located in eastern Iowa and western Illinois on the Mississippi River, 165 miles west of Chicago. The Quad Cities MSA consists of Scott County in Iowa and Rock Island, Henry, and Mercer Counties in Illinois. Combined with 172,943 Scott County residents, the Quad Cities measures over 380,000 people in population in all.

Scott County was established by an act of the territorial legislature of Wisconsin in December 1837. The new county was named in honor of General Winfield Scott, who was the presiding officer at the signing of the peace treaty ending the Black Hawk War.

Davenport is the county seat and the largest city in Scott County. It's central location on the banks of the Mississippi River, Davenport is Iowa's third largest city, and one of its oldest.

Neighboring riverfront Bettendorf, Iowa, the county's second largest city, is one of the fastest growing communities in Iowa. Its 30,000-plus population enjoys community life rich in culture and recreation. The southern border of Scott County takes travelers along the Great River Road, a scenic drive through the county's historic river communities.

Scott County has some of the richest agricultural land in the nation. Nearly 90 percent of Scott County is home to some of the most fertile and valuable farmland in the country, where row crops and livestock are the basis of a strong agricultural economy. The combination of river access and agricultural production has made the Quad Cities a major farm equipment-manufacturing center.

Rivers on three sides bind Scott County. The Wapsipinicon is on the North and the Mississippi is on the East and South. The majority of the Mississippi, which is a north to south river, actually runs east to west in most of Scott County.

Historically strong work ethic of the people of Iowa and their ideals of preserving family values, has helped Scott County flourish.

DAVENPORT

DAVENPORT, IA is home to early 100,000 of the county's 157,000 residents and county seat of Scott county. Davenport's diversity ranges from its designation as a Mississippi River tourist mecca, where modern-day riverboat gambling was born, to its reputation as a productive and profitable business center and a great place to raise a family.

Situated along the banks of the Mississippi River and is on the border of Iowa across the river from Illinois, Davenport is a vibrant and progressive community that has been declared "The Most Livable Small City in America." With a thriving downtown and business-friendly environment, explore the city's unique character, history, entertainment and business, appreciation for art and culture, shopping and civic service opportunities. Davenport has 50 plus parks and facilities, as well as more than 20 miles of recreational paths for biking or walking.

Davenport was founded on May 14, 1836 by Antoine Le Claire and was named for his friend George Davenport, a former English sailor who served in the U.S. Army during the War of 1812, served as a supplier Fort Armstrong, worked as a fur trader with the American Fur Company, and was appointed a quartermaster with the rank of colonel during the Black Hawk War.

Scott County

Today, Davenport, and the Quad Cities Metropolitan Area, was ranked among the fastest-growing areas in the nation in the growth of high-tech jobs. Today, Davenport's biggest labor industry is manufacturing, with over 7,600 jobs in the sector. John Deere is the second largest employer in the Quad Cities, after the Rock Island Arsenal as a whole. Deere, however, is the largest single employer, employing 7,200 workers in the Quad Cities and 948 on its north side Davenport plant.

Downtown Davenport has many points of interest including the Davenport Public Library, the Davenport Skybridge, Figge Art Museum, River Music Experience. Uptown features a few historic landmarks such as the Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' Home which took in homeless children from all of Iowa's ninety-nine counties following the Civil War and Ambrose Hall which was the original building of St. Ambrose University.

Davenport has a number of parks including Credit Island park which has a bike path, baseball diamonds, tennis courts, and fishing along the Mississippi River. Vander Veer Botanical Park has a small botanical garden and also features a walking path, a lagoon, and a large fountain. The Stampe Lilac Garden is located in Duck Creek Park, on Locust St.

BETTENDORF

A large suspension bridge with two tall towers and multiple spans, crossing a wide river. The sky is overcast with soft clouds. The bridge has a dark metal structure and white cables.

BETTENDORF IA, is a city in Scott County, Iowa, United States. It is the 15th largest city of Iowa and the fourth-largest city in the “Quad Cities” with a population of 35,919. It is part of the Davenport–Moline–Rock Island, IA-IL Metropolitan Statistical Area.

The city of Bettendorf is located along the banks of the Mississippi River. Because of this the city of Bettendorf goes through a great deal of flooding and deals annually with Storm Water run off. In 2000, Missman, Stanley & Associates prepared a Comprehensive Storm Water study on all 14 of the city’s drainage ways. This study included future Capital Improvement Projects. The City of Bettendorf’s Stormwater Section will be the organization to implement this comprehensive plan. There are 169 inlets that have found to be insufficient and not working to proper code for handling rainfall over 1.25 inches and in handling of rainfall into all city creeks.

Due to this, several creeks such as Crow Creek, Pigeon Creek, Spencer Creek, and others are continuing to flow and destroy personal property because of not handling the water being put into the creek properly and having the creek banks secured. The City of Bettendorf has been collecting storm water fees on water bills to maintain and resolve these issues. Efforts are focused on improving surface water quality which will in turn improve the quality of drinking water, increase viability for fish and decrease flooding. The plan includes the repair and cleaning of roadside pipes and ditches, replacing small culverts with larger ones and maintaining the system on a regular basis. Routine inspections are performed during dry weather to detect and address illicit discharges.

The first modern-day riverboat casinos in the United States were launched in Bettendorf on April 1, 1991 by local businessman Bernard Goldstein. He went on to found the Isle of Capri Casinos. Goldstein and his family members also operate Alter Companies, which is a scrap metal, barge and towboat company operating on the river waterfront. The Quad Cities Waterfront Convention Center opened by the casino and hotel in 2009. It is owned by the city and operated by the Isle of Capri.
