Annelies has been inspiring people through unconventional acts of creativity since 1992. As an artist she focuses on the value of creative process. Her works are often interactive and collaborative, inviting the viewer to engage and be a part of what's being created. She's a Multi-disciplinary Process Artist focusing on an integrative approach. Her mediums include visual arts and sculpture to expressive arts, movement, poetry, writing and song. Annelies has created with metal, photography, plaster, paint, resin, fabric, film, digital and glass. Today, she mostly is focused on large abstract works that are painted live, and /or have an integrative component for audience engagement. Although primarily self-taught, at age 31 Annelies began college to better understand how and why creative process can benefit wellbeing of self and society. At age 44, she published her first book. Annelies' art sales include private commissions and gallery shows. Annelies is seeking new exhibition opportunities, as well as for public art installations.
