

NINTH ANNUAL INDOOR CHAMPIONSHIP ATHLETIC MEETING

The 1930 Indoor Meeting was held on March 1st at the 102nd Engineers Armory in New York City. The Meet was a brilliant success from every point of view with every seat filled and with an audience unusually stirred and excited. One thrilling race followed after another up to as stirring a climax as the Intercollegiate Games have seen in the 53 years of its existence.

Precisely at eight the games started and finished at ten-thirty. There is no question but that the spectacle has taken hold of the New York public's interest. Both the crowds and the enthusiasm have increased for the last five years. From the standpoint of competition nothing has been produced to equal the quality of the 1930 Meet. Four records were broken and several by very wide margins. For the first time in the history of the Indoor Meet the competition ended in a tie. Pennsylvania and Cornell finished with $27\frac{1}{2}$ points each. Cornell scored $17\frac{1}{2}$ points in field events and 10 on the track. Pennsylvania scored $15\frac{1}{2}$ points in the field and 12 on the track. Of this score 8 points were contributed by Bernard Berlinger who, with Solomon Furth of N. Y. U., was the high scorer of the Meet. Harvard was third with $20\frac{1}{2}$, N. Y. U. fourth with 15 and Yale fifth with $12\frac{1}{2}$.

Unquestionably the most thrilling race of all was the last, the One Mile Relay. Holy Cross was the unquestioned favorite on the basis of previous time made, but it was the Harvard Team that made a new Intercollegiate and World's Indoor record. Pennsylvania took the lead with Syracuse, Georgetown, Holy Cross, Harvard and Yale following in the final. At the end of this leg, Holy Cross was first with Harvard third. Then Vernon Munroe, running a magnificent quarter that was clocked in $48\frac{3}{5}$, pulled Harvard into first place. The third relay was a stand-off. The final relay with McCafferty of Holy Cross on the heels of Record of Harvard was a terrific race from start to finish. McCafferty collided with the Syracuse finalist losing some ground but came on down to the sprint with a terrific rush. There were 7,000 people in the audience, most of them stretched to their limit and yelling, who saw him draw up inch by inch until only those at the finish line knew who had won. The time of 3 minutes 20.6 seconds broke the 1928 record of Syracuse by $\frac{3}{5}$ th of a second. While the attention of the crowd was on the two leaders the greatest race of the evening was being run by Engle of Yale who pulled up 15 yards on men that were doing 50 seconds with a rush that brought him to within a yard of the tape at the finish. He was timed unofficially in $47\frac{3}{5}$ seconds.

The next greatest performance was the Two-Mile Run which brought Paul Rekers of Penn State and Joseph Hagen of Columbia together, and the result was the breaking of the former Intercollegiate record by 8 full seconds, and records are not usually treated this way. The result was the time of 9 minutes 22.8 seconds. In this race the two chief contenders were out in front early, Rekers making the pace for most of the way. Two laps or a quarter of a mile from the finish, Hagen jumped to the front and there followed one of the most terrific sprints in the history of the Meet. For about a lap Hagen held his own, but Rekers followed him and pulled away in the last hundred yards to win by 15 yards. Levering of Cornell, who was fifth by 45 yards, was probably under the old record.

The New York University Freshman Team established another track record with a very well balanced team of 7 minutes 41.8 seconds, $\frac{4}{5}$ ths of a second better than Pennsylvania's effort of last year.

The fourth record to go was that in the broad jump. Undoubtedly the lengthening of the broad jump runway had something to do with the all around improved performances. Everett Utterback of Pittsburgh on his second jump did 23 feet 5½ inches to break the record of William A. Dowding of Georgetown made in 1925 of 23 feet 1½ inches. The first three men, Utterback, Boyle of Pennsylvania, and Furth of N. Y. U., were better than the old record, and the fifth man, Berlinger of Pennsylvania, was ½ inch better than the winner of last year. Boyle three times exceeded 24 feet, but each of these efforts was a foul.

There were a number of improvements in equipment. A special flooring was laid for the high jump, raising the take-off to the level of the track. The broad jump runway was lengthened considerably. The judges were provided with raised stands. The large flags of the Association were raised to denote the first three places in each event.

During the running of the last two races, the two mile and the one mile relay, the floor was cleared of officials and competitors so that the entire audience had an uninterrupted view of all the races.

The records of individuals competing, the number of starters and the number of starts were as follows:
