NEW FORMAT DEBUTS TODAY

Following approval by the I.C.A.A.A. membership at their annual meeting in September, this 69th annual Championship marks the first time that the 106 member colleges of the IC4A have been divided into three competitive groups: Championship Division (36 colleges); University Division (27 colleges) and College Division (43 colleges). Most of last year's University Division have declared for the new Championship Division; while the new University Division and College Division are comprised of those schools which had formerly competed in the old College Division race. Safety of the competitors, as well as better administration of the meet are the primary reasons behind the new format.

WHAT HAPPENED IN 1976

Army's Curt Alitz, who had finished second the year before, toured the five-mile course in a personal best time of 23:58.1 to claim the 1976 I.C.A.A.A. individual title, defeating Northeastern's John Flora by more than 25 yards.

Harvard, however, provided the surprise of the day, narrowly edging Villanova for the 69th annual team trophy. For the Crimson, which ten days before had finished second in the Heptagonal Cross Country Championship to Princeton, it was the first IC4A team title in 45 years. Harvard had four in the top twenty (Jeff Campbell, 5th; Peter Fitzsimmons, 7th; Stein Rafto, 11th; and Reed Eichner, 20th), but it was Rockwell Moulton's finish in 91st place that secured the three-point win for the Crimson. Villanova's 137-point total was accomplished by finishers in 10th, 18th, 29th, 36th, and 44th place -- but not enough for Harvard.

In the College Division race, Lehigh recaptured the team title it had lost to Bucknell the year before, outdistancing Fairleigh Dickinson and Delaware. Individual honors, however, went to M.I.T.'s Frank Richardson, who finished the course in 25:05.8, just in front of Bloomsburg's Steve Eachus (25:07).

I.C.A.A.A. CROSS COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIP CUP

Cornell University won the inaugural I.C.A.A.A. championship trophy in 1913 with five victories in six years. It took twenty-three meets before Michigan State captured the second trophy in 1937. Michigan State also retired the third championship cup in 1957, with a record of five triumphs in 1948, 1952, 1953, 1956 and 1957. The fourth cup went to Villanova, winner in 1962, 1966, 1967, 1968, and 1969. The fifth cup went into competition in 1970. Villanova and Manhattan both have two legs on the cup.
