Eastern College Athletic Conference

The Nation's Largest Athletic Conference

Over 50 Years of Tradition, Pride, Diversity & Service

ECAC History

Founded in 1938, the Eastern College Athletic Conference is the nation's largest collegiate athletic conference with over 290 member colleges and universities ranging from Maine to North Carolina in Divisions I, II and III. ECAC member institutions sponsor over 2,500 varsity teams involving 125,000 male and female student-athletes.

The ECAC manages over 100 championships in 21 men's and women's sports for its membership and is responsible for over 20,000 officiating assignments, a public relations/news bureau and a legislative services department.

The ECAC headquarters, the Asa S. Bushnell Center, is located in Centerville, MA, on Cape Cod. The business of this non-profit organization is conducted at its annual ECAC Fall and Spring Conventions.

A Conference of conferences, the ECAC includes within its organizational structure dozens of leagues and affiliate organizations. Colleges and universities from the America East, Atlantic 10, Big East, Colonial Athletic Association, Ivy League, MAAC, Northeast Conference and Patriot League, along with schools from the Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania State conferences, all holding dual membership in the ECAC.

Over the years, the ECAC has exerted leadership not only at the regional level, but also on the national level with the NCAA. With over 25 percent of the NCAA made up of ECAC members, the Conference plays a leading role in national athletics policy.

Several ECAC administrators have served as both NCAA and ECAC Presidents, including Bill Flynn of Boston College, John Toner of Connecticut and Eppy Barnes of Colgate. Dick Schultz, former NCAA Executive Director, was a member of the ECAC Executive Council when he was AD at Cornell.

The ECAC was founded as the Central Office for Eastern Intercollegiate Athletics with a charter membership of 53 colleges. Commissioner Asa Bushnell molded and guided the organization from its inception until his retirement in 1970, when his long-time associate George Shiebler was appointed successor. Robert M. "Scotty" Whitelaw, who had joined the ECAC in 1960, was named commissioner in 1972 and served in that office for 17 years. In 1989 he was succeeded by current commissioner Clayton Chapman, who began his tenure with the conference in 1971.

One of the most significant events in ECAC history occurred in 1983 with the consolidation of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women into the ECAC structure. With the addition of women's sports, the ECAC doubled the number of its championships.

ECAC Membership Benefits

Championships - The ECAC manages over 100 championships in 21 men's and women's sports in all three divisions as well as eight affiliate championships, including IC4A Track, EARC Rowing and the ECAC Intercollegiate Football Conference. The ECAC Division I men's ice hockey league champion and tournament winner receive automatic bids to the NCAA Tournament. The ECAC championships provide its members with a post-season opportunity outside conference play and as an alternative to the NCAA Championships.

Officiating - The ECAC assigns over 4,000 officials in Divisions I, II and III in 15 sports, including baseball, men's and women's basketball, fencing, football, gymnastics, men's and women's ice hockey, men's and women's soccer, wrestling, crew, cross country, swimming and track & field. The ECAC Supervisors of Officials provide clinics and workshops to improve the level of officiating and to attract the most qualified officials at the collegiate level. The officiating bureaus assign officials for both conference and NCAA regional championships.

Public Relations/Recognition Awards - The ECAC publicizes its member colleges and student-athletes through weekly and postseason all-star awards in football, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's ice hockey, baseball and softball. The ECAC publishes a quarterly newsletter, a Directory & Record Book and football and hockey guides.

Conventions and Meetings - The business of the ECAC is conducted at the ECAC Fall and Spring Conventions, which provides opportunities for the membership to discuss and vote on common issues and concerns. The ECAC Fall Convention on Cape Cod is attended by 300 administrators and includes committee and affiliate league meetings, seminars, awards luncheon and trade show.

Internship Program - The ECAC has established the prestigious Asa S. Bushnell internship program, which provides interns with a perspective on collegiate athletics, through the daily operations of collegiate athletics, primarily through public relations and administration of its championships. Candidates must hold an undergraduate or graduate degree from an ECAC institution.

Legislative Services - The Conference maintains a legislative and compliance department to assist its membership with the application of NCAA and ECAC regulations. The Conference sponsors workshops and seminars, processes hardship waivers and administers the NCAA National Letter of Intent.

Sponsorships - The ECAC seeks the support of corporations desirous of increasing their penetration of the college market. Support can take various forms: enabling or enhancement of ECAC activities and events; products for ECAC championships and discounted rates for ECAC-member schools. Current sponsors include Budget Rent a Car; Chase Bank; Chevy Dealers of New England; MSI/Prime Hotels; Reebok; Ricoh/Offtech; Spalding and USAir.

Special Events - The conference manages events such as the Chase ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden, Eastern College Football Awards Banquet at the Meadowlands and the ECAC Women's Holiday Festival.

Television - The conference manages an "ECAC TV Game of the Week," for football and ice hockey carried on New England Sports Network and Empire Sports Network. SportsChannel, MSG Network and Comcast also carry ECAC events.

PHIL BUTTAFUOCO NAMED FIFTH COMMISSIONER OF THE EASTERN COLLEGE ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

Philip A. Buttafuoco, currently senior assistant director of championships at the National Collegiate Athletic Association, has been named commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, it was announced today (March 17) by Gene Doris, ECAC President and Director of Athletics at Fairfield University. Buttafuoco, who will assume his duties July 1, 1998, will replace Clayton W. Chapman, who is retiring effective June 30.

During its storied 60-year history, the Eastern College Athletic Conference has enjoyed strong and stable leadership, with just four commissioners serving at the helm during the past six decades.

"After a thorough and extensive search, I am proud to announce on behalf of the ECAC the selection of Phil Buttafuoco," said Doris. "I am delighted that in the process he emerged as the person to lead the Conference through the changing landscape of intercollegiate athletics. He is clearly a dynamic individual who has earned the respect of his colleagues at the institutional and conference level. No one is better prepared than Phil to accept this challenge. His global perspective and experience insures that he will advance the tradition of the ECAC."

Buttafuoco has served as the assistant director of championships for the NCAA since 1989 and was promoted to senior assistant director in 1996. His duties include administering eight NCAA Championships, including Divisions I and II women's soccer, men's and women's skiing, Division I ice hockey, Divisions I, II and III men's lacrosse and Division I men's golf and previously served as liaison to Division III baseball, women's lacrosse, water polo and Division III ice hockey.

He also has coordinated the NCAA men's lacrosse and ice hockey officiating-improvement programs and assisted the administration of the Association's corporate partner, merchandising, promotions, official ball and media programs related to the championships.

"I am proud and tremendously excited to have been selected to serve the nation's largest athletic conference," said Buttafuoco. "The ECAC is rich in tradition and history which establishes a solid foundation for my involvement with the conference. I look forward to expanding the platform of programs and services that have been created by my predecessors during the past 60 years."

No stranger to the northeast, Buttafuoco is a 1983 graduate of Hobart College, where he received a bachelor's of art degree in economics, with a minor in mathematics. He went on to serve as athletics business manager and then assistant athletics director at his alma mater until December of 1988. He is a native of Garden City, N.Y.

"There's no question in my mind that the ECAC has made an outstanding choice in the selection of Phil Buttafuoco as its next Commissioner," said Chapman. "He brings to the Conference the strong background of a top athletics administrator with the NCAA. This includes valuable experience and understanding of the issues and philosophies of the collegiate community at all three divisional levels, so valuable to the diverse membership of the ECAC."

"His years with the NCAA have already exposed him to many of our ECAC member colleges and affiliate conferences, in sports that are prominent within the ECAC. Moreover, Phil has roots in the east and understands and appreciates the variety and importance of the services provided by the ECAC to its members, and the traditional values of intercollegiate athletics that are the backbone of this Conference," said Chapman.

The 38-year-old Buttafuoco plans to move to South Sandwich, where he will live with his wife Janet and their two sons Nicholas and Jameson.

Buttafuoco becomes the fifth ECAC Commissioner, following in the footsteps of Asa S. Bushnell, who served from 1938-70, George L. Shiebler (1970-72), Robert M (Scotty) Whitelaw (1972-89) and Chapman, who held the post from 1989 until the present.

Trecia Smith

by E.J. Borghetti, Director of Media Relations
University of Pittsburgh

Perhaps the impact that Trecia Smith has had on the University of Pittsburgh track and field program was best illustrated at the Indoor NCAA Championships, held this past March in the RCA Dome in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Pittsburgh finished third at the national championships with 26 total points. It was the highest NCAA finish for any Pittsburgh team - track or otherwise - at a national championship event.

And how many points was Smith personally responsible for? Try nearly 80 percent of them. The junior from Westmoreland, Jamaica, captured both the long and triple jump championships for a total of 20 points, spurring the Panthers' on to their landmark finish.

A one-woman gang? Not entirely. The Panthers' stellar sophomore sprinter Chantee Earl, an All-American in her own right, was responsible for the other six points with a third-place finish in the 800 meters. It was Smith, however, that carried the load.

Smith's indoor long jump title - captured with a leap of 21-6 1/4 - was her second straight. It was her first NCAA indoor triple jump title, which was achieved with a leap of 46-1 1/4. The jump was the best by a collegian this year.

Smith was the only performer, male or female, to capture two individual titles at this year's Indoor NCAA Championships. She now has four NCAA titles to her credit, which ties her with former standout Panther sprinter Lee McRae for the most national track and field championships in school history.

As a sophomore last year, she won the indoor long jump and outdoor triple jump national titles. She additionally set the national collegiate record in the triple jump at last year's Outdoor ECAC Championships with a mark of 46-8, shattering the old mark (set in 1990) by almost eight inches. The United States Track and Field Coaches Association lauded her as its Division I National Athlete of the Year.

A little over midway through her junior season, Smith has nine All-America citations to her credit, the second most in Pittsburgh history. She trails only Najuma Fletcher, who was a 14-time All-American from 1992-96 and ranks as one of Pittsburgh's all-time greats.

Fletcher, incidentally, has remained with Pittsburgh as an assistant coach. She and Smith were teammates for one season (1995-96). There were times that the stiffest competition either of them faced would be against each other in practice. Having the two on the same team, even for just one season, was the equivalent of what the New York Yankees had in a lineup that featured Hall of Famers Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle.

Smith owns Pittsburgh records in the indoor and outdoor long and triple jumps, as well as the heptathlon and outdoor shot put. The jumping and heptathlon records formerly belonged to Fletcher, who, by the way, was an Olympian for her native Guyana in 1992.

Smith's list of achievements go beyond the athletic realm. She also excels in the classroom and is pursuing a major in sports medicine, an area of study that she gained interest in after suffering an athletic injury while growing up in Jamaica.

Needless to say, Smith is already considered one of the Panthers' all-time greatest performers. And she is not even close to being finished yet.

The NCAA Outdoor Championships held in Buffalo this June will likely yield a few more All-America performances for Smith. And she certainly will be a prohibitive favorite for another national title or two.

Before she sets her sights on nationals, however, the ECAC Championships will take priority. Given her past history at the event - she has been named the event's outstanding performer twice - the crowd assembled at George Mason University should be in for quite a show.

Peter Coghlan

by David Shoehalter, Yale Men's Assistant Track and Field Coach

When current Yale track and field captain Peter Coghlan's name first came across the desk of the coaching staff at Yale University, not one of the coaches could have known what they were about to encounter. In Track and Field circles, his homeland of Ireland is known more for producing milers and hammer throwers than hurdlers, which made him a bit of an enigma. His academic credentials were unquestionably outstanding, having graduated from one of the best secondary schools in Ireland (Belvedere College), but his track and field abilities were something of an unknown quantity. "We knew he was the Irish Schools champion," reflects Yale mentor Steve Bartold, "but we weren't quite sure what that meant as far as his ability to compete in Division One Collegiate track and field." During the course of the next four years, Coghlan would answer all of the questions about his track and field abilities, becoming one of the most decorated Yale athletes since the late 1960's when current Yale women's head coach Mark Young and Frank Shorter ran the Elis into national prominence.

As a freshman, Coghlan had the kind of season typical of a young hurdler. As a schoolboy in Dublin he essentially had to teach himself how to hurdle and he brought some bad habits across the Atlantic with him. His first year in New Haven was spent getting accustomed to life at Yale, and trying to erase the bad hurdling habits he had established back at home. As a result, he had a very inconsistent year, showing signs of brilliance in one race and performing miserably in the next.

It was as a Sophomore in 1996 that Coghlan really made his mark. He lowered his PR in the 100 hurdles to 13.87 seconds, becoming the fastest Ivy League hurdler of all time, and coming to the realization that he could really be good. "In the span of a year and a half, I lowered my best time by .75 seconds," Coghlan remembers. "I still had some major technical problems that needed attention, and I knew that once I ironed them out, I could run even faster." That year he placed third at the IC4A championship at George Mason and began a string of success at the oldest championship track meet in the nation.

He had heard about the IC's back in Dublin. His high school coach was Phil Conway, an IC4A competitor in the throws for Boston University in the early seventies, and had told him about the special flavor and competition of the meet. "I had certainly heard about the IC4A program and saw names like Nehemiah, and Kingdom and Pierce, I realized the quality and history of hurdling in the meet through the years."

In his first two years at the indoor meet he had taken his share of hard knocks, failing to even qualify for the final. In 1997, as a Junior, Coghlan won the first of his two Indoor IC4A championships in the 55m hurdles and establishing himself among the elite hurdlers in the East. "Winning that first IC4A championship meant a lot to me. I had to beat up some pretty good guys to win it and ran a PR." In 1998, Coghlan stepped it up again at the Indoor Championship and won his second consecutive IC4A championship, and becoming the first Yale athlete to win back to back championships since Wendell Mottley, an Olympic medalist in 1964.

The one thing that has eluded Coghlan in his IC4A career is an outdoor 110m Hurdles title which he'll be seeking this weekend. He knows that a championship in the event will not come easily particularly with the quality of the field in this year's meet, but seems ready for the challenge. "This year's field will be tough. A lot of guys have run fast. I'll really have to put it all together in order to win."

Regardless of the outcome on Sunday, after the meet Coghlan's plans for the very immediate future are clear. He graduates from Yale on Monday morning with a degree in economics, having made an impact on the Yale track and field program that no one could have ever envisioned in 1994 when he arrived in New Haven. "He's broken every Yale record there is to break in the Hurdles," explains Bartold, "He's done everything we could have hoped for and more in the past four years." As Coghlan looks back on his IC4A career he becomes a bit philosophical, "it really has been an honor to compete for Yale at this meet. By having the opportunity to compete against some great hurdlers like (Dudley) Dorival (former champ from UConn) and (Kareem) Archer (Villanova) and (Errol) Williams (Notre Dame), I've had to become a better hurdler myself."
