Eastern College Athletic Conference

The Nation's Largest Athletic Conference

Over 50 Years of Tradition, Pride, Diversity & Service

ECAC History

Founded in 1938, the Eastern College Athletic Conference is the nation's largest collegiate athletic conference with over 270 member colleges and universities ranging from Maine to North Carolina in Divisions I, II and III. ECAC member institutions sponsor over 2,500 varsity teams involving 125,000 male and female student-athletes.

The ECAC manages over 100 championships in 19 men's and women's sports for its membership and is responsible for over 20,000 officiating assignments, a public relations/news bureau and a legislative services department.

The ECAC headquarters, the Asa S. Bushnell Center, is located in Centerville, MA, on Cape Cod. The business of this non-profit organization is conducted at its annual ECAC Fall and Spring Conventions.

A Conference of conferences, the ECAC includes within its organizational structure dozens of leagues and affiliate organizations. Colleges and universities from the Atlantic 10, Big East, Colonial Athletic Association, Ivy League, MAAC, North Atlantic, Northeast and Patriot League, along with schools from the Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania State conferences, all hold dual membership in the ECAC.

Over the years, the ECAC has exerted leadership not only at the regional level, but also on the national level with the NCAA. With over 25 percent of the NCAA made up of ECAC members, the Conference plays a leading role in national athletics policy.

Several ECAC administrators have served as both NCAA and ECAC Presidents, including Bill Flynn of Boston College, John Toner of Connecticut and Eppy Barnes of Colgate. Dick Schultz, former NCAA Executive Director, was a member of the ECAC Executive Council when he was AD at Cornell.

The ECAC was founded as the Central Office for Eastern Intercollegiate Athletics with a charter membership of 53 colleges. Commissioner Asa Bushnell molded and guided the organization from its inception until his retirement in 1970, when his long-time associate George Shiebler was appointed successor. Robert M. "Scotty" Whitelaw, who had joined the ECAC in 1960, was named commissioner in 1972 and served in that office for 17 years. In 1989 he was succeeded by current commissioner Clayton Chapman, who began his tenure with the conference in 1971.

One of the most significant events in ECAC history occurred in 1983 with the consolidation of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women into the ECAC structure. With the addition of women's sports, the ECAC doubled the number of its championships.

ECAC Membership Benefits

Championships - The ECAC manages over 100 championships in 19 men's and women's sports in all three divisions as well as eight affiliate championships, including the IC4A Track, EARC Rowing and the new ECAC Intercollegiate Football Conference. Some Championships such as Division I men's ice hockey and women's cross country receive automatic bids to the NCAA Tournament, while others like the ECAC Holiday Festival are special events.

Conventions and Meetings - The business of the ECAC is conducted at the ECAC Fall and Spring Conventions, which provides opportunities for the membership to discuss and vote on common issues and concerns, set regional direction and create a positive college athletic environment. The ECAC Fall Convention on Cape Cod is attended by 300 athletics administrators and includes committee meetings, seminars, schedule-making session, awards luncheon and a trade show.

Internship - The ECAC has established the prestigious Asa S. Bushnell internship program which provides recipients with a perspective on collegiate athletics, primarily through the daily operations of the public relations department and administration of its championships. Candidates must hold an undergraduate or graduate degree from an ECAC institution.

Legislative Services - The Conference maintains a legislative and compliance department to assist its membership in understanding NCAA and ECAC regulations. The Conference sponsors workshops and seminars, processes hardship waivers and administers the NCAA National Letter of Intent.

Public Relations - The ECAC publicizes its member colleges and student-athletes through weekly and postseason all-star awards and compiles weekly standings and statistics in football, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's ice hockey and baseball. The ECAC Service Bureau also sponsors postseason all-star teams in softball and publishes a quarterly ECAC Newsletter, a Directory & Record Book and football and ice hockey media guides.

Officiating - The ECAC provides its members with an opportunity to utilize its officiating assignment services. The ECAC assigns over 4,000 officials in 15 sports in all divisions including baseball, men's and women's basketball, fencing, football, gymnastics, men's and women's ice hockey, men's and women's soccer, wrestling and affiliate championships in crew, cross country, swimming and track.

Sponsorship - The ECAC seeks corporate sponsorship to provide membership benefits such as discounted rates, championship products and sponsorship of conference events and activities. Current major sponsors include Budget Rent a Car, Chevy Dealers of New England, Chemical Bank, Holiday Inn, Ricoh, Spalding and US Air.

Television - Beginning in 1993-94, the Conference resumed an "ECAC Basketball TV Game of the Week", carried on SportsChannel, for both men and women and expanded its TV programming in 1994-95 to include both an ECAC Football and Ice Hockey Game of the Week to be carried regionally and in some cases nationally.

IC4A EVENT SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM

Upon the recommendation of the Coaches' Association in cooperation with the Track Administrator, the IC4A Executive Committee approved the establishment of a program whereby member schools can "sponsor" any of the events at the Indoor and Outdoor Championships.

The purpose of this program is primarily two-fold in nature, to honor former coaches and champions, and to generate income for the IC4A Reserve Fund.

This sponsorship is open to any member school, its track and field "alumni" association ("spike shoe club"), affiliated official's associations or any "old grad" benefactor, who may select an event at either the Indoor or Outdoor Track and Field Championships, and for a fee set by the Executive Committee, name that event after a former coach, IC4A Champion or IC4A Official.

Sponsorship is for One Year or Five Years, both with a renewable option, for event(s) at either the Indoor or Outdoor Championships. However, the Five Year plan is our priority selection.

For this...our first Outdoor Championship under this new program...four long-time Association members: Fordham, Georgetown, M.I.T. and Notre Dame are represented with sponsored events, as named on the Order of Events and Time Schedule---see back cover of this program.

The honorees for this 1995 IC4A Outdoor Championship are:

HYDE'S BATTLE TO THE TOP

by Mike Lynch, William & Mary Sports Information Intern

Brian Hyde

Not many athletes have the opportunity to meet legends like Marcus O'Sullivan, the former world indoor 1,500-meter champion. Even fewer have the chance to compete against him.

At the 1995 USAir Invitational at East Tennessee State University, William & Mary's Brian Hyde did all that and more. Hyde, running in the championship mile, almost registered a major upset victory over the Irish world champion after leading the race at the bell lap. Unfortunately, Hyde finished just off O'Sullivan's pace in the highly contested event. But the race established Hyde as one of the premiere collegiate milers in the nation.

Since then, Hyde has continued his climb up the ranks of Eastern track & field. During this past indoor season, Hyde's versatility led him to three school records while qualifying for the IC4A Championships in four separate events. The William & Mary senior also recorded three different NCAA qualifying marks and earned his second All-America award after placing fifth in one of the most competitive indoor miles in NCAA Championship history.

Obviously, things have been going well for Brian Hyde.

Yet, Hyde's outlook on his success is not one typically found in collegiate champions. Instead of feeling confident or excited about his performance against O'Sullivan, Hyde felt relief.

"It (the race) was a lot of fun, probably because there were so many good runners competing," recalled Hyde. "I think I belong in that group, but it's taken so long to get there. I really thought I would have been at that level a couple of years ago, so I was just happy to be in the race more than anything. It was almost a relief."

Before this season, Hyde's track career at William & Mary had its ups and downs. Naging injuries continuously forced the Tribe runner out of competition, taking away many important opportunities in the process. After earning his first All-America award at the 1994 Indoor NCAAs, Hyde was forced to use a hardship waiver the following outdoor season due to a recovering hamstring. He rebounded with a stellar cross country campaign this fall, but the injury bug bit again.

Listed as a possible contender for the title at the NCAAs, Hyde suffered back spasms the day of the race and finished well off the pace.

"I always run into problems at the end of the season," said Hyde. "I was nowhere to be found around championship time. It was hard for me to disappear like that - when it counted the most."

Fortunately, with the help of head men's track coach Walt Drenth, Hyde battled through the setbacks and disappointments of his early collegiate career.

"Walt helped me with my confidence. That's the biggest thing, trying to keep your confidence up when you're down," said Hyde. "He just kept working at it and stayed patient."

Today, the biggest question Hyde faces is not if he is healthy enough to compete, but what events he will run. Hyde's talents make him a legitimate threat in any event from the 800 meters up to the 5,000 meters, causing his coach to wonder what he might accomplish.

"I don't know what Brian is capable of," admitted Drenth. "I don't like to put limits on how good he can be or set goals that he might not achieve. At this point, his best attribute is that he wants to see how good he can be. So, if he stays healthy, we might find out."

Hyde is well on his way to doing just that. He has already registered a number of impressive wins this outdoor season. At the Colonial Relays, he anchored two winning relay squads with come-from-behind performances. He also raced to the Colonial Athletic Association 1,500-meter title with an NCAA provisional qualifying time of 3:45.49. But his most impressive performance so far this spring was at the 1995 Penn Relays. Hyde, running in his first ever 5,000 meter race placed second in the championship event. His time of 13:52.01 qualified him automatically for the NCAAs and broke yet another William & Mary record in the process. Hyde also clocked 1:47.7 in a 4x800 split, demonstrating his remarkable range.

Despite all the accolades he has been receiving of late, Hyde still likes to focus on team goals. He is a major force on the William & Mary relay squads, leading the indoor distance medley relay team to an NCAA qualifying time this year. He also does not mention any of his all-America awards or even breaking the four-minute mile when asked about his career highlights. Instead, Hyde talks about the accomplishments of the teams he's been on at William & Mary (which includes an 18th-place finish at least year's NCAA Cross Country Championships).

"I don't know if I can pick one highlight," said Hyde. "All the ones that stand out though are all team accomplishments. In whatever you do, if there is no one to share your success with, it really doesn't matter all that much."

That is not to say individual goals do not interest Hyde. He still has the desire to be one of the top runners in the nation, especially after all he has been through. But because he is so strong at so many different events and distances, there will be some tough decisions for Hyde and coach Drenth to make down the road. After his solid indoor performance, Hyde is considered a contender for the 1,500-meter title at the NCAAs and seems more interested in that event than any other.

"I've always considered myself a miler with the potential to be a good 5,000-meter runner," said Hyde. "I have a long way to go in the 1,500 meters, but right now that is where I'd like to focus."

Whether or not Hyde gets that chance remains to be seen. Whatever the outcome, however, one thing is certain - Brian Hyde's road to the top of the collegiate track scene has been a bumpy one at best. Injuries and setbacks forced him out of competition repeatedly. But Hyde always found a way to get back on track.

TWO OF NATION'S BEST FOLLOW SIMILAR PATHS

by Mike Blimm, Assistant Director of Media Relations, Villanova University

Becky Spies

They are as similar as they are different.

One came to Villanova all the way from California, while the other is an East Coast native from New York State. One is a senior preparing to pursue her Master's next year at Oxford University, while the other is looking to defend her NCAA Cross Country crown in the fall. One will talk your ear off about anything from running to philosophy to health care in the United States, while the other one gives brief concise to-the-point answers that are as efficient as her running stride.

But despite these differences, they have one important thing in common - they have become nothing but successful at Villanova.

Under first-year head coach John Marshall, senior Becky Spies and junior Jennifer Rhines are both nationally prominent runners who are among the latest to carry the tradition and successes of Villanova track on their shoulders. And as different as their stories may sound, they are actually quite similar, as both overcame disappointing freshman seasons to become the best in the country.

Spies, a native of Livermore, California, came to Villanova as a highly recruited freshman in the Fall of 1991. Her initial season of collegiate competition however, was much more frustration than success. "That year is still a mystery to me," commented Spies. "I came from a very structured family and high school life where I went to school, drove an hour to and from practice each day, ate dinner and went to bed, and all of a sudden I had to set my own schedule. I also didn't come to school in shape and was trying to run with all of these great runners and I got more and more frustrated."

After a year of frustration, Spies decided what had to be done to be successful on the track. "A certain amount of growing up goes on between freshman and sophomore years," noted Spies. "I had to take individual responsibility for my athletics and I became more communicative with (then head coach) Marty Stern. That was a big part of my comeback."

As a sophomore, Spies had apparently learned her lessons and was ready to go. She was the fourth runner on Villanova's NCAA Champion Cross Country team, 60th overall, after not even making the squad as a freshman. She qualified for both the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor Championships that year in the mile and 1500m respectively and was a member of the Penn Relays Championship of America 4x1500m relay.

She progressed even more as a junior when the outgoing and talkative Californian was seventh in the NCAA Cross Country Championships, placed third in the mile at the NCAA Indoor Championships, won two Big East titles during the year, placed sixth at the USA Track & Field Championships in the 3000m and anchored the victorious Distance Medley and 4x1500m relays at the Penn Relays.

All she has done this year is place third at the NCAA Cross Country championships, win the Big East and ECAC

Indoor 1000m titles and lower her personal best in the 1500m and 3000m to 4:17.59 and 9:11.45 respectively. Recently she won three more Championship of America watches at the Penn Relays when she again anchored the Distance Medley and 4x1500m relays in addition to running the third leg on the winning 4x800m squad.

Jen Rhines

On top of her athletic accomplishments, Spies has excelled as well in the classroom. The Biology and Philosophy major was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship in December to study at Oxford University for the next two years, and plans to attend medical school following Oxford. She has also been named the Big East and ECAC Female Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

Like Spies a year earlier, Rhines showed up at Villanova from Liverpool, New York in the Fall of 1992 as a highly touted freshman who found the transition to collegiate life more difficult than expected. She did earn a spot on the Wildcats' cross country team that won their fourth consecutive national title, but was a non-scoring sixth runner for that team, 98th overall.

For Rhines, the adjustment between freshman and sophomore years was more physical than mental. "When you come to college, I think it takes a year to adjust to the level of competition and to learn what you have to do and to learn what to expect. During my freshman year I learned that I needed to do more mileage and that allowed me to improve sophomore year."

That year the soft-spoken Civil Engineering major took the running world by storm. She placed second overall to teammate Carole Zajac at the NCAA Cross Country Championships. In the indoor and outdoor seasons combined she won 11 of 17 races she entered, including three Big East titles and the NCAA Outdoor 5000m crown. She finished no worse than third in any race that year.

This year she has won the NCAA Cross Country individual title and the NCAA Indoor 5000 m title. Her time of 15:41.12 for 5000m at the NCAA Indoors made her the sixth fastest American ever indoors and third fastest collegian ever. Regardless of age, Rhines now has to be considered one to the top distance runners in the country.

"After college I want to eventually move up to the 10,000m," explained Rhines. "I think that will ultimately be my best event and I want to continue running as long as possible."

As an assistant coach for the past two years, and now as the Wildcats head coach, Marshall has seen both of these runners become the top in their events and he sees comparisons between them as well. "As a coach, Becky and Jen are the ultimate students of track," explained Marshall. "They are both intelligent women and they carry that into athletics. They have a unique ability to take ideas or suggestions to the next level on their own. They are both highly competitive people who are equally intense on and off the track."
