COLLEGE BOYS COMPETE

TRIAL HEATS IN THE INTERCOLLEGIATE ASSOCIATION MEET.

Finals to be Decided on Manhattan Field To-day—Wefers, the Champion, Won His Heats Easily—Chase, the Dartmouth Hurdler, Unable to Run in To-day's Events—Yale Men Will Probably Win the Cup by a Small Margin.

The trial heats in the college games yesterday at Manhattan Field were not very interesting, and attracted very few to the grounds. The winning athletes did well, but it seemed to be the general opinion that those who qualified to run in the finals only exerted themselves enough to get in the first bunch, and that to-day some who finished second or third may turn out to be winners.

It was the twenty-first annual meeting of the Inter-Collegiate Association. W. B. Curtiss was the referee, and the other officials were selected from local athletic clubs. Although there were not so many contestants as at last year's trials, it took much longer to run them off, and it was nearly 7 o'clock before the last event was decided. There were lots of unnecessary delays and lots of time were wasted.

The games began with the sprints. B. J. Wefers, the champion, appeared for Georgetown, and was, of course, an easy winner. His time—0:10 1-5—was equaled in the heats won by M. G. Gonterman of Harvard and R. Derr of Princeton. Derr has been protested, and F. H. Bigelow of Harvard, who finished third, will be allowed to run in the finals to-day.

In the 220-yard dash, Wefers had another easy victory, and, unless an accident happens, he should win both of the sprints to-day.

There were no trial heats for the hurdle races, only the necessary number qualifying to run in the finals. Stephen Chase of Dartmouth, the champion, will not start. During the Winter he competed at an indoor meeting and fell and hurt both knees. Last Saturday he ran at the New-England collegiate meeting. Dartmouth boys thought it was necessary that Chase should win in order that they might retain the cup. He won both hurdle races, but in doing so hurt his knees again, and is unfit to compete to-day. This is a serious disappointment. In his absence Hatch and Van Ingen of Yale should fight out the finish in the high hurdles, and Brewer of Harvard should win the 220 yards, with Sheldon second.

The quarter-mile race has T. E. Burke, Boston; E. F. Davison, Rochester, and J. H. Colfelt, Princeton. Davison, it is said, will withdraw, and run in the half. If he does, Burke should win and Colfelt finish second. Davison is a very promising runner. At the New-York State meet recently he won the 100, 220, 440, and 880 yard and one-mile races. He won his heat in the half mile easily yesterday, and some good judges think that he can beat Hollister of Harvard in the final to-day. If he does, it will be a serious blow to the wearers of the crimson. The mile race should go to Orton or Jarvis of Pennsylvania, and the mile walk should be won by Bogert of Columbia.

It is in the field events that Yale will show up prominently. L. P. Sheldon should win the broad jump and R. Sheldon the shot put, although Woodruff of Pennsylvania may beat him out. The hammer throw should furnish a close contest between Woodruff of Pennsylvania and Cross of Yale, with the odds slightly in favor of Woodruff. The high jump should go to Winsor of Pennsylvania. Buchholz was beaten in the pole vault yesterday. He has injured his ankle. It is possible that he was only trying to qualify and has enough in reserve to enable him to win to-day. Georgetown, Columbia, and Boston winning points has made the contest for supremacy between the big colleges very interesting. Whichever college wins will have a hard fight, and the chances seem to favor Yale now, with Pennsylvania second and Harvard third. The summaries:

Honors in the Intercollegiate
Games with 43 1-2 Points—Uni-

Burke Captures the Quarter Mile.

Yale easily carried off the honors yesterday in the intercollegiate games at Manhattan Field, with 43½ points, the University of Pennsylvania taking second place with 22½ points.

The weather was fair and not too warm, the track splendid, and the crowd of 3,000 that watched the progress of the games was enthusiastic and vociferous in its demonstrations.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Association of the Amateur Athletes of America will long be remembered for the splendid performance of B. J. Wetters of Georgetown University. The faultless style of this remarkable sprinter caused plenty of applause when he won the 100-yard dash in 0:09 4-5, making thereby a new collegiate record; but when he carried off the 220-yard in 0:21 1-5, eleven yards ahead of the second man, breaking his own and all world's records, professional and amateur, of 0:21 3-5, the crowd simply went wild with excitement.

There was little doubt at any time as to who the winner of the cup would be, and long before the end of final heats and the field events, the possibility of Yale's being beaten was considered out of the question.

The crowd was slow in coming to the field and there were barely 2,000 when the semi-finals in the 100 yards were begun, about 2:15 o'clock.

In the struggle for points first place counted 5, second place, 2; third place, 1.

First Heat.—Won by H. S. Patterson, Williams; F. H. Bigelow, Harvard, second; W. T. Denholm, Harvard, third. Time—0:10 2-5.

Second Heat.—Won by B. J. Wefers, Georgetown; John R. Bowen, Cornell, second; R. Derr, Princeton, third. Time—0:10 1-5.

Final Heat.—Won by B. J. Wefers, Georgetown; H. S. Patterson, Williams, second; John R. Bowen, Cornell, third. Time—0:9 4-5.

Wefers had the outside place. It was a race from the start, and the ease with which he shot ahead of his competitors and apparent lack of effort with which he increased his lead from H. S. Patterson, who came in second, was worth going a long way to see. The crowd was delighted, and the Georgetown College yells that echoed across the big field caused Fred Burns, the announcer, and his huge megaphone to sink into insignificance.

Wefers's performance equals the amateur world's record for the distance. John Owen of the Detroit Athletic Club made the world's record of :09 4-5 in 1890; H. M. Johnson at Cleveland in 1886, and Harry Bethune at Oakland, Cal., in 1888, made professional records of :09 4-5.

The 120-yard hurdle, final heat, was won by Perkins, Yale; Hatch, Yale, second; Bijur, Columbia, third. Time, 0:16 1-5. Points so far were: Yale, 17; University of Pennsylvania, 9½; Columbia and Boston, 5 each; Harvard and Princeton, 1 each.

The quarter-mile was easily won by T. E. Burke, Boston, in 0:50 2-5. Burke, who covered himself with glory in the recent Olympian games, was favorite. He ran steadily with the bunch until the last lap. Then he moved forward, and in the home stretch set a pace which puzzled his fellows, and won with several feet to spare. Fisher of Yale and Colfelt of Pennsylvania made a good fight for second place, which fell to Yale in the end.

Thirteen started in the mile, and the pace for the first two laps was set by Williams of Harvard. Orton, U. P., ran quietly with the bunch, but on the third lap he shot ahead and passed Williams, and on the fourth lap both men were passed by Jarvis, U. P., who came up on the stretch with a fine, well-managed spurt. Time, 4:42 4-5.

The one-mile walk was in many points the gamest race of the day, and none who witnessed Thrall (Yale) and Fetterman (Pennsylvania) walk shoulder to shoulder the whole way and come in at the finish with less than a foot between them, will not readily forget it. The race was won by F. C. Thrall, Yale; W. B. Fetterman, University of Pennsylvania, second; W. Darrach, Yale, third. Time, 6:54 2-5.

Thrall fainted when he passed the string, and Fetterman, who pushed him so hard, was not far from that condition himself. Several men dropped out at the second lap and more at the third. Darrach, (Yale,) who got third place, was many yards behind Thrall.

The half-mile run turned out, so far as first place was concerned, according to general expectations. It was won by E. Hollister, Harvard; B. B. Hunckley, Yale, second; A. E. Schaff, Columbia, third. Time, 1:56 4-5.

Hollister lead the whole way, running beautifully and breaking the inter-collegiate record. Davison, the dark horse from Rochester, at one time crept dangerously close to him, but dropped suddenly back toward the end and failed even to get a place.

Points here were: Yale, 23; University of Pennsylvania, 16½; Columbia, 6; Boston, 5; Georgetown, 2; Harvard, Princeton, and Washington and Jefferson, 1 each.

While these races had been in progress some of the field events were carried out, to the accompanying music of frantic college yells from every side of the field.

Putting the 16-pound shot was won by R. Sheldon, Yale, distance 41 feet 11½ inches; W. Woodruff, University of Pennsylvania, second, 41 feet; A. A. Knipe, University of Pennsylvania, third, 39 feet 2 inches.

It was expected by many that Woodruff would win the 16-pound hammer event, on account of his thorough coaching by Mitchell, but he took only a good second place. This was the result: C. Chadwick, Yale, won, distance 132 feet 6½ inches; W. Woodruff, Pennsylvania, second, distance 130 feet 6½ inches; Harry Cross, Yale, third, distance 130 feet.

Chadwick's throws were much admired, and his style and power loudly applauded.

The 220-yard hurdle was an exciting race and a very close one. J. L. Bremer, Jr., Harvard, who holds the collegiate and I. A. A. A. records of 24 3-5 seconds, coming a good first in 25 seconds. L. P. Sheldon, Yale, was second, and E. C. Perkins, Yale, was third. Yale had then won 38 points, and there was no longer any doubt of her victory. University of Pennsylvania had 20½ in her favor.

Next came the most remarkable race of the day, the 200-yard dash, in which Wefers romped home, with eleven yards to spare, in a way that made all who saw the race rise spontaneously in their seats and cheer the Georgetown sprinter till they were hoarse.

Everybody craned his neck to see the start. Before the crack of the pistol had died away Wefers was several feet in the lead. The whole way he increased the distance between himself and Patterson, who came in second, and when he dashed past the string there was a general remark made all over, "That beats a record, sure!"

The announcement of the time, 0:21 1-5, breaking all world's records, professional and amateur, was greeted with tremendous applause. The timekeepers, Mortimer Bishop, A. A. Jordan, and Harry Cornish, all agreed as to the figures, and said that Patterson came in one second behind—which means ten or eleven yards.

"That fellow runs as naturally as a hawk flies, only faster," said Referee Curtis. He seemed to show less evidence of fatigue even than the other starters and ran off to the clubhouse as fresh and lively as if nothing had happened. The heats in the 220-yard dash were:

220-Yard Run.—Trial Heats—First Heat—Won by B. J. Wefers, Georgetown; J. R. Bowen, Cornell, second. Time—0:22 1-5.

Second Heat—Won by E. S. Patterson, Williams; W. J. Denholm, Harvard, second. Time—0:22 2-5.

Final Heat—Won by B. J. Wefers, Georgetown; H. S. Patterson, Williams, second; W. J. Denholm, Harvard, third. Time—0:21 1-5.

The pole vault was a good contest, and some very pretty work was done. F. W. Allis, Yale, jumped 11 feet 13 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches; W. A. Stewart, University of Pennsylvania, was second with 11 feet, and O. B. Smith, Columbia, third, with 10 feet 9 inches.

Each attempt of the men was closely watched and cheered. Smith was very plucky and determined, but could not manage to fly over the eleven-foot mark.

The high jump was won by J. S. Winsor of Pennsylvania University, with 6 feet 1 inch; C. U. Powell, Cornell, and J. B. Craighead, Washington and Jefferson, tied at 6 feet. On the jump-off Powell cleared 5 feet 11 inches, and Craighead failed at that notch. Winsor's jump beat the L. A. A. record by half an inch.

As was expected L. P. Sheldon of Yale won the running broad jump with a distance of 22 feet $\frac{3}{4}$ inch. F. Mason, Harvard, was second, 21 feet 8 inches; C. T. Bucholz, Pennsylvania, 21 feet 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

The championship was won by Yale more easily than was expected. Harvard took third place, with 14 points.
