Eastern College Athletic Conference

The Nation's Largest Athletic Conference

Over 50 Years of Tradition, Pride, Diversity & Service

ECAC History

Founded in 1938, the Eastern College Athletic Conference is the nation's largest collegiate athletic conference with over 290 member colleges and universities ranging from Maine to North Carolina in Divisions I, II and III. ECAC member institutions sponsor over 2,500 varsity teams involving 125,000 male and female student-athletes.

The ECAC manages over 100 championships in 21 men's and women's sports for its membership and is responsible for over 20,000 officiating assignments, a public relations/news bureau and a legislative services department.

The ECAC headquarters, the Asa S. Bushnell Center, is located in Centerville, MA, on Cape Cod. The business of this non-profit organization is conducted at its annual ECAC Fall and Spring Conventions.

A Conference of conferences, the ECAC includes within its organizational structure dozens of leagues and affiliate organizations. Colleges and universities from the America East, Atlantic 10, Big East, Colonial Athletic Association, Ivy League, MAAC, Northeast Conference and Patriot League, along with schools from the Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania State conferences, all holding dual membership in the ECAC.

Over the years, the ECAC has exerted leadership not only at the regional level, but also on the national level with the NCAA. With over 25 percent of the NCAA made up of ECAC members, the Conference plays a leading role in national athletics policy.

Several ECAC administrators have served as both NCAA and ECAC Presidents, including Bill Flynn of Boston College, John Toner of Connecticut and Eppy Barnes of Colgate. Dick Schultz, former NCAA Executive Director, was a member of the ECAC Executive Council when he was AD at Cornell.

The ECAC was founded as the Central Office for Eastern Intercollegiate Athletics with a charter membership of 53 colleges. Commissioner Asa Bushnell molded and guided the organization from its inception until his retirement in 1970, when his long-time associate George Shiebler was appointed successor. Robert M. "Scotty" Whitelaw, who had joined the ECAC in 1960, was named commissioner in 1972 and served in that office for 17 years. In 1989 he was succeeded by current commissioner Clayton Chapman, who began his tenure with the conference in 1971.

One of the most significant events in ECAC history occurred in 1983 with the consolidation of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women into the ECAC structure. With the addition of women's sports, the ECAC doubled the number of its championships.

ECAC Membership Benefits

Championships - The ECAC manages over 100 championships in 21 men's and women's sports in all three divisions as well as eight affiliate championships, including IC4A Track, EARC Rowing and the ECAC Intercollegiate Football Conference. The ECAC Division I men's ice hockey league champion and tournament winner receive automatic bids to the NCAA Tournament. The ECAC championships provide its members with a post-season opportunity outside conference play and as an alternative to the NCAA Championships.

Officiating - The ECAC assigns over 4,000 officials in Divisions I, II and III in 15 sports, including baseball, men's and women's basketball, fencing, football, gymnastics, men's and women's ice hockey, men's and women's soccer, wrestling, crew, cross country, swimming and track & field. The ECAC Supervisors of Officials provide clinics and workshops to improve the level of officiating and to attract the most qualified officials at the collegiate level. The officiating bureaus assign officials for both conference and NCAA regional championships.

Public Relations/Recognition Awards - The ECAC publicizes its member colleges and student-athletes through weekly and postseason all-star awards in football, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's ice hockey, baseball and softball. The ECAC publishes a quarterly newsletter, a Directory & Record Book and football and hockey guides.

Conventions and Meetings - The business of the ECAC is conducted at the ECAC Fall and Spring Conventions, which provides opportunities for the membership to discuss and vote on common issues and concerns. The ECAC Fall Convention on Cape Cod is attended by 300 administrators and includes committee and affiliate league meetings, seminars, awards luncheon and trade show.

Internship Program - The ECAC has established the prestigious Asa S. Bushnell internship program, which provides interns with a perspective on collegiate athletics, through the daily operations of collegiate athletics, primarily through public relations and administration of its championships. Candidates must hold an undergraduate or graduate degree from an ECAC institution.

Legislative Services - The Conference maintains a legislative and compliance department to assist its membership with the application of NCAA and ECAC regulations. The Conference sponsors workshops and seminars, processes hardship waivers and administers the NCAA National Letter of Intent.

Sponsorships - The ECAC seeks the support of corporations desirous of increasing their penetration of the college market. Support can take various forms: enabling or enhancement of ECAC activities and events; products for ECAC championships and discounted rates for ECAC-member schools. Current sponsors include Budget Rent a Car; Chase Bank; Chevy Dealers of New England; MSI/Prime Hotels; Reebok; Ricoh/Offtech; Spalding and USAir.

Special Events - The conference manages events such as the Chase ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden, Eastern College Football Awards Banquet at the Meadowlands and the ECAC Women's Holiday Festival.

Television - The conference manages an "ECAC TV Game of the Week," for football and ice hockey carried on New England Sports Network and Empire Sports Network. SportsChannel, MSG Network and Comcast also carry ECAC events.

AMINA AMADDAH BALANCES FAMILY, SCHOOL & RUNNING

By Bill Kamenjar, George Mason Sports Information Assistant

Maybe one day All-American distance runner Amina Amaddah will be able to sit back and tell her grandchildren stories about the glory days of running track and field and cross country at George Mason University. For the time being, she'll just keep on raising her two-year-old son Younes, maintaining a family, going to school and cranking out All-ECAC and All-America awards for the patriots.

To say the senior from Casablanca, Morocco is a busy individual these days would be an understatement. Two years ago Amaddah joined the Mason sports ranks after moving from her homeland, getting married and having a baby. Since then, she's found a way to juggle her love for running with the love of her family and studies.

"It takes a lot of maturity for a young person to do what she is doing," said George Mason head coach Norm Gordon. "She's very grounded with her daily routine because it has to be structured. And that's not only good for her, but it's great for the other kids on the team because she encourages them to do the same even though they have only half the obligations."

Amaddah moved to the United States after attending one year at the University of Casablanca, and was initially noticed by Gordon while running the 1,500-meter and 800-meter races at the World University Games in Buffalo, N.Y. Physical fitness soon took a back seat to her personal situation, and it took a lot of determination for her to start running again. Amaddah basically resumed running again for the enjoyment of the activity, but the competition fires still burned so she decided to become serious about it once again.

Her decision to return to competition was a complicated one, but with the support from her husband Boubker, it soon became natural.

"Amina had run some good times before, but her first year back she really didn't have much background to fall back on," added Gordon. "The first season was dedicated to just getting back into shape and establishing the pattern of training which she has carried over until today. Obviously she's had to make some sacrifices in the family department. It takes a special individual to handle all of those activities."

Her rise to stardom has been remarkably steady. Amaddah qualified for her first NCAA Championship in the spring of 1996 and has since reeled off four more consecutive appearances counting two cross country seasons an indoor and an outdoor. Her latest achievement was a 14th-place finish in the NCAA Cross Country Championships this past fall where she earned All-America status. She was tagged All-America first as a member of the Patriot distance medley relay team the last march in Indianapolis, IN.

As the defending indoor 3,000-meter champion, Amaddah has also been a major force in Mason's team title runs at the ECAC Championships the past few seasons. To add to her willingness to perform not just for herself but for others around her, she also ran a leg on Mason's 4x800 relay last year in order for it to advance to the finals.

"That's quite a team sacrifice," added Gordon, "especially when you know you have a chance to win the 3,000."

Gordon also credits former teammate Mary Pat Erickson as a reason why her adjustment to the U.S. system was so smooth and successful.

"Early on she was able to train with Mary Pat and she actually relied on her to teach her the ropes," said Gordon. "She taught her the nuances of the collegiate system which includes peaking three time a year. She relied a lot on Mary Pat for guidance and support. Eventually, she advanced physically past Mary Pat but the two continued to help each other out. Ultimately, they had the opportunity to share the spotlight together when they both ran on the All-America distance medley team which finished fifth in the nation."

As for her future goals, Amaddah hopes to garner two more All-American awards in her final two NCAA seasons along with helping her team defend both the indoor and outdoor ECAC Team Championships. She would also like to eventually move back to Morocco, but of course that will necessitate a transfer by her husband who currently works for the World Bank.

"Ultimately, Amina hopes to make the Moroccan national team and return home to teach and coach," concluded Gordon.

Perhaps only then will her life pace slow enough to really appreciate the results of her current efforts.
