IC4A trials fail to improve Villanova's title prospects

By Gordon Forbes
Inquirer Staff Writer

PRINCETON, N.J. — Marcus O'Sullivan gave it the old Villanova try in the final, decisive strides of a nasty 1,500 meters heat in which firm elbows were a necessity for survival. But the little Irishman didn't make it in yesterday's IC4A indoor track championships.

In a finish that seemed to symbolize all that went wrong for Jumbo Elliott's Wildcats, O'Sullivan lunged in fifth, edged by Richmond's Sosthenes Bitok for the fourth and final qualifying spot. Afterward, O'Sullivan surprised reporters by revealing that he hadn't trained over the past month because of an injured left kneecap.

"I started tying up with a lap to go," said O'Sullivan, who was timed in 3 minutes, 54.10 seconds, almost 2 seconds slower than his winning time in the Big East meet. "It's the thigh. It drags the inside of the kneecap over the bone. It didn't hurt in the Big East race, but then it got sore afterwards."

So, for the first time in memory, Elliott will enter today's 16-event showdown for the IC4A title without a finalist in the classic 1,500. And O'Sullivan was not the only ailing Wildcat. Sydney Maree, a heavy favorite in the 3,000, came from far back to advance to today's final with an eased-up fifth-place finish in 8:31.95. Maree, who later anchored Elliott's distance medley team into the finals, ran on a sore left Achilles' tendon.

And there were Amos Korir, a certain scorer in the 5,000, and Mike

England, a 1:48 half-miler, out of the ICs because of respective Achilles' and foot problems. Indeed, even Jack Pyrah, Elliott's assistant, was nursing a flu bug.

"The only way we can win is if the other teams go out and beat each other," grumbled Elliott. "We have so many injuries. O'Sullivan has something wrong with his kneecap. Amos can't run, he's hurt. Mike England's hurt. I'm not alibing. Listen, Kevin Dillon has a bug in his hip."

"We were just talking about [Don] Paige. Paige grew three inches as a freshman and put on five pounds. His feet could not take the pounding he dished out. As a result he had a couple of fatigue fractures. There's nothing you can do about injuries but get into the whirlpool."

On another of its triumphant opening days at the ICs, Maryland surged out front with 34 points, scoring a 1-2-3 sweep in the long jump and getting another first in the weight throw from Alan Baginski. But even the Terps were jolted by an injury. Darren Walker, their talented sprinter, suffered a sprained ankle during the week and never set foot on the track.

Still, the Terrapins appeared poised to interrupt Villanova's string of four straight IC4A championships, and, as Maryland assistant coach Frank Costello noted, "Jumbo has got enough trophies to last him 20 years."

Villanova did manage to advance NCAA champion Rodney Wilson in the 55-meter hurdles; Willie Sydnor in the 55-meter dash; John Hunter, the Big East champion, in the 1,000;

Anthony Tufariello in a loaded 500; Carlton Young in the 400; Maree in the 3,000, and Dermot Anderson automatically in the 5,000 when the trials were scratched. Both the two-mile (1:57 anchor by Hunter) and distance medley relay teams also made it to the finals.

"We've got too many guys injured," said Maree, who just two weeks ago ran a 3:55.3 mile. "But we will try our best. We will just try our best."

NOTES: Penn picked up 14 points as Frank Harrison totaled 3,798 points for second place in the pentathlon, won by Gudmond Olsen of Mount St. Mary's with 3,854, a collegiate record for the seldom-contested event, and Harlan Bartlett finished third in the 35-pound weight at 61 feet, 4¼ inches. . . . Among the local athletes who didn't make today's finals were Dave Cuneo, the ECC hurdles champion from St. Joseph's; Jeff Hill of Penn in the 400; George Steinbronn, another ECC champ from Temple, in the 1,500, and Villanova's Joe Ludes in the 500. . . . Brian Denman, one of Seton Hall's stable of quarter-milers, ran a dull 50.75 in his 400 heat and didn't qualify. . . . Young turned in the fastest 400 meters of the day with a driving 48.13 win in his semifinal. . . . Tufariello's 1:02.87 semifinal win in the 500 was the third-fastest behind Seton Hall's Derrick Peynado (1:02.79) and Maryland's Chris Person (1:02.86). . . . The Terps advanced four pole vaulters to finals. . . . Cornelious Cousins, the defender, led Maryland's 24-point windfall in the long jump by reaching 24-5.

Olsen right at home on field and in class

PRINCETON — On the athletic field or off it, Gudmund Olsen comes up with the right numbers.

As a mathematics major with a sub-major in organic chemistry at Mount St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md., this 6-3, 205-pound, 21-year-old junior from Eggedal, Norway, runs just a few tenths shy of 4.0 perfection in a very tough academic league.

As one of the finest all-around undergraduate athletes in America, he comes up with record-breaking scores in the five-event pentathlon and now has his calculator poised for even better numbers this spring in the pentathlon's big brother, the 10-event decathlon.

No wonder Mount St. Mary's track coach Jim Deegan and Olsen's campus-mates call him "Goodie."

"Goodie" got the 60th running of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America Indoor Track and Field Championships off to a speedy start yesterday at Jadwin Gymnasium by rolling up the IC4A-record total of 3,854 points in the pentathlon.

Two Jerseyans, Penn senior Frank Harrison of Old Bridge Township and Seton Hall senior Bob Balcerski of Roxbury, waged their own battle for second — Harrison winning it, 3798 to 3749 — while Olsen was in front from the third event on.

Olsen reeled off performances of 8.06 in the 55-meter high hurdles, 22-2½ in the long jump, then took the lead with a 49-3¾ shot put, and stayed there with a 6-5½ high jump and 2:45.4 1000-meter run en route to his 3854 score which was a 33-point improvement on the IC4A standard set last year by Springfield College's Mike "Spider" Brown.

Another Mount St. Mary's man, Bob Stebbins, placed fourth and this 1-4 start gave The Mount — one of the tiniest of IC4A schools, with just 800 male students — 14 points and the lead in the team race against some of the Eastern intercollegiate giants. Villanova, Maryland and Fairleigh Dickinson, the IC4A choices, wait until this afternoon to send their big guns into action. The meet roars to a conclusion with most other finals tomorrow.

Olsen is a coach's delight. "He's bright and very technically oriented," said Deegan. "I ask him things about what he's doing and he always knows. If he's doing something wrong, I don't have to ask him about it. He tells me."

Then, of course, he makes the necessary corrections which, in turn, leads to even better numbers.

Olsen is not your average "imported" European athlete. "He's not like those guys 26 or 27 at Brigham Young and Texas-El Paso and he didn't come here with an Olympic medal," said Deegan. "He just turned 21 and he's getting better all the time." Furthermore, he speaks perfect English.

Olsen is the Norwegian decathlon champion and has also competed for his country in the pole vault and discus. Before he came to The Mount, Norwegian officials put him in their future book for the 1984 Olympic decathlon.

But he improved so rapidly in American competition — for instance, winning the NCAA Division II decathlon last June and, six days later, placing seventh in the Division I 10-eventer — that he would have made the Olympics four years ahead of schedule if Norway hadn't boycotted the Moscow Games.

He stayed home, instead, to bolster his performances and build his motivation. "The decathlon is such a great challenge," he says. "You've got to have skills in so many different things. You can never get perfect — but you can always get better. And it's never over until the last event."

Penn's Harrison had won the concluding long jump event to give the Quakers the Heptagonal Games team crown — by a fraction of a point over Princeton — last Saturday at Harvard. But he pulled a thigh muscle warming up yesterday morning and was nearly pulled out of the meet by Coach Irv "Moon" Mondschein.

Harrison, however, insisted on competing and went on to improve his personal best by 106 points. "He could have won if he was 100 percent," said Mondschein.

PENTATHLON SCORERS

1. Gudmund Olsen, Mount St. Mary's, 3854 points, IC4A record. 2. Frank Harrison, Penn, 3798. 3. Bob Balcerski, Seton Hall, 3749. 4. Bob Stebbins, Mount St. Mary's, 3731. 5. Forrest Crigler, Princeton, 3691. 6. Ken Jones, Lehigh, 3602.

Olsen breaks record

Princeton, N.J. (Special)—Gudmund Olsen, a Mount St. Mary's junior broke his own national collegiate pentathlon record and became the school's first IC4-A champion as the 60th annual indoor program opened a three-day run in Princeton University's Jadwin Fieldhouse yesterday.

Olsen eclipsed his previous standard of 3,845 points by totaling 3,854 points in the five-event competition. Frank Harrison of Pennsylvania was second, 3,798, trailed by Bob Balcerski of Seton Hall, 3,749, and Bob Stebbins, a Mount St. Mary's junior, 3,731.

The 20-year-old Olsen, the defending NCAA Division II decathlon champion, and his country's decathlon record-holder, was first in the shot put, 49 feet 4 inches; third in the high jump, 6 feet 5½ inches; third in the 1,000 meters, 2 minutes 45.4 seconds; fourth in the long jump, 22-2½, and sixth in the 55-meter hurdles, 8.06.

Stebbins was first in the high jump, 6-7; third in the long jump, 22-7¼; fifth in the shot put, 41-9½; seventh in the hurdles, 8.08, and eighth in the 1,000, 2:49.

Olsen and Stebbins paced the Mount to the early lead in the team championship with 14 points. Penn was second with 8, then Seton Hall, 6; Princeton, 2, and Lehigh, 1.

Maryland grabs early lead, zeros in on IC4A track title

By PAUL SCHNEIDER
PRINCETON, N.J.

The University of Maryland won one final and swept the top three places in the other to roll to the early lead Saturday afternoon in the 60th annual IC4A Indoor Track and Field Championships at Princeton's Jadwin Gymnasium.

Al Baginski captured the 35-pound weight throw and Cornelius Cousins, Ward Wilson and Kevin Wilson took the top three places in the long jump as the Terrapins moved into position to knock off four time defending champion Villanova entering today's finals.

Baginski threw 62-feet-11 $\frac{3}{4}$ on his final attempt to defeat Southern Connecticut State's Bill Borden, while Cousins (24-5), Ward Wilson (24-2 $\frac{1}{4}$) and Kevin Wilson (23-11 $\frac{3}{4}$) capped a stellar opening day by the Maryland field events crew.

The Saturday blitz gave Maryland 34 points — and a 20-point lead over second-placers Pennsylvania and Mount St. Mary's — after three events. (The Pentathlon, won by MSM's Gudmund Olsen, was held Friday). And with four 16-0 vaulters and two 7-0 high jumpers qualified for today's final, the Terps appear ready to ride a burst of field events to their first indoor title since 1976.

Baginski and Cousins, who are entered in the shotput and triple jump, respectively, today, will give added depth to a Maryland attack that includes 1,000-meter semifinal winner Per Kristofferson and hurdler/500-meter finalist Chris Person.

Villanova, missing stars Amos Korir and Mike England due to injuries, was hit with a third strike when 1500-meter favorite Marcus O'Sullivan aggravated a knee injury in his preliminary heat and finished fifth.

But the Wildcats did qualify John Hunter (1,000), Anthony Tufariello (500), Carlton Young (400) and two-mile distance medley relay squads as well as defending hurdles champion Rodney Wilson, and appeared ready to challenge Fairleigh Dickinson for second place behind Maryland.

All-America miler Luis Ostolozaga highlighted a strong first day for Manhattan College, turning in the top performance of the afternoon in the 1,500 meters. Ostolozaga's 3:51.58 was good for first in a heat that also included 1,000-meter American record-holder Adam Dixon of Harvard, and 1980 Olympian John Gregorek of Georgetown.

High jumper Rich Alexander (6-10 $\frac{1}{4}$) and freshman pole vaulter Joe Zappone (15-5) also qualified for today's finals for the Jaspers, who already featured Pat Petersen in the 5,000. In addition, Manhattan's Sam Summer-ville qualified for the 800-meter final in 1:52.51.

Locally, Mount Vernon's Walt Kirkland qualified for Rutgers in the 800 with a 1:53.2 clocking, and New Rochelle's Frank Alston, finished sixth in the long jump for C.W. Post with a 23-3 $\frac{1}{4}$ leap.

The meet continues today with field event finals beginning at 1:30 p.m., and track final starting at 2:35 p.m.

Maryland ends Villanova's IC4A run

By Don MacAulay
Special to The Globe

PRINCETON, N.J. — The University of Maryland parlayed its great field-event strength to end Villanova's string of IC4A indoor championships at four yesterday at Princeton's Jadwin Gym. The Terps ran up a surprising 97 points to win the title for the first time since 1976.

Villanova fell to third with 63 points behind Fairleigh Dickinson, which garnered 73 mainly on the strength of its Kenyan connection.

Harvard junior Adam Dixon took on a 1500 field that included Olympian John Gregorek of Georgetown and did to them what he has been doing to runners in New England all season — he ran away from them on the final lap.

Dixon stayed back in the pack throughout most of the race, which was led first by Fairleigh Dickinson's Paul Steeds and then by Manhattan's Luis Ostolozaga. But the big kick was there when Dixon called on it, and he roared past Ostolozaga going into the final curve and charged home the winner in 3:43.89.

Northeastern's Jeff Cullianane finished sixth in 3:49.0.

Dixon, who broke the American record for 1000 meters two weeks ago in the Big Three Meet at Harvard, where he ran 2:19.80, wasn't overwhelmed by his overpowering performance.

"I'm really surprised that I won; I didn't expect to," said Dixon. "I thought I would probably finish third behind Ostolozaga and Gregorek."

A psychology major, the Harvard junior admits that he probably doesn't realize just how good he is. "I don't follow track that closely," he said.

Dixon said that he will run the mile at the NCAA championships in Detroit next weekend but isn't certain how he'll do because he doesn't keep track of his opponents.

Connecticut sprinter Ray James again knocked off Fairleigh Dickinson's Ephraim Serrette to win the 55-meter dash for the second year in a row.

James, a barrel-chested power sprinter, nipped Serrette by one-hundredth of a second, 6.24 to 6.25.

PRINCETON, N.J. — Jumbo Elliott slipped away from the crowd before the concluding mile relay at yesterday's IC4A indoor championships, an unmistakable sign that Villanova was out of the meet.

The Wildcats were, buried by their own injuries and fatigue and by Maryland's usual talent and depth in the field events. Yet, Elliott was moved to pay his South African senior, Sydney Maree, the ultimate compliment. Presumably, Elliott was speaking for everyone who watched Maree run two courageous races as Villanova grabbed what individual glory it could while surrendering the team title for the first time since 1976.

"He has a lot of quality and he's very, very strong," said Elliott. "Sydney is the strongest distance runner I've ever had. He can repeat. In the distance medley he was running within himself."

Maree, running on a "very sore" Achilles' tendon in his left foot, won a great individual duel with Kenyan Solomon Chebor of Fairleigh Dickinson in the 3,000, setting an IC4A record of 7 minutes, 54.91 seconds. He was back on the Jadwin Gym track 70 minutes later, anchoring the Wildcats to victory in the distance medley over Rutgers in 9:46.57. Maree's anchor mile split was 4:00.5.

Villanova produced three other individual winners. Sophomore Rodney Wilson, the NCAA indoor hurdles champion, powered to a clear-cut victory in the 55-meter hurdles over Maryland's Chris Person, 7.28 seconds to 7.30. Wilson's classmate, Carlton Young, tied for the 400 title with Seton Hall's Mike Paul, a Trinidad import, after being bumped just before the lean. Both were caught in 47.28 in a frantic, lunging drive to the tape. And John Hunter, a junior from Cork, Ireland, continued his excellent indoor season the hard way, kicking from sixth at the bell to win a thrilling 1,000 in 2:23.49 after encountering all kinds of traffic and banging in a rough race.

But it was Maree who dominated Villanova's afternoon, one in which the Wildcats struggled in third with 63 points, behind champion Maryland (97) and runner-up Fairleigh Dickinson (73).

In the 3,000, Maree ran between Geoff Smith, a 27-year-old Providence freshman from England, and Chebor for most of the race. With a little more than two laps left, Maree sprinted past Smith. Chebor moved with him, and it wasn't until the final 120 meters that Maree was able to pull away from the 120-pound Kenyan.

"I always plan my races," Maree said. "I always look at my opposition the night before. I always see who fits in and where. I knew Smith would be fresh, since he only ran one 3,000 race yesterday. I knew he would take it out. And I knew Chebor has a great sprint in the last 200 meters. I knew I had to stay between both of them and sprint the last 400 meters."

Maree's devastating kick left Chebor 12 yards back in 7:56.71. John Zishka, a Penn State freshman, was third in 8:02.26, while Smith faded to fourth in 8:07.67. Maree's 1,000 splits were 2:10.0, 4:16.6 and 6:29.6, with a final quarter in 53.6 and a final 220 in 26 seconds.

In the distance medley, the Wildcats appeared dead after a freshmen trio of John Borgese (1:54.2), Jim Adams (49.5) and Dublin import Brian O'Keefe (3:01.8) turned over a 30-yard deficit to the ailing Maree. But Maree charged after Rutgers anchor Jim Casey ("He put on a little more steam, and I knew with one lap to go he would be tired."), finally getting the lead early on the last lap and winning by 45 yards as Casey tied up and ran a drab 4:11.5 mile leg.

Anthony Tufariello, favored in the 500, used his speed and form too late and finished third in 1:02.46 behind Chris Person of Maryland and Derrick Peynado of Seton Hall. "Tony lost the race on the first lap," moaned Elliott. "If you don't get out in the 500, you're dead. When you don't get out, you give up four or five yards."

Among the other Wildcats, Willie Sydnor (6.47) edged Princeton's Manny Modu for fourth in the 55-meter dash, Brian Dalatri (56 feet, ½ inch) took another fourth in the shot and Dermot Anderson finished a leg-weary last in the 5,000. Elliott's 3,200-meter relay team also wound up last as an attempt to double back with Tufariello and Hunter ended in disaster. After Kevin Dillon faded from third to seventh on the second leg, Tufariello managed a pedestrian 2:00.7 split and Hunter matched it, running 2:00.1. Villanova's time was 7:52.5, almost 28 seconds slower than its world-record 7:24.9 at Millrose.

Maryland, meanwhile, rolled to the team trophy, getting 18 points from Person (first in the 500, second in the hurdles); 16 points in the pole vault (Gene McCarthy) and Jon Warner both cleared 16-8) and 12 points from third-place finishes in the 5,000 (Martin Green in 14:12.09) and mile relay (3:16.51, with the versatile Person anchoring in 49.4 after Darryl Bryant's 48.1 third leg).

"Chris Person, when he's on," gushed Maryland coach Frank Costello, "is as good a runner as there is in America." Costello, of course, was overstating it. But with Maryland winning the ICs for only the second time in 15 years, he was entitled.

NOTES: Penn's Ed Bogdanovich took third in the shot, reaching 57-6¼ on his final toss. . . . Mike Mosley, the ECC sprint champ from La Salle, edged Villanova footballer Willie Sydnor for third in the 55 with a time of 6.45. . . . "My hands were dead," said John Hunter, who tried to anchor Villanova's two-mile team after a mere 25-minute break following his bumps-and-shoves 1000. "I couldn't move my hands and legs." . . . Penn sprinter Jeff Hill cramped in the mile relay, in which the Quakers finished seventh in 3:18.51.

Maryland leads IC4A

Maryland, the perennial bridesmaid of the IC4A track championships, took a giant step toward emerging from the shadows by rolling up 34 points yesterday to take a commanding first-day lead in Princeton, N.J.

Mount St. Mary's and Pennsylvania are tied for second with 14 points, while four-time defending champion Villanova has yet to score. However, the Wildcats rarely make their presence felt until the second day of competition.

Harvard's Adam Dixon and Northeastern's Jeff Cullinane easily qualified for the final in the 1500 meters.

Dixon (3:51.73) coasted home second in his heat behind Manhattan's Luis Ostolozaga (3:51.58).

Cullinane was in command all the way and won his heat in 3:52.71.

Trevor Garrick, the Boston University sophomore who won the 400-meter at the New Englands, took a spill in his qualifying heat, which knocked him out of the race.

University of Connecticut sprinter Ray James, the defending champion in the 55-meter dash, appeared fully recovered from an ankle sprain that kept him out of the New Englands last week.

He ran 6.37 yesterday, earning a spot in today's finals.

Person sets pace for IC4A champs

PRINCETON (AP) — Chris Person knew the University of Maryland wasn't counting on him to clinch the team title in the IC4A Indoor Track and Field Championships at Princeton University's Jadwin Gym.

But the versatile runner, who won the 500-meter dash and took second in the 55-meter high hurdles, provided the depth Maryland needed to stretch its team score to 97, within two points of the all-time IC4A team record.

"Our field events carried our team through the meet," said Person, a junior from nearby Plainfield. "The points I acquired were just icing on the cake."

Persons's 18 points helped the Terrapins end Villanova's string of four consecutive victories, and the tall speedster ran the anchor leg on Maryland's mile relay team that finished third yesterday.

"I figured the field events would hold Maryland together if we were going to win," Person said. "The Maryland guys were extremely geared up for this. The main teams worrying us were FDU and Seton Hall."

Fairleigh Dickinson University, helped by Richard Ouma's triumph in the 800, and scoring in every running event except the 5,000, finished second with 73 points. Defending champion Villanova was fourth at 63, and Seton Hall followed with 42.

The Terrapins clinched the title by collecting 22 points in the pole vault as Eugene McCarthy led a 1-3-4-5 Maryland finish with a meet record of 17 feet 1 1/4 inches. McCarthy won the championship in a jumpoff with defending champ Mark Strawderman of Rhode Island, the old meet record holder at 16-8.

"The way the points were scored were pretty much the way we figured it," said Stan Pitts, Maryland's head coach. "In fact, I figured we would end up with 92 points instead of 97. That's because on the pole vault I figured one would mess up along the way. But they didn't."

Although Maryland is the home of Person and Renaldo Nehemiah, the world record holder in the high hurdles who no longer competes for the team, its reputation has been built off the track.

"We've always been known as a field events school. It's difficult for us to make inroads in the running because a lot of schools gear to the running events and they attract the sprinters," Pitts said.

Sydney Maree, the 24-year-old senior from South Africa, made a gallant effort to pull Villanova's injury-plagued Wildcats back into contention.

Running despite a sore Achilles tendon, he won the 3,000 in 7:54.91, cracking the meet record of 8:02.74, set by Richmond's Sosthenes Bitok last year. Maree's time equated in hand clocking to a 7:54.7, the fastest ever run by an Eastern collegiate.

"You feel it and forget it, just hoping to limp through the race," said Maree, who didn't show a trace of his injured left leg on the track. "I expected it to be a real tough one all the way to the tape. But it was much easier."

Maree, who missed a full nine days' practice in the three weeks since he pulled his left tendon during practice, also anchored Villanova's distance medley relay team that was timed in 9:46.57.

"Most of our athletes are injured. The ones that were left had to take us as far as they could go," Maree said.

Harvard's Adam Dixon, the American 1,000-meter indoor record holder, grabbed first place in the 1,500-meter race with a time of 3:43.89, edging Luis Ostolozaga of Manhattan. The meet record holder at 3:42.93 in that event, Georgetown's John Gregorek, finished fifth.

Dixon said he was surprised by his victory because Harvard was doing poorly overall, ending with 14 team points.

"I thought I was going to get third," Dixon said. "I tend to compete better as part of a team. When I'm by myself I find it harder to win."

TERPS IC4A CHAMPS — Versatile Chris Person won the 500-meter dash and finished second in the 55-meter high hurdles, leading the University of Maryland to the team title in the IC4A Indoor Track and Field Championships at Princeton University's Jadwin Gym.

Persons's 18 points helped the Ter-rapins accumulate 97 points as Maryland ended Villanova's string of four consecutive victories.

Person, a junior, who has been running in the shadow of Renaldo Nehemiah, the world record holder in the high hurdles—Nehemiah still attends Maryland but no longer competes for the team—took the 500 in one minute, 2.30 seconds.

Maryland Is Leading At IC4A's

By MICHAEL STRAUSS

Special to The New York Times

PRINCETON, N.J., March 7 — Maryland gained the jump on its rivals in the IC4A indoor track and field championships today by capturing the top three places in the long jump and producing the winner in the weight throw at Jadwin Gymnasium.

The two events were the only finals completed today as more than 100 colleges took part in qualifying. The 20-event Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America meet opened yesterday with the pentathlon, which was won by Norwegian-born Gudmund Olsen of Mount St. Mary's. The meet will be concluded tomorrow.

Maryland, one of the favorites to end Villanova's four-year reign as champion, ended the day with 34 points. Pennsylvania and Mount St. Mary's of Emmitsburg, Md., were second with 14 points apiece. Villanova failed to pick up a point in its quest for an 18th title in the meet.

The Terrapins' points were scored under unusual circumstances. Cornelius Cousins, Wilson Ward and Kevin Ward (the Wards are not related), who finished 1, 2, 3 in the jump, were all nursing injuries. To protect a strained tendon in a lower hamstring, in fact, Cousins took only one of three leaps in each of the qualifying final rounds.

'Easy to Handle'

"My doctor told me I had to cool it if I wanted to compete," said Cousins, after winning with a jump of 24 feet 5 inches. "In the final, I made only the first jump and then waited to see whether anyone could beat it. No one did. It made my problem easy to handle."

Ward Wilson, bothered by a painful vertebrae, placed second with 24 feet 2¼ inches. Kevin Wilson, who barely got into the final (he tied for eighth in the qualifying round), jumped 23-11¼. Kevin has a chipped bone in his left leg — the jumping leg.

Maryland's top competitor in the weight throw, Alan Baginski, had no physical problems as he began tuning up today. But in one of his practice tosses, he tore a piece of flesh about the size of a dime from his left hand. Baginski, a 19-year-old sophomore, said the mishap had been caused when his glove slipped as he made his throw.

Baginski, whose best event is the discus, won the weight throw with a toss of 62 feet 11¼ inches. Bill Borden of Southern Connecticut State was second with 61-10¼, and Harlan Bartlett of Pennsylvania finished third with 61-4¼. Twelve competed in the weight throw and 30 in the long jump.

Southern Connecticut had two survivors in the weight throw's eight finalists — Borden and Bob Rodgers. Borden gained his runner-up spot with the last of his three tosses.

"I'm a little disappointed," he said. "Last week in winning the New England championships I did much better — 64 feet 4 inches. I don't know what happened today. Maybe I choked up — swallowed too big an olive."

Track Title to Terps

By MICHAEL STRAUSS

Special to The New York Times

PRINCETON, N.J., March 8 — Villanova's four-year reign as IC4A indoor track and field champion ended today, with Maryland winning the title and the Wildcats finishing third behind Fairleigh Dickinson. The Terrapins gave their new head coach, Stan Pitts, extra cause to celebrate his 42d birthday with a sparkling team effort.

At the end of the 19-event, two-day meet Pitts gave three reasons for his team's success: "substantial depth, two fine running performances by Chris Person and some unexpected strength in the field events."

Maryland, which had not won the IC4A crown since 1976 when it triumphed with only 38 points, won today with 97. Fairleigh Dickinson had 73 and Villanova, despite two superb performances by the tireless Sidney Maree, was third with 63. Seton Hall was fourth with 42.

Frank Costello, who resigned as head coach of Maryland after last season to enter business, said the Terps' victory was no surprise. "Let's face it," he said, "we had a good part of last year's team back. Add that to some outstanding performances by our transferees and new boys and it spelled optimism."

Big Contribution by Person

Person, a 20-year-old junior from Plainfield, N.J., who made his first collegiate impression by winning the IC4A outdoor 400-meter hurdles in his freshman and sophomore years, accounted for 18 of Maryland's points. He won the 500 meters, placed a close second in the 55-meter hurdles to Rod Wilson of Villanova, and anchored the Maryland one-mile relay team, which finished third.

Capping the powerful showing by the Terrapins in the field events were the results in the pole vault. Maryland, led by the victorious Gene McCarthy with a vault of 16 feet 8 inches, captured four of the top five places and rolled up 22 points in that one event. On Saturday, Maryland placed 1, 2, 3 in the long jump for 24 points.

Joining Person in top individual performances were Maree, the Villanova senior from Pretoria, South Africa, Richard Ouma, a Fairleigh Dickinson sophomore from Kenya, and John Hunter, a Villanova sophomore from Ireland, all of whom broke meet records. Competing despite an aching Achilles tendon, Maree triumphed in the 3,000-meter run by about 12 yards in 7:54.91, shattering the meet record of 8:02.74 set last year by Sosthenes Bitok of Richmond, and then had the crowd roaring as he ran a dazzling anchor leg in the distance medley relay.

Maree trailed Jim Casey of Rutgers by about 30 yards as he took over the baton from Brian O'Keefe. Casey increased his advantage to about 40 yards halfway through the final one-mile leg and seemed a likely winner. But Maree began closing ground with a half-lap to go and won with ease with his leg timed in 4 minutes .5 seconds. "That foot really was murdering me, it hurt so much," said Maree.

Ouma's meet record of 1:49.32 in the 800 meters bettered the previous mark of 1:51.07 set last year by Bill Martin of Iona. Fairleigh Dickinson scored points in every running event except the 5,000 meters.

Hunter won the 1,000 meters in 2:23.49 and broke the meet record of 2:23.62 set last year by Jim DeRienzo of Georgetown.

Terps Lead IC4A

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The University of Maryland, seeking to break Villanova's four-year domination in the IC4A Indoor Track and Field Championships, took a commanding lead Saturday with a 1-2-3 finish in the long jump, led by Cornelius Cousins, and a victory from weight-thrower Alan Baginski.

The Terrapins, the last team to beat Villanova — in 1976 — accumulated a total of 34 points after the first three final events, including the pentathlon, won Friday by Gudmund Olsen of Mount St. Mary's.

Mount St. Mary's, on the strength of Olsen's triumph and Bob Stebbins' fourth-place finish in the pentathlon, was tied for second place with Penn, each with 14 points. The Quakers got their points on Frank Harrison's second in the pentathlon and Harlan Bartlett's third in the 35-pound weight throw.

The Wildcats were not expected to score in any of the first three finals, but they also suffered a serious setback when ailing Marcus O'Sullivan failed to qualify in the 1,500 meters.

William and Mary's distance medley relay team of Phil Hoey, Jim Satterley, John Malone and Andy Whitney clocked a 10:07.5 to qualify for today's nine-team track final.

Harvard's Adam Dixon has set an American record, pending verification, of 2:19.80 in the 1000 meters this season.
