The Link cable manager is a multi-directional cable manager that is used for height adjustable mechanisms. Simply add the Link elements to achieve the desired height. Wires and cables are fed from the work surface down through the elements to the optional weighted foot at the bottom. The Link cable manager is flexible and can be attached to the table base by use of two magnetic clips that mount to the side. Two top mounting hardware choices are included as well, a magnetic top mount or screw in top mount. This cable manager works well with not only height adjustable units, but also any conference table that has a cable management need to feed wires from underneath table to a floor monument.
