Our youth in livestock have been working hard all year to set goals for their projects, learn skills and knowledge to make their projects successful, and then marketing their project for the auction.

Each youth are judged on how well they did on their project during the show. Then, some sell their projects at the auction to see if the business was profitable. Many times the youth will put their money back into their next years project or toward their higher education.

Market Animals being sold may include swine, steers, lambs, goats, chickens, rabbits, quail, and turkeys.

Buying an animal is a great way for you to purchase a quality meat product and support the local youth livestock members of Yavapai County.

Other projects being auctioned may include homemade quilts, handcrafted leather items, homemade items out of wood, jewelry, food baskets, and more.

Youth Livestock members are the future! Your purchase of a large stock animal, small stock animal, or an indoor project supports a young person who is experiencing business on a small scale.

We sincerely appreciate YOU being a part of Youth Livestock in Yavapai County.
