

INTERNET & SOCIAL MEDIA DISCLOSURE

Once we have your aquarium reaching its peak performance, we would love to be able to share it with others in our gallery and show everyone just how good we are at what we do! Not only is it a great way to spark innovation in the industry but it also allows you to admire some of the other projects we have had the privilege of coordinating. We respect your privacy and we will use pictures only with a brief description of that picture and not disclose your name, company name or any personal information. Please note that there is no guarantee that your aquarium will be featured.

We assure all of our customers that we will maintain all records and agreements as confidential information and not export or outsource any names or personal information provided to us in any form. By signing below, you are authorizing Aquarium Headquarters to proudly display your aquarium and its setting on our website as well as social media.
