AACA MUSEUM DISPLAY

"Corvette Celebrates 70" and "Racing to the Finish Line"

by Bob Messner

The "Corvette Celebrates 70" display is currently open at the Williams-Clyne Showroom Gallery inside the American Antique Auto Museum in Hershey. On Friday evening November 18, Betsy and I along with Art and Barb Brown attended the museum's formal opening of the "Corvette Celebrates 70" and "Racing to the Finish Line" displays. Congratulations to the Allentown Area Corvette Club for their display in the Showroom Gallery which showcases the first three generations of Corvette.

In addition to their member's Corvettes being displayed their club members have assembled an impressive collection vintage Chevrolet, Corvette, and club memorabilia. Visiting the display is also an opportunity to begin thinking of ideas to prepare for Skyline Drive Corvette Club's future display that Ron Whitmoyer has arranged for us in the same gallery. Happening in conjunction with the Corvette display is also a new display "Racing to the Finish Line" featuring a large collection for current and vintage race cars displayed throughout the museum.

I estimate about one-third of the museum's static display has been temporarily replaced with a variety of race cars including the first American car to enter and win at the Nurburgring 24-hour to famous stock cars, Indy cars, local dirt track and drag race cars. If you are looking for an opportunity this winter to keep the adrenalin of Corvettes and Racing going, consider visiting these displays at the museum. Both displays will be open now thru the Spring.
