President's Message

With the approach of the Holiday Season it is becoming more necessary to guard against Covid-19. Those in the population that are vaccinated can have up to 95% probability of not suffering serious illness or complications but can contract and carry the virus and possibly pass it on to others. Keep in mind that there is a certain part of the population that is not vaccinated.

This is also the season when many orchids choose to bloom. I'm seeing many blooms and buds. It's a shame that many of them will not last long enough for show and tell. Our long lock-down lately has made me more able to simply enjoy my flowers by myself. One nice thing about having various types of orchids is the different blooming times, both seasonal and intermittent.

November is the time for our annual elections. All positions are open to all members. If someone feels that they can perform a position open for election, please step forward. Maybe somebody has the capability to do a better job of keeping our various factions satisfied.

Several of our members are choosing not to attend our meetings. Maybe they are afraid of being around people that may be carrying the virus. Or maybe they don't like the rules we need to live by according to our meeting places. Or maybe they are like me, just old-timers that don't like change but which we need to adapt to or just become hermits.

See you at our next meeting,
Roger Stone
