Photo to left: Lee Ann Tate and her daughter, Kelly, said to say Hi! They are now living in Oklahoma after their move to Washington turned out to be good for Lee Ann's lungs but bad for her heart. Jack mentioned Lee Ann when he was talking about Lys. Red Jewel that he brought in for Show and Tell last month. You can see the picture of it below with Jack's other blooming orchids. Lee Ann is the one he got it from when she left Colorado. Joan sent a picture of it to Kelly to share with her mother so that she could enjoy the blooms of the orchids she passed down to so many of us. Thank you, ladies, you look fantastic!!

President's Message

It often all begins with a gift. Think back to your very first orchid, the one that started it all. Where did it come from? Chances are good; it was a gift. In my case, the orchid was donated to a fundraising auction for the lab where I was employed. When it did not sell, I was told to take it home because "I was good with plants, and it was going to die here." Everyone, it seemed, was terrified of this plant. What I would have given to be surrounded by the knowledgeable orchid friends I have now!

Last week we celebrated Mother's Day, and many around us were gifted their very first orchid. Meaning countless potential new collectors have a gorgeous, sentimental plant, they have likely heard is mysterious, moody, and hard to grow. But we know better! While we never stop learning, luckily, we do not need to know it all to help. In the coming months, I encourage you to seize the opportunity to help these new growers as they cross your path. Oh, and do not forget to tell them about a welcoming, fun group of orchid-crazy people that gather at the fire station on the fourth Saturday of the month!

The orchid that started my collection was a Dendrobium, but going it alone years ago, it does not surprise me that Cattleya care ranked high on our survey list for orchid care videos. Luckily AOS and Bill Rogerson have provided a great resource to help. Split over the May and June meeting, we will screen "Cattleya Species Culture" by Bill Rogerson.

Happy belated Mother's Day to all the moms, and see you at the fire station on the 27th!

Cheers,
Alison Dino
