Among the rolling hills of Oklahoma, where the western heritage is a way of life, our thriving little shop can be found just south of Pawnee. Our owner and lead designer, Amanda, started this company in 2015 working from the kitchen table of her fifth wheel travel trailer. As order after order started rolling in she and her husband, James, saw a need to expand and built a little shop for Amanda to work from. What seemed like a lot more room, soon turned into not enough as business started booming and now plans for greater expansions are being made.

Here at Hurricane Dixie Leather, we specialize in high quality handmade leather goods that are not only beautiful but also functional. What makes us unique, is that not only do we have great tooling skills but we also use a lot of color and different art mediums. We enjoy experimenting with different materials such as hair-on-hide, Pendelton wool, and beadwork to create new and exciting products. We take pride in adding a colorful spin to more traditional leatherwork.

One of our favorite things is to incorporate beadwork into our designs. We accept beadwork from all over the country, however, two of our favorite companies to work with are Lazy J3 Creations (Winner, SD) and Ropers Beads (Pawnee, OK). Both companies deliver high quality beautiful beadwork.

Not only do we create great products, but we also feel it is important to help God's other children. Every November, we do a 'Cuffs for a Cause' event where, for every cuff sold, we purchase a pair of new shoes for a child in need. Since the start of this event in 2017, we have sent over 60 pairs of new shoes to "street children" in the Philippines and Malawi, Africa! One of our missionary contacts in Malawi informed us that often times children there are found tying plastic bottles to their feet with strings from onion bags. So you can imagine how big of an impact a pair of new shoes can be to someone in that environment. We might not be able to change the entire world, but we can do our best to change someone's world, one sole at a time.

Meet the Maker

Amanda grew up in a small town in South Dakota (Plankinton). Her father was, and still is, a farmer and her mother, a city slicker, worked for the government. Growing up with this combination of parents, Amanda formed a love for the western lifestyle but also formed a love for the city as well. While her father encouraged rodeos and livestock shows, her mother encouraged music and art. In 2009, Amanda graduated high school and attended 2 years of college at SDSU before meeting her husband James. It didn't take long for James to convince Amanda to move to Oklahoma, and soon, in 2013, became married. Prior to meeting James, Amanda had no experience with leather work but was very talented in painting and design. James' dad, Jimmy, introduced Amanda to leather work and she quickly became intrigued. Her first project was a Bible cover and soon after began making a pair of bull riding chaps for James as his old pair was in dire need of replacing. Shortly after completion of James' chaps, people started noticing and placing orders for their own chaps. After completing 5 more pairs of chaps (all hand sewn by the way), a hired hand from her fathers farm reached out and asked Amanda to inlay his beadwork into some belts. Hesitant at first, she agreed and from then on, others from around the country have reached out as well.

Amanda has no formal training, but with a lot of hard work and leading from the Holy Spirit, she has learned and is working on mastering the dying art of leatherwork.

I'll Be Your Honey Bee Collection

Launches May 23, 2020 @ 7 PM CST

I'll Be Your Honey Bee- Cool morning breeze, fresh blooming flowers, and the sound of birds singing has filled the air. Spring has sprung in Oklahoma. A fresh jug of sweet tea sits on the porch soaking up the sun as a group of bees are nearby hard at work making honey. Our eyes focus in on the bees. We notice how diligently they are working, how they have created their own rhythm. They don't cut corners and they build their hexagon shaped combs to perfection. They are masters in their craft. The fruit of their hard work and diligence is sweet and will be enjoyed by many.

In this collection, you will see that we were inspired by the honey bee. Each design holds an element of that inspiration and a quality that is unmatched. We strive for perfection in every product we make so that you, too, can enjoy the fruit of our labor.

A teal Schwinn bicycle is the central focus, with a brown leather handlebar grip featuring orange stitching. A basket of pink and orange flowers is attached to the handlebars. A blue and white striped umbrella is visible on the left. The background is a blurred outdoor setting.

The Ruby- Anyone who knows my grandma, Ruby, knows how fun and unique she is. She is truly one of a kind in all the best ways. When I started having an interest in leatherwork, she gave me an old handmade leather purse that she was given by an older gentleman around 40-50 years ago. It is worn and tattered and each scuff and stain tells a story. We modified and recreated that very purse so that you too, can pass on your story to future generations.

Lily Evatt

"What I love most is taking a seed and growing it into a flower that I can put in a bouquet for someone. It's so much more rewarding than buying a flower to make a bouquet with."

-Gretchen Evatt

Among the winding turns of the Arkansas River, a few miles north of Pawnee, Oklahoma, a vision is coming to pass. A vision of acres of rolling hills plush with rows and rows of flowers. A God inspired dream to make a difference.

In the spring of 2019, Gretchen Evatt, along side her daughter Lily, embarked on an adventure of starting their own flower farm, River Bend Acres. Gretchen, worked many years at a local florist shop, learning about business in the floral industry and how to make beautiful arrangements. Her daughter Lily, a graduate of Rhema Bible Training Center, returned to the family farm to assist with this new adventure. These two hardworking women of God make an incredible team and their story is one of great faith.

Stepping into the arena of flower farming isn't as glamorous as one would think. It's not just 'tip toeing through the daisies.' (Though there is some of that!) During their first growing season, the Evatts' received a crash course on the do's and don'ts. They stepped out in faith and planted 4600 plants. Many, of which were destroyed by hungry rabbits and unfortunate storms. Thankfully that did not stop them. They replanted and found what works best for them. It's a lot of hard work but, "it's so much more rewarding than buying a flower to make a bouquet with," Gretchen says.

River Bend Acres is our go to for all our flower needs. We are so excited for the Evatts' as they pursue their dream and look forward to seeing and hearing more about their new business as it grows.

River Bend Acres can be found selling at the Pawnee Farmers' Market and Ponca City Farmers' Market.

Cuffs for a Cause

Every November, we do a 'Cuffs for a Cause' event, where for every cuff we sell, a pair of new shoes goes to a child in need. After our event in 2019, we were able to send 15 pairs of shoes to Malawi and a few weeks ago, someone donated enough money to provide another 15 pairs of shoes for these kids! There were enough shoes for all the "street" children in the area to receive new shoes!! God provides!! As you can see from the pictures below, they were in great need of new shoes! Be sure to keep an eye out for our next 'Cuffs for a Cause' event in November!
