Pastor's Message

Dear Friends of the Milton Lutheran Church,

Recently a member of our congregation handed me a slip of paper. With a smile on his face he shared, "I was going to give this to you to see if I could stump the chump during worship but thought better of it and decided to give you some time to respond."

I opened the slip of paper and read his question and I can say that I was grateful he spared me the embarrassment of fumbling through an answer in front of everyone!

What was the question? "How did God create things like poison ivy, poison oak, and poison sumac?"

What a great question! Of course, questions like this one have been around for thousands of years. Even in biblical times people were asking questions like this. "If God created everything then why did God create things that could do us harm?" Or another way to ask the same question... "If God loves everyone without exception, then why did create things that could do us harm?"

The short answer is I don't really know...And that is probably the answer you would have heard from me during our 'stump the chump' at worship.

The longer answer is it's complicated...Scholars, theologians, disciples of Christ, philosophers have been tackling these kinds of questions for a long time. You can read books upon books on this issue. Many sermons have been preached about it, mine included in that list.

To start, I think we can all agree that God has created everything, this of course includes things like poison ivy. The second piece of this equation is that God loves us, unconditionally. The question becomes, if we believe that God loves us unconditionally than why does God allow bad things to happen. Or, to phrase it differently, if we believe that God loves us unconditionally than why does God make bad things happen.

My answer would be that I don't believe God allows or causes bad things to happen. I don't think God wants us to have an allergic reaction, to suffer, experience bad things, etc... The unfortunate reality is that bad things do happen to us and others. Now, I know what you are thinking. If this is the case, then how can God be in control, or how can God be all powerful? For me, God's control and power doesn't come from God's ability to allow or not allow something to happen. Instead, God's control and power comes through God's unmeasurable love.

You see, it's not that God can or can't allow something to happen, it is that in the midst of bad things God is loving us. As a child, when I would get poison ivy I remember the loving touch of my mother putting calamine lotion on me. Or the snuggles I would get. I remember the doctor that would give me the medication to help take the pain away. God's power and control is in the love. In my mother, in my doctor, in the chemist who found a way to minimize the effects of the reaction, that's where God is.

So, to the person who handed me the slip of paper a few days back, thank you! Thanks for giving me the time to wrestle with one of life's toughest questions. I hope in my wrestling that I've given each of you the opportunity to explore this aspect of our faith and relationship with God once again.

ELCA Young Adults in Global Mission

Dear Congregation,

First and foremost, I want to thank you all for your steadfast support, love, and kindness you have showed me throughout my life as a member of Milton Lutheran Church. I am writing to update you all that I have been selected to serve as Young Adult in Global Mission (YAGM) for the ELCA. In early September, I will depart for Argentina/Uruguay and serve, live, and walk with my host community for 10 to 11 months. In June, I will find out more details on where exactly I will be living and what my service placement is. I am incredibly excited to have this opportunity to live my faith and thank you all for playing such a critical role in my faith journey and helping me to reach this point.

In case you are not familiar, YAGM is an international year of service for young adults to support the ministries and projects of the ELCA's global companions. As a volunteer, I will embark on a journey of self-reflection to consider my own identity, God's work in the world, and my place within it all. In the spirit of accompaniment, volunteers walk alongside global companions in a manner that practices mutuality, interdependence, and solidarity. Areas of service include, but are not limited to, health and human rights, education, environmental justice, professional support, and congregational ministry. In our placements, my fellow volunteers and I will confront issues of wealth and poverty, racial privilege, gender privilege, economic disparity, and globalization, all through the lens of faith.

When I applied for Young Adults in Global mission, I was initially hoping to use it as a backup plan in case my delayed Peace Corps service never came to fruition. But, after learning more about the program and moving through the interview process, it became my first choice. As I am pursuing a career in international development and humanitarian assistance, I have always planned to do some type of volunteer work internationally. It is a key opportunity that allows one to understand different cultural contexts and gain more experience serving others, particularly the marginalized groups that development aid and organizations aim to help. However, in the YAGM application process, I came to realize it's my faith that draws me to this career in the first place. It is through my work that I can live my faith. For me, YAGM provides a fourfold opportunity to learn about myself, grow in my faith, deepen my understanding of Latin America, and gain the necessary experience to better serve others and observe how development works at the community level.

My service year in Argentina/Uruguay, like the time I spent in Liberia, will shape my life in infinite ways. I am so grateful for the way it intersects key areas of my life while also providing me the opportunity to learn what it truly means to walk in community with Christ. As part of accepting this call, I am asked to raise at least $5,000. If you are able, I kindly ask you consider supporting my fundraising efforts. For more information on the program and how to donate, I invite you to visit my fundraising page here, https://support.elca.org/site/TR/Events/General?px=1071643&pg=personal&fr_id=1181.

You can also mail a check directly to the ELCA.
Make checks payable to the "ELCA" with
"YAGM Claire Weisner" on the memo line.

And mail to this address:
Evangelical Lutheran Church in America
P.O. Box 1809
Merrifield, VA 22116-8009

As part of the program, I will be writing blog posts to update my donors, congregation, friends, and family on my time in South America. I look forward to sharing more about my journey with you in the fall and thank you for your generosity.

In peace,
Claire Weisner

Our next ministry teams meeting will take place on Thursday, June 9th at 7:00 P.M.

We will gather in the library lounge to start and break into our individual groups from there.

Children are invited to STUMP THE CHOMP (aka Pastor Gary). Kids are invited to bring an item from home, place it in the CHUMP BAG and present it to Pastor Gary during worship. The challenge will be for him to figure out how this item helps to share the gospel message of God's love with everyone. Kids may bring the bag up front during worship or place it on the altar before worship begins.
