Aqui-Live, AUSTRALIA
Australian Premium Mineral Water

Aqui-Live, nature's finest bottled. This unique premium mineral water has been sequestered in the Paleolithic basement of Australia's Mornington Peninsula for over 600 million years. During its 2,000-year journey filtering through 900 meters of volcanic rock it becomes imbued with 23 of the essential 24 minerals. When it finally bubbles into the light, it has a purity of 0.008 mg/L nitrate, making it the purest mineral water in the world by far.

Aqui-Live's supreme purity and mineral content combines into an award winning taste profile, with both the Still and Gently Sparkling versions winning gold medals at the 2018 Fine Water Society's International Taste Competition, an invitation only event pitting the best mineral waters of the world against each other. Aqui-Live's dual gold medals were unprecedented especially considering this was its first year participating.

The smooth, rich texture and hints of sweetness from the naturally balanced mineral content make every sip an experience, while the purity enhances the nuanced taste of any meal or beverage it accompanies instead of diluting the palate as lower quality water often does. It's abundance, range, and balance of essential minerals is unparalleled and these often-rare minerals are the building blocks of cell functionality, meaning that Aqui-Live not only hydrates but also replenishes. For life's many adventures, whether at a restaurant, spa or gym, when only the best will do, the choice is perfectly clear. Aqui-Live.
