LOESS - Valladolid SPAIN: Blanco Rueda 2017 – Verdejo

This white Verdejo comes from the municipality of Rueda in Valladolid. The vineyard was planted in 1998 and trained along a vertical trellis. The wine is vinified in Stainless steel and remains on fine lees to enhance its organoleptic properties.

This clean and bright wine is an intense and light chrome yellow color, with glimmers of green. It's intense on the nose, with nuances of white fruits, peach and pineapple standing out over a background of balsamic aromas. On the palate it's very rounded, well-structured and palate filling. It's fresh, with a touch of acidity and a slightly bitter finish that afford it a youthful and lively quality. It has a long and pleasing aftertaste, and second smell reveals the fruits that first emerged on the nose to give the wine a touch of sweetness.

Approximately 50,000 bottles of this wonderful Verdejo go to market annually.

LOESS - Valladolid, SPAIN: Collection Blanco Rueda 2017 - Verdejo

This white wine of the Verdejo varietal comes from a superb vineyard planted in 1936 in Nava del Rey, Valladolid. The must is fermented in new French oak barrels, where the wine is later kept on fine lees for around six months.

The wine presents an intense lemon-straw color, with green glints. It's clean and bright. On the nose, the first impression is of floral aromas and white fruits, followed by tropical fruits and herbaceous and balsamic nuances, affording it freshness, mixed with tertiary aromas from the wood. The latter are extremely subtle unless the glass is swirled, but come to the fore as the wine breathes and gains in temperature. It's gentle, pleasing and enveloping in the mouth. It's an explosive and complex wine in aromas, and the combination of the woods makes it voluptuous, yet with a balanced acidity that will give it long life and freshness. It's persistent on the palate, with a slightly bitter finish that characterizes the varietal. Production is limited to 5,500 bottles annually.

LOESS - Inspiration 2016: D.O. Ribera del Duero

Loess Inspiration is the result of a flash of inspiration during a tasting session. While searching for the ideal blend for our Loess Crianza 2012, with the coupage of certain barrels, we discovered this younger wine. It ages in barrels for around 9 months, and so may be included in the range of so-called high-end oak reds.

The various wines that blend to form Loess Inspiration have spent an average of 9 months in excellent quality French oak barrels, with light to medium toast levels in their 1st, 2nd, or 3rd year of use.

100% Tinta del País.

Production is approximately 50,000 bottles annually.

Tasting Notes: When the wine is opened as poured into a glass, Loess Inspiration presents a very young, but intense garnet color indicating the proper maceration of the grapes on harvesting. On the nose the wine quickly shows its considerable aromatic intensity, with a predominance of fruit subtly blended with the oak in which the wine has been aging for months, creating highly satisfying nuances of complexity. On the palate the varietal character is prominent with a pleasing texture, and its flavors are a complex blend of fruit, balsamics, and a hint of toasted oak, with a medium-long finish.

LOESS: D.O. Ribera del Duero

LOESS – FOR DUTY FREE AND TRAVEL COMPANIES BASED IN THE U.S. TERRITORY ONLY.

LOESS - Roa SPAIN: Ribera del Duero 2015

Our blue capsule wine, made with tinta del país grapes, is the region's equivalent to a crianza. The wine's alcoholic fermentation process takes place in stainless steel, and it is transferred to new French oak barrels for malolactic fermentation. It is aged for more than twelve months.

Around 30,000 bottles are put on sale annually.

This wine is clean and bright with ruby-red tones.

On the nose, it shows intense, open-wide fruity aromas (both red and black fruits) accompanied by vanilla, cocoa, cinnamon and coffee tones.

The wine is fresh and aromatic on the palate, with noble wood and fruit tannins that afford it structure and sweetness, and a medium-long persistence on the finish.

LOESS - Roa SPAIN: Collection Ribera del Duero 2012

In November / December the wine is transferred to new oak barrels French where it stays between 24 and 30 months. Production is around the 5,000 bottles and it is commercialized from the third year after its elaboration.

The sight is a clean and bright wine, with a layer of dense color, that in the tasting language we define as intensity covered layer high. On the nose, aromas of black and red fruits, combined with roasted, spicy and balsamic notes. All of them in one balanced mix that gives the wine great elegance and complexity.

Elegance because they are clean and clear nuances, complexity because are happening over time with oxygenation in the cup, which It allows you to enjoy wine during all your consumption. In the mouth the first thing we perceive is its texture. Sweet, round and structured, it is a powerful and pleasant wine, with personality. Of Great persistence, fruity and balanced.

CASA DO SOL - D.O. Rías Baixas

CASA DO SOL – FOR DUTY FREE AND TRAVEL COMPANIES BASED IN THE U.S. TERRITORY ONLY.

CASA DO SOL Albariño 2016 - Valle de Ulloa, Galicia: D.O. Rías Baixas

Long-standing Albariño; it's clean, with a pale yellow color and steely border that denotes youth. It has lime, citrus fruit, apricot background and fresh peach notes on the nose. Almond flower notes. The call to sea is present, with slight iodized marks that resemble pickle. It has a soft entry in the mouth, but with pronounced minerality; citrus are back...grapefruit, lime, with persistency of bone white fruits.

Casa do Sol Albariño pairs very well with all kinds of fish, seafood, soft rice, and non-greasy dishes; very specifically with Asian food, and specifically Japanese.

This wine has to be served at an approximate temperature of 11C.

Albariño Froiña 2017 - D.O. Rías Baixas

Albariño of yesteryear; clean, light yellow in color bordering on steely which denotes youth. The bouquet has hints of lime, citrus, apricot and fresh peach in the background. Notes of almond blossoms. Subtle calls to the oceans with notes of sea salt which recall brine.

On the palate it has a mild but noticeable minerality; the citrus fruits return, grapefruit, lime and the persistence of stone fruits.

Hacienda Albae, D.O. Vinos de Tierra de Castilla

Viognier: The Viognier variety represents everything that is expected of a young white wine. A fruity wine with a floral background that makes it very elegant and intense. On the nose there are notes of orange, white stone fruits and light notes of flowers. The palate is fresh with a very present acidity that makes it a wine of very good evolution. It is long and balanced with a nice volume in the mouth.

Chardonnay: Pale yellow with greenish reflections. Its varietal aromas express pineapple, exotic fruits and green apple. Its short stay in barrel gives it a light toasted and fresh background. The entry into the mouth is fat, broad and of great persistence.

Malbec: Intense violet/red color. Aromas of red and black berry fruits and a gentle hint of toasty sweet oak. Ripe blackberry, cherry, plums, with a touch of chocolate lead to a velvety yet full palate with good sweet ripe tannin presence. This grape holds its acidity well which makes it ideal for this climate and makes it a perfect wine to accompany our local Manchego cheese!
