QUEENSLAND

“ It is 100% normal that once you have booked the key people and elements in. There is a weird lull period where you can relax a little ”

Our road map

Everything you need is inside your online portal, once place for everything and each time something is completed it lets me know too.

What can we do now?

Wedding questionnaire

Just to get you thinking of some of the days details

Notice of intended marriage

Once this is done, I can submit everything for you, your NOIM also generates all of your legal paperwork.

Identification

Along with your NOIM the attorney generals office also require ID, this can be uploaded into your portal.

Book the bones in

The bones are the key elements in, not all may suit your needs but once the “bones” are booked in; it is normal to have a lull period of should I be doing something? That’s normal and no you shouldn’t 😊

✓ Celebrant

- Photographer & or Videographer
- DJ, Band, live music
- Hair and Make-up Artists
- Decorators
- Catering
- Pet sitter

“ Lets talk vows or as I call them promises. This is your moment and your words, just be you, they can be different and if you don't read each others before it is even more magical ”

3 months from the big day

Your portal will load up and tell you, you have some new tasks to keep you on track. (If you want them earlier, let me know)

Lounge-room picnic

The fun part; time for the two of you to enjoy some time together; going through some final details and begin telling me all about the two of you and your love story. Part one is for the two of you to do together and part two is the secret element where you get to tell me all about each other.

Reception Planning

If I am your MC woohoo. Now we get into the finer details, the timeline is for the chefs (so they don't throw pans at me) and to keep me on track behind the scenes. Up front is all about the moments from your entry, to speeches, first dance and even how transitions happen.

I will reach out to your venue and get a copy of the run sheet about a month out and then using that & your questionnaire in the portal to begin adding in all of the finer details for us to discuss.

Two to three weeks before the big day

Catch-up

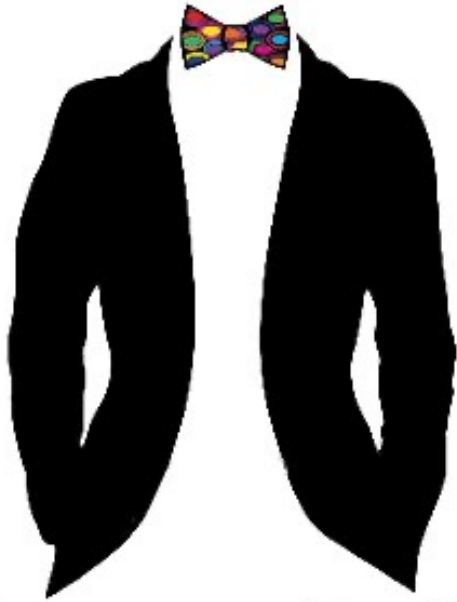

I love to catch up with you both, but some times it just doesn't work; however if we cant enjoy a drink face to face I am always up for one over the phone or on same time. Just to ask any final questions etc.

Vows & promises

Inside your portal is a document to help you start creating. You are more than welcome to send your vows to me and I will print and present them and or some people like to have them printed or in a little book. If I am printing them for you, I will need them the week of.

Rehearsals

In my experience if you can walk in a strait line; you have got this. But of course if you would like a run through; we can arrange it. The keys element to a rehearsal is the music and where to stand, they go for approx. 20 minutes.

MARRIED BY JAY

I'M HERE FOR YOU

If you have any questions, need help or just want to say "Hi" I always have my phone on me for texts and emails and will get back to you ASAP

If anything is an "emergency" Text me

"Remember to stop and breathe, enjoy the planning process"
