How Much Should You Earn as a Cyber Security Professional?

Cyber Security specialists are known to earn a lot, but exactly how much is this? Forbes has broken down exactly how much it should be.

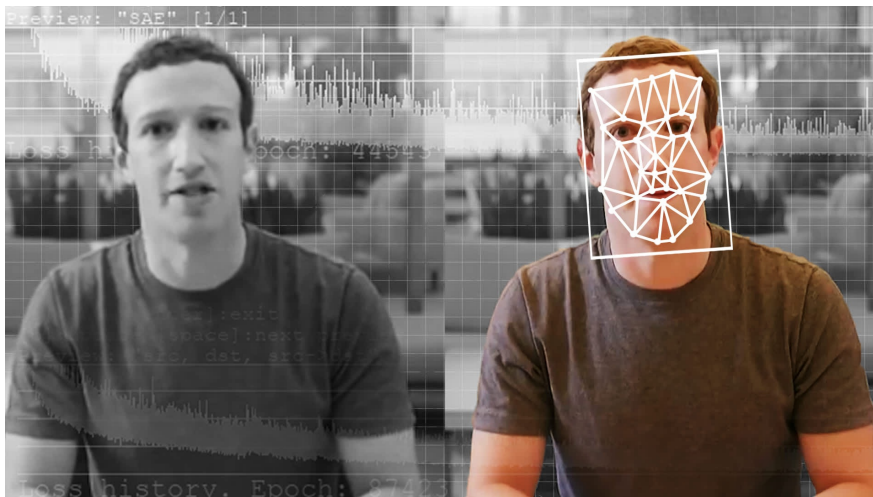

The Average Salary

The average salary in the U.S. is approximately $100,000, more than double the national average. The top rate is unsurprisingly in California where the mean salary surpasses $140,000.
In the UK the average salary is approximately £55,000

To read the full breakdown..

Click Here

Do DeepFakes Have the Potential to Start Wars?

DeepFakes have improved drastically over time, and although they are able to be debunked there is still people who are going to believe it regardless according to Cybersecurity expert Morgan Wright. He also expresses the belief they could be used to gain political power.

To read the full story...

Click Here

What's a programmer's favourite eyewear?

Google.

Pakistan Government Calls it's Cyber Security Team Incompetent

The statement, which came from the nation's Committee on Information Technology and Telecommunication, stated:

" The committee expressed its displeasure on the performance of some departments of the Ministry, especially the performance of the Cyber Security Cell. The Committee directed the Ministry of Information Technology and Telecommunication to address the incompetence of the Cyber Security Cell. "

To read the full story...

Click Here

Course of the Week

Cyber Security Soft Skills - LinkedIn Learning

Click Here