- Knowledge of Test and Evaluation process.
- Proficient in Microsoft Office software.
- Good practical skills.

Some of your duties will include:

- Assist with the development of C-UAS Systems including integration and testing of new sensors.
- Conduct fault isolation, repair, operational checks, and maintenance actions to C-UAS systems.
- Some part-shift work operating our bespoke C-UAS System.
- Assist with, and on occasion supervise, the installation of sensors and systems.
- Complete reports and documentation relating to maintenance actions and support activities using software, associated forms and maintenance logbooks.
- Maintain a clean work environment and operate with high quality operating principles during maintenance activities.
- Comply with all Safety and Security policies and procedures.

You will be required to pass the UK security vetting procedure and obtain an SIA Licence (CCTV). You will also undertake training to qualify as a Drone Pilot (PfCO).

Additional Benefits:

- Competitive salary.
- Company pension scheme
- Promotional prospects.
- 25 Days paid holiday plus bank holidays
- Work clothing provided
