Market chop is likely to leave stock drifting near-term, but big buyback beat puts wave of money behind impact of digital growth strategy. 1Q22 beat helps boost our 2022/23 estimates, partially offsetting drag on price target from market input headwinds. EVC repurchased in 1Q 1.1m shares for $7.1m, blowing past our estimate of 0.4m shares for $2.5m, and management said that company has repurchased another $4m thus far in 2Q. EVC continues to weigh a number of digital M&A deals, which would add to organic growth from expanding partnerships into new markets (such as 365 Digital recently inking a deal to exclusively represent TikTok in Kenya).

We raise our full-year 2022 revenue and EBITDA estimates. 2Q core advertising (ex-political) is pacing -14% for TV (although +1% excluding Univision affiliation changes in Orlando, Tampa and Washington, DC), +2% for radio, and +23% for digital, vs. our prior comparable estimates of -16%/-3%/+25%. TV auto advertising trends are improving, pacing down 8% adjusting for the loss of 3 Univision affiliations. Our EVC 2022 revenue/EBITDA/EPS estimates go to $943m/$96.0m/$0.37 from $942m/$95.0m/$0.40. See Figure 3. Our 2022 digital segment estimates continue to assume ~30% pro forma operating cash flow growth. We trim our 2022 free cash flow estimate for slightly higher cash tax assumptions, given reduced NOL balances.

1Q recap: EBITDA beat across all 3 segments, with total EBITDA of $18.1m above our $16.0m estimate. See Figure 2. Core advertising growth was -18% for TV vs. prior pacing of -18%, +9% for radio vs. prior pacing of +6%, and +38% for digital vs. prior pacing of +39%. Revenue growth at Cisneros Interactive of 27% slightly missed our 33% estimate, while at MediaDonuts growth of 115% beat our 100% estimate. At the legacy digital business, Smadex again positively surprised, with revenue up 160%, driven by gaming and fintech verticals and by rolling out the product to more of EVC's customer base. The Smadex surge led to a margin beat at the legacy digital business, while Cisneros margin missed slightly, reflecting a slowdown in client spending and some lower payouts against partner sales targets. TV growth again fought the drag of the auto vertical, which was was down 17% adjusting for the Univision affiliation changes. OCF margin for TV was 37.7%, above our 36.3% estimate, and for radio was 25.5%, above our 22.2% estimate.

Tweaking our price target to $8.00 from $8.50, reflecting higher discount rate; risks on page 3. Our PT is supported by a DCF valuation based on explicit financial forecasts through 2027. Note that the valuation boost from our higher estimates and favorable balance sheet variances was more than offset by a higher equity risk premium estimate based on April market data, as well as a higher risk-free rate estimate based on higher U.S. Treasury yields.

Investment Thesis and Valuation: Buy With $8.00 Price Target

Positives supporting our Buy rating include: 1) EVC's share price is not fully capturing the potential of digital media acquisitions in 2020-21 because their higher growth and different business models are more difficult for investors to assess; 2) EVC's lower post-pandemic expense base looks sustainable; 3) apart from the industry-wide pressure on auto advertising because of supply shortages, and any transitional risks introduced by measures to mitigate Covid-19 variants, operating risk at the core U.S. media business should be ebbing based on the cyclical rebound in the U.S. Hispanic economy and secular growth of political advertising; 4) relative stability of net retransmission fee revenue (42% of 2021 EBITDA) and pro forma net debt leverage under 3x enhance management's longer-term options; and 5) our DCF valuation supports substantial stock price upside over the next 12 months.

Our DCF-based 12-month price target is a weighted average of projected equity valuations at year-end 2022 and 2023. First, we adjust the current net debt with the estimated free cash flow to be generated by each valuation date. Second, we adjust the current net debt for any estimated payments remaining on the acquisitions (e.g., earnouts), which are currently scheduled to occur from early 2022 to 2025. Finally, we value EVC both using a weighted average cost of capital (WACC) reflecting its own stock price trading and using separate WACCs for its broadcast and digital media businesses based on sector comparables, applied to separate free cash flow forecasts for each of these businesses. The results of these two methods set the range for our valuation, with the EVC-specific method incorporating market data on EVC shares' actual volatility setting the upper bound, and the sector method relying on measures of risk of comparables setting the lower bound. Note that in our DCF, for our terminal value estimates, we assume that capex equals D&A, which results in a substantially higher capex estimate than in our financial statement forecasts because capex should be like D&A for a terminal value forecast, to support the need for an asset base in perpetuity.

Risks to our investment thesis include: 1) sensitivity of EVC's advertising-based businesses to macroeconomic shocks, 2) potential volatility of EVC's digital media business, given its increasing focus on emerging markets, its dependence on a small number of commercial relationships with media tech platforms, and increasing competition, 3) secular challenges and potentially increasing competition from TelevisaUnivision for EVC's U.S. broadcast media business, 4) potential barriers to sale of all or a portion of the company, and 5) risk of regression to mean in share price performance given shares' substantial appreciation relative to the overall market and sector peers over the past year.
