4Q results and 1Q outlook leave our estimates marginally lower, but valuation unchanged. We still base our price target on a 50% chance of a recession scenario that would cut our 2023E EBITDA to ~$86m from our updated $94m estimate. See Fig. 6. Near-term macro uncertainty looks to take digital margin expansion off the table, and we now model slight digital OCF margin compression in 2023. See Fig. 4. Although EVC Asia is delivering, EVC Latam's solid revenue growth may not expand its margins, and crypto advertising fallout is clipping Smadex's growth and margin contributions at the legacy business. Over the longer term, EVC's digital strategy appears to be to push for growth, reflecting 1) key partners could be ready to do more outsourcing, 2) newer international digital ad players like Amazon and Netflix may follow suit, and 3) EVC has over $300m in acquisition capacity to tackle the roughly 1/3 of the international digital media representation industry that is still not consolidated. We believe EVC's focus on international markets substantially reduces its risks from any U.S. regulatory crackdown on TikTok.

1Q pacing is below our estimates—reflecting weaker national TV advertising, higher radio opex, and lower digital margin assumptions as EVC's platform partners batten down the hatches—and we flow through 1Q changes to full-year. See Fig. 2-3. 1Q core advertising (expolitical) is pacing +21% (+11% pro forma) for digital, +2% for TV, and -1% for radio, vs. our prior comparable estimates of +25% (including Adsmurai)/+3%/-1%. Auto advertising is pacing up 13% for TV and down 1% for radio. For 2023, 1) at digital, we raise our estimate for revenue but build in a bit more cushion to our margin assumption, 2) our slightly lower TV ad growth assumption is balanced by higher estimates for retransmission and spectrum use fees, which should be more recession resistant, and 3) radio revenue is on track, but opex is going to be hit by 1-time expenses for moving the Los Angeles headquarters. See Fig. 3-4 for a summary of our annual estimate changes.

4Q recap: EBITDA of $36.5m (12.3% margin) missed our $37.8m (13.5% margin) estimate. See Fig. 2. Drag from foreign currency loss moderated to $0.9m from $2.0m in 3Q, and was below our $1.8m estimate. Core advertising growth was -9% for TV vs. prior pacing of -4%, +2% for radio vs. prior pacing of -5%, and +20% pro forma (+30% reported) for digital, vs. prior pacing of +13%. At TV, auto advertising (16% of ad revenue) was up 23%. Revenue growth at EVC Latin America of +7% was in line with our +8% estimate. Smadex revenue was +29%, a sharp deceleration from +141% in 3Q. EVC Asia revenue growth was +72%, vs. our +38% estimate and +75% pro forma in 3Q. OCF margin for digital was 7.4% vs. our 7.1% estimate, for TV was 49.8% vs. our 54.0% estimate, and for radio was 42.6% vs. our 40.3% estimate. EPS pro forma for $18.8m in one-time charges, primarily related to the passing of CEO Walter Ulloa, was $0.19, vs. our $0.21 estimate.

Reaffirm our $7.50 price target; risks on page 3. Our PT is supported by a DCF valuation based on explicit financial forecasts through 2028.

Investment Thesis and Valuation: Buy With $7.50 Price Target

Positives supporting our Buy rating include: 1) EVC's share price is not fully capturing the potential of digital media acquisitions because their higher growth and different business models are more difficult for investors to assess; 2) higher post-pandemic broadcast margins, stability of TV retransmission revenue (35% of 2022E EBITDA) and secular growth of political advertising revenue (~31% of 2022E EBITDA), and potential monetization from future spectrum auction (as in 2017) substantially reduce the operating risk profile of overall business; 3) pro forma net debt leverage under 2x and double-digit free cash flow yield will give new senior management flexibility to increase returns of capital and continue accretive digital acquisitions; and 4) our DCF valuation supports substantial stock price upside over the next 12 months, particularly if there is no recession.

Our DCF-based 12-month price target is a weighted average of projected equity valuations at year-end 2023 and 2024; our updated PT assumes a 50% chance of a recession in 2023, resulting in a target valuation range of $6-$8. First, we adjust the current net debt with the estimated free cash flow to be generated by each valuation date. Second, we adjust the current net debt for any estimated payments remaining on the acquisitions (e.g., earnouts), which are currently scheduled to occur until 2025. Finally, we value EVC both using a weighted average cost of capital (WACC) reflecting its own stock price trading and using separate WACCs for its broadcast and digital media businesses based on sector comparables, applied to separate free cash flow forecasts for each of these businesses. The results of these two methods set the range for our valuation, with the EVC-specific method incorporating market data on EVC shares' actual volatility setting the upper bound, and the sector method relying on measures of risk of comparables setting the lower bound. Note that in our DCF, for our terminal value estimates, we assume that capex equals D&A, which results in a substantially higher capex estimate than in our financial statement forecasts because capex should be like D&A for a terminal value forecast, to support the need for an asset base in perpetuity.

Risks to our investment thesis include: 1) impact of upcoming management succession and change in voting control on company's strategy and pursuit of potential longer-term options, including sale of all or a portion of the company, 2) sensitivity of EVC's advertising-based businesses to macroeconomic shocks, such as a recession, 3) potential volatility of EVC's digital media business, given its increasing focus on emerging markets, its dependence on a small number of commercial relationships with media tech platforms, and increasing competition, 4) secular challenges and potentially increasing competition from TelevisaUnivision for EVC's broadcast media business, and 5) risk-off market sentiment as an overhang for valuation of EVC's fast-growing, less mature digital advertising businesses.
