

CONCERT

Monday, April 25 7:00 PM

Referred to as a “genius melodist”, Alexander Borodin was also “one of the most brilliant Russian scientists of his generation for whom composing was a hobby.” Maurice Ravel was considered the orchestral genius of La Belle Epoch and France’s greatest composer during his lifetime. Another French composer, Saint-Saens, was termed “a child prodigy of the Mozartean genius.” All three of these composers are featured in the Treasure Coast Youth Symphony’ spring concerts scheduled in April.

The concert will also highlight the orchestra’s 2021-2022 Concerto Competition Winner, Zahava Misshula, violinist. Conducting the Spring concerts are John Enyart, the youth symphony’s founder, Thomas Servinsky, and Benjamin Enyart.
