

General Disclosures Statements

Many professional publications and conferences have taken to requiring their authors and presenters to disclose ties with the pharmaceutical industry or other funding sources which may be seen as potential conflicts of interest. While those types of issues rarely impact our work, we still view transparency as an important value and want to provide as full a disclosure as possible. None of the following professional connections are believed to create any inherent conflicts of interest, although if you or your attorney believe there might be a specific issue in your case created by these associations we want you to have that information up front. Please make sure to review our CVs as well for details on our work history, memberships in professional associations, co-presenters, and co-authors. This information is located at: <https://childreninthemiddle.com/about-us>

Bradley S. Craig, LMSW-IPR, CFLE

Mr. Craig is the one of the members of Between Two Homes, LLC where he meets virtually clients or in person at various locations. In addition to clinical and client-centered forensic work, Mr. Craig occasionally provides consultation services and expert witness services for attorneys on complex cases involving issues of behavioral health and family systems. Mr. Craig works with Cecilia Powers, LCSW-S who serves as a communications coach on cases with Mr. Craig. Mr. Craig also offers parenting facilitation and other professional training with Aaron Robb, M.Ed., NCC, LPC-S at various locations.

Organizations

Mr. Craig participates in the following groups or organizations:

Association of Family and Conciliation Courts (AFCC) and Texas Chapter of the AFCC

National Association of Social Workers

National Council on Family Relations (NCFR)

Amicable Divorce Network

Piney Woods Counseling Association

Texas Association of Family Forensics (TAFF): <https://thetaff.com>

Forensic and Coparenting Services (FACS) <https://facstx.org/>

Ms. Powers' Notice of Privacy Practices is posted on the following website:

<https://www.texomafamilyandcourtservices.com/privacy-practice>

