

In the only place where such a thing could exist

THE PROPHET

Mighty warrior fights to save his country from existential threat—only to discover that the true danger lies within.

BRAVEHEART for modern times.

On October 6, Erez Eshel warns his son, “Be alert—something big is coming tomorrow.” At 6:30am the next morning, his son confirms the premonition with a phone call. Eshel throws on his military uniform and races to Gaza to fight side by side with his sons, saving lives and killing terrorists. For two years, Eshel battles to bring home every last compatriot and restore security to his homeland, only to learn that he stands accused by name of promulgating genocide by the International Criminal Court and the US House of Representatives.

Incorporating scenes from the 1990 film TO BE AN OFFICER—which stars Erez Eshel as a 20-year-old, optimistic officer in training—THE PROPHET journeys through time with Eshel, as he transforms from hopeful activist to hardened killer. Blending intimate access, political urgency, and spiritual reflection, THE PROPHET brings to life the modern battle between good and evil and asks the larger question: What is the price of freedom? And who is willing to pay it?

THE PROPHET, written and directed by award-winning journalist and best-selling author Melissa Francis, will open in theaters across America this spring.
