Wade Woolfolk is the author of two powerful and insightful books: Silent Faith: Finding Assurance In The Hidden and Yea, Though I Walk: Experiencing God in Every Step of Life. He is also a deacon and ministry leader in Prince George's County, Maryland. As a former commissioner for the same county, he served as Secretary for a commission that focuses on upholding civil and human rights. Additionally, Wade served on the board for the county's official community action agency by helping to assist at-risk and homeless families to achieve self-sufficiency through economic stabilization. He was also honored to serve for four years as the county's ambassador for the American Cancer Society's Real Men Wear Pink campaign, to raise awareness for breast cancer research, prevention, and program support services. Lastly, he also served as a board member for the county's panel on ethics under its Board of Education.

The serving heart that Wade possesses is a direct result of his upbringing and time spent as a former lay servant in the United Methodist Church. This is where he established his foundation of faith which is evident through his writing and his speaking engagements. He has always been passionate about service and helping others to see their spiritual potential. Wade relishes on the notion and the privilege to be used as an instrument of faith, encouragement, and hope by God to uplift mankind. He is also a Life Member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

Born in Washington, DC, Wade grew up in Prince George's County, MD. He attended Bowie State University – Maryland's oldest Historically Black College and University (HBCU). He studied Business Administration and his graduate degree is in Organizational Communications. He is also a PROSCI® Certified Change Practitioner and works in change management for the federal government. Wade lives in Maryland with his wife who is an educator.

"One's journey in Christ is like their spiritual DNA. It is my goal to help others examine their level of faith in their walk, protect it from the enemy, and use it to grow the soul."
