

Don't You Ever Come Back

I heard wedding bells the other day
Brought back a love song meant for you and me
We walked down the aisle
Got on our knees and prayed

Exchanged promises and vows
Ran through life hand-n-hand
Building our future, sharing dreams, making plans

That was yesterday full of rainbows and hope
It's now faded and lost
When you left and I needed you the most

Promises you made
You could not keep
Words spoken by you
Now sound so cheap

I've grown stronger
Since you've been gone
We had turned an empty house
Into a home

You had your chance
The magic is lost
You're not coming back
Cause now I'm the boss

Don't you ever come back
You're not wanted here anymore
This place is not your home
It's time I even the score

Don't you ever come back
You have no place to stay
Find another girl to take my place
Now things are going to be done my way
Don't' you ever come back

You played at love
Like you played at being a man
You're a loser and a cheat

Everyone but you understands

You will find another
To tell your lies
When you get caught
You make good alibis

I was a fool to fall for you
Should have seen it from the start
Should have been guided by my mind
Not the voice in my heart

I paid the price for trusting you
Now your new lover has left you
High and dry
Now it's your turn to cry

Don't you ever come back
You're not wanted here anymore
This place is not your home
It's time I even the score

Don't you ever come back
You have no place to stay
Find another girl to take my place
Now things are going to be done my way
Don't' you ever come back

When you Look in the Mirror
You Imagine you're the best
But as my husband
You didn't impress and you failed the test

No more tricks, or playing with my mind
You're leaving for good
No coming back this time

I caught you cheating
I knew we were through
There is no coming back
I realized it was all about you

I will start over, I'll do my part

I'll find a true love, to mend my heart

Don't you ever come back
You're not wanted here anymore
This place is not your home
It's time I even the score

Don't you ever come back
You have no place to stay
Find another girl to take my place
Now things are going to be done my way
Don't' you ever come back

Art Adkins
©2026