Premium Quality

Our pools are manufactured using the finest quality, premium raw materials available in the industry and they are manufactured in the USA.

The mold is cleaned and prepared to build your pool on.

The mold is moved into the production bay to begin the manufacturing process.

One of our premium Gelcoat colors is the first layer that is sprayed onto the mold to create your new pool.

Vinyl Ester Resin, reinforced with chopped strand fiberglass, is applied after the gelcoat.

Four layers of fiberglass, comprised of chopped strand mat and 36 ounce mat, are applied.

After curing, your pool is lifted off the mold, cleaned, and loaded onto a trailer to be delivered to your backyard.

INSTALLATION

Your pool builder will prepare the hole based on the specific model you ordered and your pool will be lowered into the hole using a crane or excavator, depending on size.

Your builder will backfill around the pool with clean 3/8 stone, while filling your pool with water.

The plumbing is completed and ready for an electrician to run power to the equipment pad. This concludes the actual installation portion of your fiberglass pool.

Ease of Installation

Relatively speaking, installing an inground fiberglass swimming pool is much faster and easier than other types of pools.

Once your pool is installed, it will be ready for a minimum of 3-feet of concrete to be poured around it. You can also have pavers, travertine, or other material used in lieu of concrete, depending on the look you are trying to achieve. Once the patio is complete it is time to accentuate your backyard to make it reflect your personality and style.
