Richard Fleming DBP'12 is running for Congress

Richard Fleming DBP'12, CEO and founder of State Tax Group, LLC, is running on the democratic ticket for the US House of Representatives Texas Congressional District 24 in 2020.

In November 2012, Fleming received a scholarship from Exxon Mobil/HSMDC to attend Building a High-Performing Business, and in August 2013, he received a scholarship from Phillips 66/HSMDC to attend Growing a Business to Scale. Both programs were invaluable to his business success.

"After Building, I realized that I needed to Diversify State Tax Group, LLC's service offerings to our customers and strengthen the relationships with them as well to better optimize and increase revenues with our well-established clients," he says. "After completing Growing, I realized that I really needed to look at my business from the top down approach and articulate for our clients how I am differentiating our services from the other competitors in our field."

In addition to his time at Tuck, Fleming also credits his childhood mentor, Frank Rush, with his business success. Because of this experience, he now serves as business mentor to students who want to become entrepreneurs.

"I am a firm believer that both education and entrepreneurship can lift people out of poverty, and that the American people just need more opportunities to do so," he says. "Unfortunately, I see way too many issues and problems that threaten to undermine our way of life and future chances for us all; especially for our children. That's why I am running on the democratic ticket for the US House of Representatives. I want to ensure that all Americans have the opportunity to take a bite at the apple."
