- c. adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are processed;

9. Consent

The GDPR is clear that an indication of consent must be unambiguous and involve a clear affirmative action (an opt-in) - It specifically bans pre-ticked opt-in boxes.

Consent should be separate from other terms and conditions and should not generally be a precondition of signing up to a service.

The GDPR gives a specific right to withdraw consent. You need to tell people about their right to withdraw, and offer them easy ways to withdraw consent at any time.

A contract is also a lawful basis to collect/store personal data because either they have asked you to do something before entering into a contact or to fulfil your contractual obligations to them (e.g provide a quote).

You must keep records to evidence consent identifying: who consented, when, how and what they were told.

In order to comply with these regulations, Globally Onward will be using a a database stored on Google Drive to keep client contact details. Anyone on our lists will have been asked for their consent to us storing their details when completing the application form for our services to Globally Onward sharing those details with other organisations with which we work closely, and who will be providing services to support clients in securing professional employment in the UK.

10. Breach

In the event of a breach of security leading to the accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure of, or access to, personal data, Globally Onward shall promptly assess the risk to people's rights and freedoms and if appropriate report this breach to the ICO (more information on the ICO website).
