News from the Wolfeboro Garden Club

The Holidays are upon us!!
Boxwood Workshop Dec 10.
right after regular meeting at 1pm.

Dearest Gardeners,

What a busy Autumn! A field trip, a party, a wreath sale, decorating our Christmas tree, and a boxwood workshop. The way this festive season should be...busy filled with fun!!! I hope all your wreaths are hanging up and the decorations out!

Our January meeting speaker will be a representative from UNH their program will focus on Moose! Please, mark your calendars for January 14 and invite any interested parties to attend with you.

Here is something Very Interesting from the Village Players Theatre.

You have the winter to think about showing off your garden. Read On...

This Announcement is from Rosemary Lounsbury, who will be Directing the summer show at the Village Players, called Calendar Girls. She has an idea for a fundraising calendar to pay for much needed renovations to the crumbling front steps!

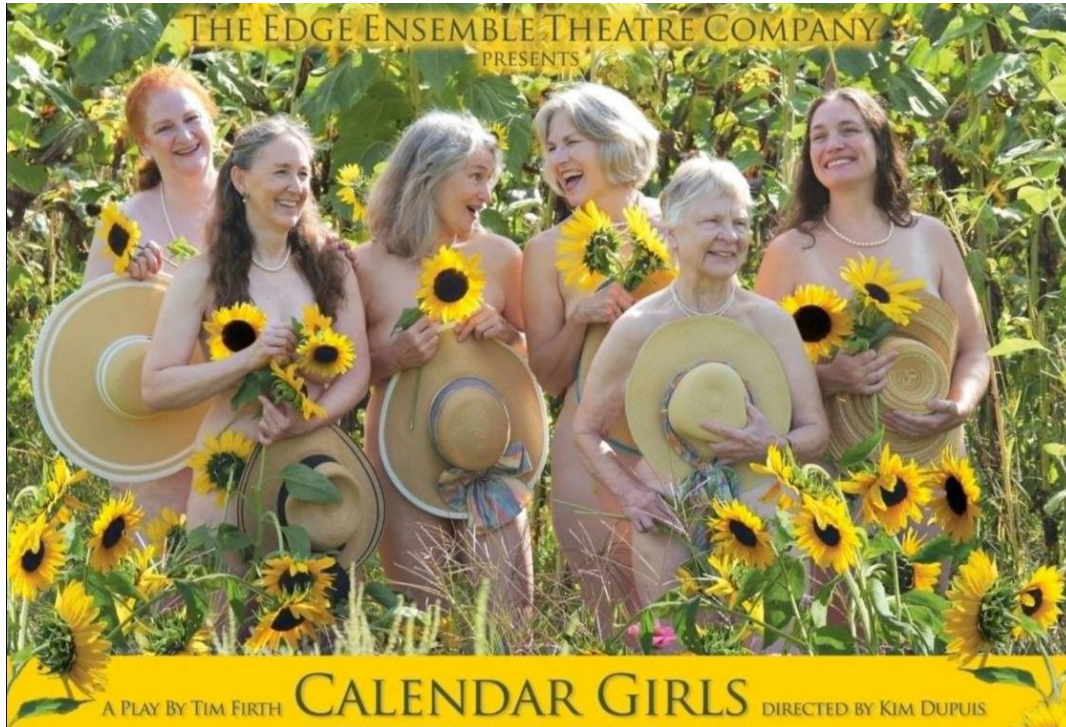

The Village Players are planning to produce a play next summer called Calendar Girls. (You might recall a film version 15 years ago starring Helen Mirren, based on a true story!)

I am looking for an outdoor place to take some photos of the actors. Here's the thing..... These women will not have any clothing on! so the garden or backyard where the photo shoot happens needs to be private; not somewhere that drivers can drive by and see, nor interested neighbors, etc. As you can see by the example, the whole thing is to be very tasteful. But the photo shoot needs to happen well in advance of the show (shoot date, late May) for publicity purposes.

So... if you have a very private garden or courtyard, or something like that, which will have some greenery in late May, AND you'd like to volunteer your space,

*Please contact Rosemary Lounsbury at rosemarylounsbury@gmail.com

I will be reposting this request later in the winter, this is a heads up to making your garden included in the Village Players Calendar!

This is the photo that the Keene playhouse composed. Rosemary is looking for similar. The sunflowers will be props from the show. Any greenery would be appropriate!
