SOME THINGS FALL AWAY

You can kick at heaven
Or cry out to the sky
You can go below words
And still there's no reply
And no, there is no reason
Some things fall away.
The heavens are forever
Our days pass with the light
We rise up with the morning
And then we bid good night
And no, there is no reason
Some things fall away.
Sorrow calls with the evening
With the wind beneath your door
Shadows pause at the window
Meet their gaze...their grief is yours.

THE KEY IS

The sunrise is me
The sea and the shore
The sigh of the wind and the dim blue stars
One turn of the key
The Garden Door
The flowers and leaves chanting who we are...
(And we're climbing 'cause)
I won't let them move you on
Play you like some ghostly pawn
Come we'll hold the still blue dawn
The key is
To be within you.

ISN'T IT A TRIAL?

(NOTE: add your own riffs into this song!)

(Big riff) Aaaaaaand
Isn't it a trial?
To try and stay a child
And no one, no one knows
The way out of the hole
(More riffs) Isn't it a trial
No child can stay a child
The story never told
How Wonderland grows old
Oh isn't it a trial?
Isn't it a trial?

STILL

Still...

The story goes, as stories will
One afternoon beside some bolted garden gate
One howdy-doo, and soon, so soon
I'm late, I'm late, so late.

Oh

I'm ahead of my time still
If I keep movin'.

Fall

And I fall behind still
So much to doin'!
But how can I stop the clock in me
When I'm chasin' me still?
Time is chasin' me still...
