

Right To Life

Abortion needs to stop. Everybody has a right to live! Everyone should get to live their own adventure. This is why I am writing this essay. I will give the real reason and my reason why I think this.

I personally think abortion is wrong because we are killing God's creation. Imagine how you would feel if your own mother, the person who was supposed to love and care for you decided to abort you. Now let's put it how it is, abortion is murder. Think about that and you'll know why I don't like it.

A lot of people who have an abortion might feel as if they can't take care of a baby. But in reality, there are other options than killing your unborn son or daughter. There's one I really support, it's called adoption. I myself was adopted and I encourage this word to use this option.

Now that I've explained why I dislike abortion, this is the real argument of why you shouldn't use abortion. Number one, it is wrong in God's eyes. Number two, the fifth commandment states "thou shalt not kill". If you really have a strong faith you would try to make a different choice. If you really believe in one holy and apostolic church then that should be enough. If not, then please research the catholic faith.

Life is an adventure worth living, please choose life over death.
